Legislative Journal.

Session 1951.

139th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 32.

HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, AUGUST 13, 1951.

No. 76.

SENATE

MONDAY, August 13, 1951

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Senator Ruth:

Our dear heavenly Father, we stop today and think of the many blessings which Thou hast showered upon us as a people and as individuals, privileges and opportunities of service such as half the world does not know exists, one of those privileges to guide and direct the affairs of our State.

We pray for wisdom from Thee, that all that we do may redound to Thy honor and glory, and to the goodness and welfare of the largest number of our people. We give ourselves to Thy care and to Thy direction, and we ask Thee to use us as instruments for good to Thy Name's honor and glory. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. WOLFE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I interrupt the communications just for a moment to apologize to the desk, and to the Members of the Senate and guests for the delay in starting the afternoon Session. I want to assure the gentlemen of the Minority that the only thought in the delay in the Session today is that I hope it contributes to a much earlier sine die adjournment. I apologize for keeping the gentlemen waiting.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN
HOUSE BILL No. 757, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insist upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made by the House to House Bill No. 757, recalled from the Governor.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. NEFF, STEVENSON and MAHANY read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 823, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class, and amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto," by prescribing a minimum period of continuous service for retirement of members of the police force, and providing for the payment of service increments to such employes in addition to their retirement allowances.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. WOLFE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 824, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043), entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payment therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes; exempting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," by permitting certain beneficiaries to change from the one one-hundred-sixtieth (1/160) to the one one-hundred-fortieth (1/140) class and to receive the benefits thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, when the platforms of the Democratic and Republican Parties were drafted last year, consideration was given to F.E.P.C. legislation and accordingly both platforms approved the adoption of that type legislation. We had an election and then the Legislature convened. Bills were introduced to carry out the platform pledges of both the Democrats and Republicans.

Mr. President, I understand that the so-called Mintess Bill was an administration bill, and called for the adoption of F.E.P.C. legislation. This bill was introduced in the House, passed the House and came to the Senate. A short time ago this bill was considered in the committee on Judiciary General, of which I am a member, and before the legislation was considered, there was a motion made that we vote on a secret ballot and the motion carried. The vote was taken on a secret ballot and the legislation, of course, remained in committee, and after the committee adjourned there was considerable speculation as to who voted how, and I finally became involved in it. Somebody said that I did not vote to report the bill from committee, and I want to say here and now that I voted against the secret ballot, and I voted to report the bill from committee in accordance with the Democratic platform.

Mr. President, on Friday of last week, it was announced that the Judiciary General Committee will meet this Tuesday to reconsider the previous action on the bill, and last Friday I received the following telegram:

"THE POSITION OF THE PHILADELPHIA HOTEL ASSOCIATION ON THE F E P C IS UNCHANGED AND WE EARNESTLY URGE YOU IF THIS MATTER IS TO BE VOTED UPON BY YOUR COMMITTEE AGAIN THAT THE SECRET BALLOT BE EMPLOYED AND THIS INIQUITOUS BILL DEFEATED."

This telegram is signed by Bennett E. Tousley, Chairman of Legislative Committee, Philadelphia Hotel Association, Bellevue Stratford.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I answered that letter, and I want to read the contents of my answer and I quote from the letter:

"Dear Mr. Tousley:

"I have your telegram of August 9th in which you suggest that when the Fair Employment Practices Commission Legislation is again brought before the Committee on Judiciary General, the secret ballot be employed. Obviously, the purpose of your suggestion is to permit the committee members to kill this legislation and at the same time escape the onus that may be attached to such action.

"Let me remind you that basically the General Assembly of Pennsylvania is an open forum, directed by the people of Pennsylvania through their duly elected representatives, the members of the General Assembly.

"May I further call your attention to the fact that favorable action on F.E.P.C. Legislation at this session of the Pennsylvania Legislature was one of the planks in the platforms of both the Republican and Democratic parties, and that without exception the members of the House and the Senate campaigned for election on their respective platforms and were elected on them. In a representative government of a democracy, whether on the national, state or local level, the secret ballot has no place. It is the tool of the dictators and the totalitarian government.

"Certainly you and your group are entitled to your views, but it is a brash step for anyone or any group to request the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to execute its wishes in secret, so as to escape the blame for the action. In my opinion each member of the committee should have the courage to stand up and be counted. The people of the respective legislative districts in Pennsylvania have the right to know how their representatives voted on legislation.

"I note that you call this bill "iniquitous." The term might well be applied to the action you suggest in order to kill it.

"Quite contrary to your suggestion, the proper manner for you to weigh your arguments against the arguments of the proponents is through a public hearing. That is the American way. As of this date your group has not requested a public hearing."

"Sincerely yours,"

I say this, Mr. President, this so-called secret ballot to me is a joke anyway because, as I said before, five or ten minutes after the committee adjourns everybody seems to know how, who and what happened at the meeting, and who voted how and that sort of thing. So, I think it is silly to take a secret ballot, and I hope that tomorrow when this committee meets there will be no motions as to how we should vote, and I hope that we will vote on this bill that comes up the same as we voted on every other bill that come before the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I had a delegation of teachers talk to me this afternoon from Schuylkill County, and I could not believe that in this age people were working for nothing. I found that there are two hundred and thirty-five teachers in Schuylkill County who have not received any salary for last year's teaching. They have reached the point where the butcher, the grocer, the landlord, even the bank will not lend them any more money, and when these teachers borrow this money from the bank they have to pay six per cent interest on the money they should be paid to them by the State. Altogether there are fourteen school districts in Schuylkill County that owe the teachers from last year's teaching, $391,700. I wonder how they expect these people to live. Do they expect them to go out and be highwaymen, to get a gun, if the bank refuses to lend them any more money, because the county is not in a financial condition to guarantee that they will pay it back out of their salaries?

Now, Mr. President, some of you will say, "Well, that is because we have not got our tax program through," but, Mr. President, we are wasting each year in this State half a million dollars for a Milk Control Commission that does not control anything but raise prices, and a million and a half dollars for a Department of Commerce that all they do is use clippers, hire clippers, to clip papers to see how good they are in other States. There alone is two million dollars that could be very well appropriated to Schuylkill County's school districts so that they could at least live.

We talk about what education does for this system of ours, this free enterprise system. This is the finest propaganda to be given those who are fighting our system, that when our basic, the real base of our system is our educational system and here we do not pay our teachers, so they cannot say they are part of a free enterprise or a capitalistic system. They are working for nothing.

I think it is time for this General Assembly to get out and do a little work instead of wasting time that has been wasted since the first day of the Session. We have kept putting off, and putting off and putting off, showing a lack of leadership, and I think it is about time that the Majority Party, if they have been a complete failure, to at least turn over a few more votes to us and we will take the ball from now on and run with the ball, and at least see that the money is appropriated to pay the teachers who are starving in Schuylkill County.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to say for the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, that at the morning caucus of the Republican Party the distinguished gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, asked me to call a recess as soon as the Session got under way. The bill that the gentleman from Allegheny is referring to was sent over from the House last week, on the seventh of August as a matter of fact, and was just delivered to the Chairman of the Education Committee, the gentleman from Schuylkill, and so we have on our agenda a request from the Chairman of the Education Committee to call a meeting of that Committee during the recess so that the bill involving this distressed school district can be discussed by the Committee. Whatever action the Committee takes, of course, will be reported back to the floor of the Senate.

Now, Mr. President, before I ask for that recess, I would just like to say in passing to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, that the only way they will get any more votes in this Senate will be to earn them, not by gifts from the Republican Party.

RECESS

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate

do now take a recess for five minutes, to permit a meeting of the Committee on Education.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATSON read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 825, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Planning Board for the purpose of aiding local governmental agencies in solving certain regional planning problems.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 829, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (b) of Section 1 of the act, approved the thirtieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1183), entitled "An act relating to strikes by public employes; prohibiting such strikes; providing that such employes by striking terminate their employment; providing for reinstatement under certain conditions; providing for a grievance procedure; and providing for hearings before civil service and tenure authorities, and in certain cases before the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board," by requiring panel to be set up within five days after the receipt of a request therefor.

House Bill No. 900, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand and twenty-seven of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "Vehicle Code," by changing the requirements that certain vehicles stop at railway crossings.

House Bill No. 1173, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225), entitled "The Game Law," by authorizing the Pennsylvania Game Commission to issue special permits to certain disabled veterans with service connected disabilities and permitting them to hunt under Commission regulations from automobiles.

House Bill No. 1293, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1340), entitled "Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act," by clarifying and extending the provisions of the act to include certain vehicles of the tractor type; and making editorial changes.

House Bill No. 1294, entitled:

The Act to amend the title of, and the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1005), entitled "Tractor Code," by deleting from said act all provisions relating to operators, operators' licenses, and trailers; and further providing for the equipment of tractors.

House Bill No. 1324, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "Vehicle Code," by changing the registration year for commercial motor vehicles, motor buses, motor omnibuses, and trailers, and certain exemptions in accordance therewith.

House Bill No. 1384, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the thirteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred sixty-eight, (P. L. 1017), entitled "An act to provide for the collection of state, county, poor and military taxes in the county of Bedford," so far as it relates to Bedford County.

House Bill No. 1404, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" by providing for the addition to the tax duplicates of school districts of the third and fourth class, of properties occupied during the fiscal year of the school district, in certain cases.

House Bill No. 1424, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1101 of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "Vehicle Code," by changing the provisions relating to restrictions of the right to use highways.

House Bill No. 1477, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act, approved the thirtieth day of March, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 34), entitled "An act to promote the health and efficiency of firemen, in cities of the second class, by providing for a two-platoon system for firemen in the department of public safety of such cities," by further regulating the hours of duty of firemen in cities of the second class.

House Bill No. 1479, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "Vehicle Code," requiring certain vehicles and combinations of vehicles to be constructed or equipped to prevent throwing of road surface substance from their rear wheels beyond certain limits.

Whereupon,

CONGRATULATIONS TO SENATOR PECHAN

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, when I first came to the Senate in 1939, a distinguished colleague of mine who has since answered his last roll call, Senator Robert Miler, of Luzerne, was appointed Chairman of the American Legion Legislative Committee. Senator Miller served on that Committee as Chairman of it with distinction until his death. I had the privilege of succeeding Senator Miller as Chairman of the American Legion Legislative Committee and, Mr. President, I had the privilege of serving as Chairman until my election to the position as Floor Leader for the Republican Party, at which time the chairmanship was turned over to a very distinguished Legionnaire, a veteran of both the First and Second World Wars, the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

Now, Mr. President, those of us who have served on the Legislative Committee for the Legion, and for the Joint Veterans Council, know some of the trials and tribulations of attempting to translate into law the resolutions presented by the various service organizations in their State-wide conventions. Sometimes, Mr. President, you get the feeling that you are performing a rather hopeless and a misunderstood task.

Last Saturday, Mr. President, the American Legion of the Department of Pennsylvania, had their State Convention in the City of Pittsburgh, in the County of Allegheny. One of the high lights of that convention was the presentation to the Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Department of Pennsylvania, the distinguished Senator from Ford City, Senator Pechan, of the Distinguished Service Medal of the Department of Pennsylvania. The certificate was awarded to Senator Pechan because of his distinguished service to the Legion and his outstanding contribution to the community, State and Nation.

Mr. President, there have been three of these awarded by the Department of Pennsylvania at the department level. The Senate of Pennsylvania is very proud of Senator Pechan, and those of us who are privileged to be members of the American Legion are very proud of his contribution to the Legion, to the community, the State and the Nation, and we join in congratulating him in receiving this award, because we all know that it was justly earned, and we know that he will wear it very proudly because he is entitled to it.

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Walker, I would just like to remind you that I have only been in one World War and that was World War II, but I do thank you very much for the very fine way in which you told my colleagues and the public here of your interest in me, and I also want to thank you, as our Leader, for helping me to pass a great deal of this legislation.

Mr. WALKER. Senator Pechan, may I get to wear the medal part of the time?

Mr. President, I am a little confused about the gentleman ducking the first World War. I remember him boasting of the fact he was the first Pitt Panther. Now, Mr. President, that goes back to the time Pitt was W.U.P., and I cannot understand why the gentleman suggests that he was a draft dodger in the first World War.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to add to the remarks made by Senator Holland relative to the schoolteachers from Schuylkill County coming to Harrisburg, teachers who say they have not been paid for services rendered to school districts. Frankly, I do not know which of the school districts these teachers represent, but I had some statistics compiled and they are official on payments made to so-called school districts for the fiscal years ending May 31, 1950 and May 31, 1951. It involves forty counties of Pennsylvania, and they were paid a total of $1,- 384,600.45. Among the forty counties, Schuylkill County happened to be one of the counties, and there were fifteen school districts in Schuylkill County that received a total of $264,840.64. Those school districts are the boroughs of Gilberton, Girardville, McAdoo, Middleport, New Philadelphia, Ringtown, Shenandoah and Tower City, and the townships are Branch, Cass, Delano, East Norwegian, East Union, Kline and North Union. This report that I have here indicates the amount of the tax duplicate for each one of those school districts. It indicates the amount of the tax duplicate collected as well as the uncollected amount of the tax duplicate, also the amount that was paid to each school district, and in most cases, in most cases, the school district received a sum in excess of the uncollected amount of the tax duplicate. In other words, the total of the uncollected tax duplicate for the fifteen school districts was $199,495.53, and they received, these same school districts received $264,840.64.

Mr. President, I do not know whether all these school districts were so-called distressed school districts. It does not appear so from the tax duplicate and the amount of the tax duplicate collected and the uncollected balance. I expect to go into this phase of payments to distressed school districts a little bit later when we consider the Tax Equalization Board that is on the Calendar, but if any of the schoolteachers who were in Harrisburg complain that they have not been paid represent any of these fifteen school districts here, it might be well to look into how this money that was received from the Department of Public Instruction was applied, and see whether it was properly applied, and see whether the schoolteachers that were not paid received this money that was given to the school districts and in that way determine whether there is anything wrong. I am for schoolteachers being paid wherever the school district is not able to pay them, and I am also for seeing to it that funds granted by the Department of Public Instruction to distressed school districts are diverted to the proper places. I merely mention this fact for the record.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WATKINS, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, August 13, 1951.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, August 20, 1951, at two o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, August 20, 1951, at three-thirty o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WAGNER, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1057, entitled:

An Act to add Section 6.1 to the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1216) entitled "An act to define real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and providing for the licensing regulation and supervision of resident and nonresident real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and their business" by authorizing the issuance of limited real estate brokers' and salesmen's licenses within a limited field or branch of the real estate business and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Public Instruction and the State Real Estate Commission with respect to examination for the issuance of such licenses

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I wish, after just a brief statement, to report another bill referred from the floor this afternoon about these distressed schoolteachers who were in Harrisburg last week. Some of us were made aware of their coming the day before they got here, which was the day after the Senate adjourned. In that interim, with the very fine cooperation of the Secretary of the Senate, who stayed over an extra day to help clear this matter, we find that House Bill No. 718, which originally called for an appropriation of $750,000, to take care of distressed school districts from now until September 30, had been amended in the House down to $270,000.

Mr. President, these teachers who were here last week, they were not all from Schuylkill County. We pay most of our teachers in Schuylkill County. We are a little late with a few of them, just a small percentage. They represented Schuylkill, Northumberland and other counties in the coal region. We immediately got busy and between Tuesday and Friday we got the picture developed to the point where the Department of Public Instruction has agreed that they ought to have the restoration of the original sum of $750,000 to take care of these situations which have been discussed today.

Secondly, Mr. President, we found from the Budget Office that the $750,000 can be provided. They have arranged to take care of that and the money is forthcoming if the legislation is passed. Now, it seems to me it is just good procedure, and in step with the way we do things here, that the bill be re-referred to the Appropriations Committee, which is the proper committee to pass final judgment upon it, but I would say to the Members of the Appropriations Committee, and to all those within the sound of my voice who are interested, that this is a very very urgent matter, and it would be performing a service to the school children of the State, some of whose teachers will not report to their classrooms two weeks hence unless some of their back pay is provided. It would be performing a distinct service if the Appropriations Committee would act upon this bill within the next twelve or fifteen hours.

Mr. President, I might further add that over the weekend I have been telling schoolteachers over the telephone until I am hoarse that they did not get their salaries from their local districts because their local districts did not provide the money, and the State has not yet stepped in and paid it because the State, up to this point, has not yet provided the money. So, it is not a question of placing blame or casting reflections on anybody or any department. It is a matter of great urgency that we do something immediately about the situation as it now confronts us.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REGARDING THE UNFORTUNATE EVENTS TRANSPIRING AT WEST POINT

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO, offered the following resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the Senate, August 13, 1951.

Whereas, West Point Military Academy opened July 4, 1802 and possesses a long and unbroken tradition for loyalty, bravery and integrity, as well as a steadfast devotion to Country; and

Whereas, starting from an humble beginning of ten Cadets, it has grown to the proudest and mightiest Military Academy in the world; and

Whereas, its Cadets for 150 years have distinguished themselves both at home and abroad on every battlefield our Country has been engaged on; and

Whereas, the loyalty and integrity of her sons have become synonymous with the highest ideal of American manhood and thru valor and bravery emulated by soldiery the world over, therefore

Be It Resolved, and it is the sense of this resolution of the Senate of Pennsylvania in Assembly convened, that it convey to the President of the United States our profound regret at the unfortunate events transpiring at the Academy in recent days, with the considered suggestion that in the elimination of all cheating and fraud for all time, strict justice be tempered with mercy, and that due regard be had for their intense devotion—though misguided—to the advancement of the Academy in the world of sports and in "esprit de corps," to the end that those involved may yet with honor discharge faithfully their high obligations to their Country, and

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection??

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOLLAND, from the Committee on Appropriations, re-reported as committed, House Bill No. 718, entitled:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, today we found a shining example of what takes place in local districts when public officials fail to do their duty. This afternoon my colleague from Allegheny County, Mr. Holland, spoke sincerely upon the distressed condition of the schoolteachers in Schuylkill County and rightfully so, but, Mr. President, we find that condition was created by men. Schuylkill County is not broke; the county itself is prospering. Thousands upon thousands of tons of coal are mined daily, and I had the privilege back in the year of 1937, with Senator Reed and at that time Senator Watkins, to sit in the Court House to try to determine what was wrong in Schuylkill County, and despite our honest effort, we found that coal lands were being transferred from man to man, from company to company, and we could not seem to find the owner, and that day I predicted that some day we will find this community broke. They will not be in position to pay the schoolteachers and other obligations. The day has arrived today.

Mr. President, I am in sympathy with schoolteachers who reside and teach in any distressed district. They must be paid, they should be paid, but the County of Schuylkill is not distressed. The County Commissioners and the Judges, if you please, should be surcharged for neglect in not performing their duties. If every county in the Commonwealth would do likewise, this Commonwealth would be broke tomorrow. We could not function. Why should people back in my county assess their coal lands, and Westmoreland County, and Washington County, and Lackawanna County and so on, to help pay this bill, and Schuylkill County and Northumberland County have taken the position that they will get a free ride? I say it is a political steal, if ever we had one in the Commonwealth, for we to sit here today and give them $750,000 to meet obligations that they have failed to do themselves. If there were no coal mines in Schuylkill County, if they had no way of raising funds, then it is our obligation to help pay these teachers, but Schuylkill County is prospering, and when County Commissioners go to the courts and try to assess an evaluation upon the coal lands, the Judges in Schuylkill County uphold the coal operator and they have failed to do their duty.

Now, Mr. President, I will go along with this present bill but before we adjourn, mark my words, you will have another bill to obligate thousands upon thousands of dollars for Schuylkill County again for the next biennium. Now, how long can we continue this? You are setting a pattern, Mr. President, that is going to spread a blueprint to be copied by other counties, and rightfully so, and by the next two years every coal county in the Commonwealth will come before this body with the same cry that they are broke, and they have a right to. If you are going to appropriate that type of money to Schuylkill County, because the officials are not doing their duty, you have the same right to make an appropriation to my county and other coal counties. I never saw the like of it.

I say again, the Judges and the County Commissioners should be called in before a Committee of the Senate to determine the facts as to why they cannot assess these coal lands. The coal is being mined daily, it is being sold daily. It is not a case of being shut down. They are shipping coal out every hour, but no one gets any taxation from it. I say it is a warning that is going to spread, and you will find yourself confronted with the same condition two years from now in other counties as you have in Schuylkill County. It is not fair for us to lean backwards and spend the Commonwealth's money for a county that will do nothing for itself. No wonder they vote Republican, they should. No wonder they go out and make huge appropriations, they should. It is coming out of this till. They certainly are paying their political debts, and I say it is not fair. It is not right, and before you pass your next bill, I am asking this Senate to call in the powers that be and have them give a reason why they cannot arrive at the ownership for these coal lands, and assess them in Schuylkill County in the same manner as they are assessed in my county and other counties in the Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to take the privilege of answering the gentleman from Cambria, and I certainly know that the distinguished gentleman from Schuylkill, who is champing at the bit, desires to do so, and the activity which has so suddenly broke out from this animated stagnation that we have been in for some time would indicate that there are other Members of the Senate that would like to comment on the subject matter of the bill that was just referred from Committee.

Now, Mr. President, may I, in all respect and fairness, suggest that if you just will let us finish the Second Reading Calendar, we can then revert to bills that are not before us and debate them.

I have a lot of things I would like to say in defense of Schuylkill County. I probably will not say them as well or as enthusiastically as Senator Wagner. I ask the gentlemen to yield until we finish the Second Reading Calendar. We have had the desk here all afternoon, and many of us have been up here on the Hill since eight o'clock this morning. I did not know it was going to drag out this late or I would have recessed in order to give the desk a chance to eat. So, if you will just bear with me until we finish the Second Reading Calendar and give the desk some relief, then we will all discuss Schuylkill County.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I reluctantly agree to that very logical suggestion, but I would like to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that I have just been summoned to an office down stairs on a matter that is very vital to the Senate and the people of the Commonwealth. Whether I will be back in time to enjoy the remainder of this I do not know, but in case I am not, I should like the privilege to revert to this subject at a later date and discuss it a little more fully.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER ask and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman from Schuylkill that this bill will be open from now until we adjourn sine die. It is not that Schuylkill County needs any long-winded defense, but you are certainly entitled to have a word of defense against those who besmirch the honor of Schuylkill County.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to express my opinion on this legislation which was just reported from the Committee on Education, and deficiency appropriation bill calling for the sum of $750,000 to take care of the salaries of the destitute school districts in Schuylkill County and Northumberland County.

Now, Mr. President, in my experience there are just two things wrong, either the assessed properties do not exist or it is a question of bad administration. Here we are searching for money to try to balance the budget of this Commonwealth, and one district or one county in particular, or two, comes in and asks for $750,000. I say this, the schoolteachers should be paid, yes, but, Mr. President, we as Members of this Senate have a responsibility to the public and, if this is applicable to Schuylkill and Northumberland Counties, it is applicable to every county in this Commonwealth. What is wrong with our Tax Equalization Board? Not long ago we voted an increase in salary for this group. How does it come that they have not taken the action to bring about a proper equalization of those assessed valuations? That must be the trouble because Schuylkill is a rich county. That is the trouble there. They have not taken the proper action or it is the Board of Commissioners' fault for not collecting the taxes, and they tell me this $750,000 is in addition to their regular appropriation which they receive from this State. Education is costing this State a tidy sum. I am all for it, but I say that the taxpayers of this Commonwealth should share this burden equally, that Schuylkill County and Northumberland County do not have the right to come in here and ask the State for $750,000 unless they have a just and reasonable cause, and they should prove to this Senate and to the Committee on Appropriations that they have exhausted every means of revenue before we hand over a sum like that to one district.

Mr. President, I just received a list here. Do you mean to tell me that all these districts are destitute due to the fact that the natural resources have been depleted? Here is Blythe Township, Branch Township, Butler, Cass Township, Delano Township, Gilberton Borough, Girardville Borough, Kline, McAdoo Borough, New Castle Township, New Philadelphia, West Mahanoy Township.

Mr. President, I think every thinking Member of this Senate realizes something is wrong, something is radically wrong. They tell me that the County Commissioners cannot do anything because the Judges would not sustain their actions in increasing the assessments. Why, Mr. President, any fool knows that they have the right to appeal to the Superior Court. They can take that to the Superior Court and make sure those people pay the taxes. What is wrong, what is wrong that they do not sell these coal properties? Even under the old Treasury Sale Act they had five years, and the five years expired a long time ago. They can go in and sell those properties on tax liens. It should be done. I would say to you that maybe I should tell the people of our county not to pay their taxes, that the State of Pennsylvania is going to finance the school districts in Washington County. It is the same language as other people would use here. I say to you, Mr. President, that each and every Member of this Senate should demand an explanation from those school districts as to the reason that they need $750,000 in deficiency appropriations at this particular time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to supplement the remarks made by Senator Haluska as well as Senator Lane, and I am just going to turn here to some of the counties in the coal regions and tell you what they have received.

Mr. President, Cambria County got $48,000 (seven districts); Carbon County (five districts) got $59,000; Fayette (thirteen districts) got $264,000; Lackawanna County got $5,000. Incidentally, I might say that in Lackawanna County I understand they have a real depression up there for lack of industry, and yet they seem to be able to collect their taxes for school purposes. They got but $5,000. Luzerne County, in comparison, which is a neighboring county, got $161,990.14; Northumberland County (three districts)—three districts got $88,800, and one of the districts I understand is one of the wealthiest in Pennsylvania. Coal Township got $50,000. Schuylkill, of course, I did say, got $264,840.64. Somerset County got $11,750; Westmoreland County got $26,000 (two districts).

Mr. President, I agree with Senator Lane, Members of the Senate, that before we approve any appropriations to so-called distressed school districts, we ought to make sure that they are actually in distress. It seems to me from the statistics I have here that these forty counties, representing one hundred sixty-eight school districts, received in many instances nothing more than political handouts, and it is about time that we do something about it. There has been too much emphasis here during this Session on spending and taxes and not enough emphasis on the curtailment of expenses and expenditure control. Here a short time ago we introduced bills setting up an accountant general. They were out here on the floor for a couple of days and back to committee they went, and why? I know why, because every department on this Hill, every department head on this Hill, I am told, was opposed to the passage of those bills because they want a free spending hand and that is exactly what they have right now.

Mr. President, I heard somebody say something here a few minutes ago about assessments, and you know what is wrong with your local assessment setup. The school districts have not anything to say about assessments, not one thing to say. They have got to take the assessments of either the county or they have got to take the assessments of the city. The Tax Equalization Board comes along and makes the assessment on a market value basis, and right down in my county just recently they raised the market value assessment up twelve million dollars, and when I asked the Tax Equalization Board for the reason, they come along and they say, "New construction." New construction has not even been completed and yet they raise the market value assessment twelve million dollars which, of course, reduces the subsidy from the Department of Public Instruction in proportion.

Mr. President, there were a series of school districts down in my neighborhood that had a meeting a short time ago, and they complained about the fact that they have no right, they have no say in the assessment of properties. They suggested a bill be drafted here and I took the suggestion over to the Legislative Reference Bureau and I had a bill drafted that would set up a Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes. It would give the city representation on that board, and it would give the school district representation on that board, and the city and the school district would get together and select an outsider as the third member of the board, and in that manner make their assessments and revise their taxes. The bill was introduced, went to the Committee on Education and there it lays, and everybody that I have talked to that is interested in this assessment problem tells me that it is something that ought to be done. They tell me that the school districts ought to have something to say about assessments, but yet the bill lies up there and it just will not be reported out. We have got to do something about those things. That is why we are here. You can go to a school district if you want to and complain about assessments, and what is the first thing they say? They say, "Why complain to us about the assessments? We have nothing to say about it."

Mr. President, I happen to live in Bethlehem, the home of one of the twenty-seven billion dollar industries of the United States, the Bethlehem Steel Company. It has its biggest plant in Bethlehem and I am happy about that. It has its main offices in Bethlehem, and up until a short time ago they had been paying an assessment for school purposes on $16,000,000. Just imagine that, and just recently they raised it, I think, to $24,000,000. They ought to be paying on an assessment of not a nickel less than $50,000,000, but the school district has nothing to say about it. They say, "Take an appeal." Sure, take an appeal and you know how much red tape there is attached to taking an appeal. Why make school districts take an appeal when you could give them a direct say in these assessments? These school districts are in the plight they are in because of lack of action on the part of this Legislature, and the sooner we give them a right to say something about assessments, the quicker we are going to solve or help to solve their problems, and do away with these handouts and do away with distressed school districts throughout Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I think we ought to take action on some kind of a bill. If it is still in committee because I am the sponsor, I will withdraw my sponsorship and somebody else can sponsor it, but let us give these school districts a hand in saying something about these assessments so that they can go out and collect their money.

Mr. President, I just want to say one more thing. In my school district at Bethlehem, they were short about $60,000 of what they did not collect on the tax puplicate. They did not run up to the Department of Public Instruction and say, "Give us a handout." They went to the bank and they borrowed between sixty and eighty-five thousand dollars to tide them over until the end of the fiscal year. Then they brought in a professional tax collector and they turned over all of the delinquent accounts to this delinquent tax collector, and as he collects these taxes, they apply it to the loan that they made from the bank, and I see absolutely no reason, just from looking at this statement, why some of these other school districts could not have done the same thing. Some of them get as low as five hundred dollars and I do not believe there is a school district in Pennsylvania that cannot go to a bank and borrow five hundred dollars. This is nothing more than a handout, it is nothing more than political patronage, and while I am at it, I may as well say just one more thing because I have gone into this thing a little bit. Over in the House, a bill was sponsored by a Democrat and a Republican. "Hy" Andrews is on the bill, and if I am not mistaken it is House Bill No. 1134, that defines just what a distressed school district is, and defines just what is to be done after the school district establishes itself as a distressed school district. It passed the House, it came over here and it is up in Committee, and I am assuming that is where it is going to stay. So, I say again that we here in this Legislature are responsible for the plight of these school districts, and the sooner we do something about it, the better off we are going to be, and the sooner we discontinue these handouts, the sooner we are going to eliminate these billion dollar budgets.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I said awhile ago, there will be a day when a voice is raised on the floor of the Senate to defend Schuylkill County. I do not want to do it now, Mr. President, for three reasons. One is I must call a Republican Caucus as soon as we adjourn. Secondly, out in the country we are accustomed to eating before eight o'clock. You city folks have us spoiled down here, and if there is nothing else to come before the Senate at this time except further castigation of Schuylkill County I would like to make a motion at this time.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, August 14, 1951, at 12:00 o'clock, m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 7:04 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, August 14, 1951, at 12:00 o'clock, m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, August 13, 1951

The House met at 3:30 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend John Yates, guest Chaplain and Pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

We acknowledge our belief in Thee and our allegiance to Thee. Grant Thy blessing this day upon this House. Guide the members of this Assembly so that all that may be enacted may bring honour and well-being to this Commonwealth. In Christ's Name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Tuesday, August 7, 1951? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM GOVERNOR

COMMUNICATIONS FROM GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 80.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 11, 1951.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 80, Printer's No. 754, entitled "An Act to further amend section four thousand three hundred two of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled 'An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto' by prescribing a minimum period of continuous service and in certain cases a minimum age for police retirement."

This bill would amend Section 4302 of The Third Class City Code, relating to pensions for police in cities of the third class, by requiring the cities to prescribe a minimum twenty-year period of continuous service before retirement, in lieu of the present minimum period of not less than twenty years. Where the city ordinance prescribes a minimum age, this bill would require such age to be fifty years rather than a minimum age of fifty years, as the act now provides. Stated otherwise, a retirement ordinance could not provide for minimum continuous service in excess of twenty years nor fix the minimum retirement age at more than fifty years.

The present law, in permitting the cities to prescribe minimums of twenty years of continuous service and an age of fifty years, is ample authority for all such cities to confer the same benefits as those provided by this bill. Thus the police of third class cities get nothing under this bill which they cannot now get from the cities under the provisions of The Third Class City Code approved by me June 28, 1951. Heretofore, it has been the policy to permit each city to determine, within the minimums fixed in Section 4302 of The Code, the period of continuous service and the age requisite for the retirement of its police. I see no reason to change this policy which was so recently reasserted in The Code.

For this reason, the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FINE.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. DALRYMPLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1052.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August, 10, 1951.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1052, Printer's No. 661, entitled "An Act to further amend the title and Section 1 of the act approved the sixteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred seven (P. L. 92) entitled as amended 'An act defining the duty of coroners where death is sudden or violent or is of a suspicious nature and character and of police and health authorities in this Commonwealth in reference to the disposition of bodies of persons whose cause of death may be the subject of inquiry by the coroner but where it appears the cause of death is not surrounded by suspicious circumstances' by prescribing duties of coroners and deputy coroners when death occurs to an inmate of any institution for juvenile delinquents and dependents."

Under existing law, coroners or their deputies have the duty to cause a careful investigation of the facts to be made in all cases where the death of a person is sudden, violent, or of a suspicious nature and character. Within the scope of this duty are such cases of death of inmates of institutions for juvenile delinquents.

With respect to such institutions, this bill would enlarge the duties of coroners and deputy coroners and require them to cause an investigation to be made in the case of every death of an inmate occurring therein. The bill would also require that the coroner or deputy coroner have present at any autopsy of a deceased inmate of such institution, the physician designated by the immediate family of the deceased inmate, if such family exists, and if such family chooses to designate such physician.

Within the Commonwealth there are many institutions for juvenile delinquents which are private institutions or which are under the administration of various church authorities. Inasmuch as coroners already have the power and duty to cause investigations to be made of the death of inmates of such institutions in a proper case, I deem it unnecessary to provide for a further extension of the scope of such power and duty so as to include all deaths of inmates occurring therein. Moreover, the exercise of such power and duty, as thus enlarged, might well result in an unwarranted interference in the orderly administration of such institutions.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FINE.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 205.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August, 10, 1951.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 205, Printer's No. 735, entitled "An Act changing the procedure in civil actions hereafter brought in the courts of common pleas in counties of the third class providing for trial without jury and for the filing of agreements therefor providing for the payment of jury fees."

This bill would provide that in all civil actions hereafter brought in the court of common pleas of any county of the third class, if neither plaintiff nor defendant demands a jury trial, the decision of the court shall be rendered by the trial judge in the nature of a verdict at the end of the testimony.

The purpose of this bill is to dispense with the necessity of the trial judge making findings of fact and conclusions of law, as is provided by the Act of April 22, 1874.

The bill as originally introduced applied to all courts of common pleas of the Commonwealth. By an amendment the provisions of the bill were limited to courts in counties of the third class only.

The effect of limiting its provisions to courts of common pleas in counties of the third class, would render this bill, if enacted, a local and special law in violation of

Article III, Section 7 of the Pennsylvania Constitution, which provides that the General Assembly shall not pass any local or special law "regulating the practice or jurisdiction of, or changing the rules of evidence in, any judicial proceeding or inquiry before courts * * *"

The bill, if enacted, would also violate the provisions of Article V, Section 26, which provides: "All laws relating to courts shall be general and of uniform operation, and the organization, jurisdiction and powers of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the process and judgments of such courts, shall be uniform * * *." See Ruan Street, 132 Pa. 257, 260 (1890); Wyoming Street, Pittsburgh, 137 Pa. 494, 504, 507 (1891); Gottshall v. Campbell, 234 Pa. 347, 351 (1912); Chadwick v. Hepburn, 151 Pa. Super. Ct. 459, 466 (1943).

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FINE.

Any fines and costs of prosecution imposed for violation of clause (a), (b), (c), (d), (f) or (g) of this section shall constitute and be a first lien upon the vehicle or combination of vehicles, which lien shall continue until the fine and costs of prosecution and all reasonable costs attendant upon or arising out of the enforcement of the lien are paid. It shall be the duty of the operator or owner of any such vehicle or combination of vehicles to drive or cause the same to be driven to such off-the-highway parking area or storage facility, as the magistrate may designate, and except for such movement or any movement that may be required in the performance of the duties hereinafter imposed upon the sheriff, no vehicle or combination of vehicles subject to a lien as herein provided for shall be operated on the highways of this Commonwealth, or be registered, or the title thereof transferred, either voluntarily or by operation of law as long as said lien remains unsatisfied. Any operator or owner who fails, neglects or refuses to comply with an order of a magistrate to deliver a vehicle or combination of vehicles to a parking area or storage facility designated by said magistrate, or a person who operates or causes or permits to be operated a vehicle or combination of vehicles or who procures the registration or transfer of title of a vehicle knowing the same to be subject to the lien herein provided for, shall, upon summary conviction before a magistrate, be sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred ($200.00) dollars and costs of prosecution, and, in default of the payment thereof, shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment for thirty (30) days. If the fine and costs of prosecution for violation of clause (a), (b), (c), (d), (f), or (g), of this section, and all other costs incidental to the enforcement of the lien shall not be paid within ten (10) days, the magistrate shall forthwith issue an order directed to the sheriff of the county commanding him to sell at public sale any vehicle or combination of vehicles subject to such lien. Within five (5) days following receipt of such an order of sale, the sheriff shall send by registered mail to the owner, conditional vendor, bailor, lessor or mortgagee, as disclosed in official registration certificates accompanying the vehicle, or conspicuously displayed on the dash of a motor vehicle, or the lower front left side of the exterior of a trailer or semi-trailer, at the address set forth therein, a notice of the sale, free and clear of all liens and encumbrances, stating, inter alia: (1) the date, time and place of the sale, (2) the amount of the fine and all costs, including those incidental to the enforcement of the lien, which have accrued to the date of the notice, and (3) a statement that the vehicle may be repossessed at any time prior to the sale, upon payment of the fine and all costs which have accrued up to the date of the satisfaction of the lien. The posting of such notice by registered mail, addressed as aforesaid, shall constitute notice to the addressee. The sale shall be advertised once each week for three (3) successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county, and shall be held not less than thirty (30) days following the date of the first advertisement. The sale shall operate to divest any and all existing liens or encumbrances on such vehicle or combination of vehicles. Provided, That the owner, or the conditional vendor, bailor, lessor or mortgagee shall have the right to repossess the same upon payment of the fine and all costs accrued at any time prior to the sale. The magistrate and sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees to which they are entitled by law for similar services: Provided, That the magistrate's fee for arranging for a parking or storage facility shall be five ($5.00) dollars for each vehicle, and for each order of sale directed to the sheriff, five ($5.00) dollars; and Provided further, That the sheriff's fee for the preparation and transmission of the notice of sale shall be five ($5.00) dollars each. The proceeds of sale shall be distributed in the following order, viz.: (1) costs of sale, (2) storage costs, (3) costs of prosecution, (4) fine, (5) equitable owners as their interests may appear, (6) owner. Neither the peace officer, magistrate nor sheriff shall incur any liability whatsoever by virtue of any act done hereunder.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. DENNISON offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, the 19th line, by placing brackets before and after the word "and" at the end of said line.

Amend Title, page 2, the 20th line, by adding after the word "penalties" the following: "providing that certain penalties shall be enforced by liens upon vehicles and the sale of such vehicles free of all liens and encumbrances, and imposing duties upon operators, owners, magistrates and sheriffs."

They were agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Dennison.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Dennison permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, has your committee on Motor Vehicles consulted or called in the Highway Department before your committee with respect to effects of damage that this extra weight might have on our highways?

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I am not clear just what the gentleman means. Did you ask if we called the Highway Department before the Committee on Motor Vehicles before considering this bill? Is that the question?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, that is the question.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, no one was called before the Committee, either the Highway Department, the Revenue Department or the proponents of the bill.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, has your committee on Motor Vehicles called in or consulted the State Police as to enforcement of the policies under this bill, as to enforcing the rules which will be set up under this bill; have they been consulted?

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I have as Chairman of the Committee on various occasions consulted with the head of the State Police in regard to the provisions of the bill.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell us what he was informed?

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I was informed that the functions of the State Police are to enforce the laws as passed by the Legislature.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Highways for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission to interrogate the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Toomey.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Toomey permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what his motive is in moving to recommit this bill to the Committee on Highways, a Committee to which the bill has never been referred in at least the six sessions at which I have been present. It has always been in the Motor Vehicles Committee. Perhaps he has an ulterior motive and if he has I would like to have him explain it.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I certainly have no ulterior motives, I assure you. However, I do not believe that the bill was considered by unbiased interests. I know that all my information has come from two particular groups and I feel that perhaps our Highway Department, and our highways and byways of Pennsylvania will be affected by this bill more than any other Department and it affects the taxpayers throughout the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if at any time during the time this bill has been under consideration he has been contacted by any member of the Highway Department asking him to oppose this bill?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I have not.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think that by re-referring this bill to the Committee on Highways additional information which is not already available will be divulged?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, we do have hope that we can receive some very valuable information from the engineers of our own highway system.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me what the present weights, axle weights now permitted on Pennsylvania Highways are?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, eighteen thousand pounds.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to differ with the gentleman but I think if he will read his motor vehicle code he will find that the present axle, permissible axle weights are twenty thousand pounds, the same as permitted in this bill.

Does the gentleman feel that presently this axle weight which we have had for a number of years is unfair?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman talking on my motion or on the bill?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct. The gentleman will please confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to ascertain from the gentleman his motive in asking to recommit.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I make this motion to recommit this bill to the Committee on Highways for further study and consideration which I feel that this bill deserves.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I believe the House should not give this motion much serious consideration. This is not new legislation. This legislation has been before this House on at least four different occasions at which times this House voiced its approval of this type of legislation, and I think it is definitely unfair that the Members of this House should be deprived of voting on a measure as important as this; therefore, I ask you to vote down this motion.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, the reason I moved to recommit this bill to the Committee on Highways was because of the simple fact that I am a co-sponsor of Resolution 58 in which we merely ask the Joint State Government Commission to study the effects of the weights of trucks on our highways.

I know that I am no engineer, however I do travel the highways and byways of Perry county and I know that every time we have a detour in Perry count when we are building a new road we have to rebuild our detour immediately afterward.

This study that we have requested would determine whether additional weight on our highways would be damaging to them. This is an important question. Pennsylvania has perhaps one of the greatest highways systems in the world and I hope that we can keep it that way.

We only have about a year and four months until we will come back here in a new session and I cannot see any reason for pushing this bill through the House.

Believe me, I have nothing against the truckers. I am for the trucker. I think that it is part of our economy that we are going to have to have them and I realize that. But I cannot see any reason for pushing this particular bill through at this time, and if a further study proved that our trucks, heavier trucks do not damage our highway, I can promise the truckers a vote.

I do hope that the House will vote to recommit this bill for further study and reconsideration.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Toomey.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Toomey permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, in your opinion, and you were a member of the Motor Vehicles Committee, when the study was made in 1949 by a special committee, did or did not that committee develop any facts relative to damage to highways by motor transportation?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I think perhaps they did claim damaging effects.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman make the suggestion that the Joint State Government made a study of the problem. However, will the gentleman tell me what the facilities of the Joint State Government are for such a study?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I believe the Joint State Government Commission, when they with expert advice, perhaps would call in engineers, they would probably consult the Federal Bureau of public roads, the automobile associations and bring in all the expert advice that they possibly can—and they do that. We as laymen, I do not believe are too good as judges on whether our trucks damage our roads or whether they do not. I know that I would hesitate to judge.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman aware that presently being conducted in Maryland is the famous Maryland Road Test?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, to a certain extent.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, could you give me any concrete results of that test?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, as far as I can ascertain by reading the reports I have, the test is not complete by any means but further study and experimentation will bring out final results.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the gentleman, in the space of perhaps, shall we say fifteen months, the Joint Government will develop information which has been three years in preparation by the Maryland Road Test and their brilliance and information would be much more valuable than that test?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, the test is not complete. I think perhaps, and I believe that I am correct, in reading some of the tests, they were not too favorable to big trucks so far.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, in court I believe we do not rest too much on conjecture and I would like to have the Members of the House judge this measure in the same way, in light of facts rather than what somebody's opinion may be.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Perry and the gentleman he questioned have perhaps wandered somewhat from the major issue which is simply whether this bill should be recommitted.

They have discussed the question as to whether trucks damage roads. I might interject and take a little liberty as they did, and venture the opinion that trucks damage roads when roads are built on mud. That is the extent of the technical research so far.

This bill has been discussed as no other bill in my memory has been discussed. Various powerful far-reaching organizations have showered the Members of this House with leaflets, pamphlets, arguments without end.

I know of no bill that in some quarters has aroused as much bitterness as this bill has aroused. It becomes incumbent upon the Members of this House to cut through the bitterness of the propaganda, get down to facts and resolve a very important issue, and the only way we can resolve that issue is to bring this bill to a vote.

Now the gentleman from Perry is a bit ingenious. He did not divulge any sinister motive in asking for recommitment. His design undoubtedly is to kill the bill. That is not the way a bill of this kind should be killed. We have gone too far, too much has been said to back-track at this time to send a measure of major concern back to a Committee for purposes of further consideration.

And so, irrespective of how the membership of the House may vote, of what the convictions of the individuals Members may be, I am hoping that at least a very considerable number of the Members on this side will vote against recommitment, irrespective of what their convictions may be when we reach the point where we are finally deciding whether Senate Bill 615 shall or shall not pass the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Toomey and Mr. Kent and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Whalley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1356, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one eight and thirteen of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 940) entitled "An act relating to boarding houses for children providing for the licensing and inspection thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare defining "boarding houses for children" providing for an advisory committee with which the department shall confer in adopting rules and regulations and increasing penalties

Section 1 Sections one eight and thirteen of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven P. L. 940) entitled "An act relating to boarding houses for children providing for the licensing and inspection thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare defining offenses and prescribing penalties" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Definitions Exclusions The term "boarding house for children" as used in this act shall mean any place maintained operated and conducted [for his gain or reward] for the reception of [more than two children] any child or children between the ages of three and sixteen years of age who are unaccompanied by parent or guardian for the purpose of providing such children with full time care food and lodging The term "boarding house for children" shall not be construed to include (1) institutions maintained by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof [(2) institutions boarding houses foster homes or any other places for the care of children to which the several courts of the Commonwealth or the county institution districts shall send children (3) any place conducted by or in which children may be placed by institutions and social agencies duly incorporated as nonprofit corporations whose corporate purposes include the placement and care of children (4) (2) any bona fide nonprofit educational institution whether incorporated or not [(5)] (3) any place conducted by a person or persons related to the children received therein by blood or marriage within the second degree [(6)] (4) vacation boarding houses or vacation camps caring for children for a period of time not to exceed ninety (90) consecutive days or [(7)] (5) any place selected by a parent for the temporary care of his children gratuitously or for pay during his absence or [(8)] (6) places licensed under any other law of this Commonwealth

The word "department" as used in this act shall mean the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth

Section 8 Department to adopt rules and regulations the department is hereby authorized and empowered subject to the provisions of this section to adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this act for the issuance and renewal of such licenses and the proper maintenance operation and conduct of such licensed boarding houses for children and for the effective enforcement thereof such rules and regulations shall be designed to insure normal lives for all children maintained in boarding houses for children

In adopting rules and regulations the department shall confer with an advisory committee of not less than seven or more than eleven persons to be appointed by the Governor who shall select the members of the Advisory Committee from representatives of recognized child welfare institutions agencies and religious organizations conducting boarding houses for children and from the public at large the Secretary of Welfare shall be a member ex officio of the Advisory Committee and shall act as the executive officer of the committee.

Section 13 Offenses Penalty Any person who operates a boarding house for children without having obtained a license within thirty days after being notified by the department so to do or who operates a boarding house for children after his license has been revoked shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding [two hundred dollars ($200) one thousand dollars ($1000) or undergo imprisonment not exceeding [six months] one year or both in the discretion of the court

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, when House Bill 1356 came before the House on final passage originally, I was one of those who voiced opposition to it. I believed that it needed amendment. I believed that the head of the Department of Welfare, in framing the rules and regulations that would govern his supervision and his duties under this act, should associate himself with a committee which would have more than a merely advisory capacity—a committee which would be broadly representative of the charitable and religious groups in the Commonwealth and which would, in effect, ride herd upon the Department to make certain that its rules and regulations were not in any sense objectionable to any well meaning individual or organization.

This bill has been amended and so far as I am personally concerned the amendments meet my original objections. I am, therefore, hoping that this bill will pass the House because it is a measure designed to cure an evil that has long been present in our Commonwealth.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1357, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 234) entitled "An act relating to Boarding Houses for Infants providing for the licensing thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare and fixing penalties" by redefining "boarding houses for infants" eliminating license fees providing for an advisory committee with which the Department shall confer in adopting rules and regulations and increasing penalties

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 234) entitled "An act relating to Boarding Houses for Infants providing for the licensing thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare and fixing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the term "boarding house for infants" as used in this act shall mean any place [other than institutions duly incorporated for the purpose] maintained operated and conducted [for hire or reward] for the reception of [more than one infant child] any child or children under three years of age unaccompanied by parents or guardian for the purpose of providing such children with care food and lodging for a continuous period longer than twenty-four hours unless such children are related to the person or persons maintaining and conducting such place by blood or marriage within the second degree [but] the term "boarding house for infants" shall [not] be construed to include such places as are commonly known as day nurseries where children are not lodged over night

Section 2 Sections five and six of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 95) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 Issuance of License The Department of Welfare [shall] when satisfied that the applicant or applicants for such license are proper persons and that the place sought to be used as a boarding house for infants is a fit and suitable place for such purpose and when all the requirements of this act and the rules and regulations of the department have been complied with [and upon the payment of a license fee of five dollars ($5.00) issue such license] shall issue such license without cost and keep a record thereof and of the application therefor

Section 6 Term and Contents of License All licenses granted by the department shall be for a period of not more than one year and may be renewed upon certification by the Department of Welfare [the payment of an annual fee of five dollars ($5.00)] The license shall state the name of the licensee or licensees the particular premises where such boarding house may be maintained operated and conducted and the number of infants which may be boarded therein at one time [All license fees collected and received by the Department of Welfare under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue] No fee shall be charged for such renewal

Section 3 Sections eight and thirteen of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 8 Department of Welfare to adopt rules and regulations The Department of Welfare may with the approval of the State Welfare Commission and an advisory committee as hereinafter provided make and adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act for the issuance and renewal of such licenses and the proper maintenance operation and conduct of such boarding houses for infants and for the effective enforcements thereof

In adopting rules and regulations the Department of Welfare shall confer with an advisory committee of not less than seven nor more than eleven persons to be appointed by the Governor who shall select the members of the advisory committee from representatives of recognized child welfare institutions agencies and religious organizations conducting boarding houses for infants and from the public at large the Secretary of Welfare shall be a member ex officio of the advisory committee and shall act as the executive officer of the committee

Section 13 Penalty Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one [hundred] thousand dollars or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding one year or both in the discretion of the court

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as these are companion bills (H.B. 1356) and they were both amended to take care of objections, I would suggest that we use the same roll call for both bills.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the Chair will accept the gentleman's suggestion. Are there objections?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that various Members who might have been opposed to the other bill have no objections to this bill. I think it would in those instances be an injustice to the Members to automatically record them against a bill that they may favor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will be governed accordingly. The Chair hears objections. The Clerk will call the roll.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1557, Printer's No. 860, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 11, as follows:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" authorizing investments in common stocks meeting certain qualifications and eliminating the requirement that stock must be listed on an exchange as to the stock of banks and insurance companies

Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 9 Stocks

(a) Preferred and Common Stock Preferred and common stock of any corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any commonwealth or state thereof or of the District of Columbia shall be an authorized investment if

(1) purchased in the exercise of that degree of judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds considering the probable income to be derived therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital

(2) in the case of preferred stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in eight of the preceding ten fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding ten fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during such year [and]

(3) in the case of common stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during said year and in each of at least twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in some amount upon all its common stock if any outstanding during such year

(4) in the case of any stock other than stock of a bank or insurance company the stock is listed or traded (or if unlisted or not entitled to trading privileges shall be eligible for listing and application for such listing shall have been made) on the New York Stock Exchange or any other exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking

No investment in common stock shall be made at this time would cause the market value of the investments in common stocks to exceed one third of the market value of the estate not including in such market value the value of any participation in a common trust fund No sale or other liquidation of any investment shall be required solely because of any change in market values whereby the percentages of stocks hereinabove set forth exceeded In determining the market value of an estate a fiduciary may rely upon published market quotations as to those investments for which such quotations are available and upon such valuations of other property as in his best judgment seem fair and reasonable according to available information

When a corporation has acquired a substantial part of its property within sixteen years immediately preceding the investment by consolidation or merger or by the purchase of a substantial part of the property of any other corporation or corporations the earnings of the predecessor or constituent corporations shall be consolidated so as to ascertain whether the requirements of this section have been satisfied

"Corporation" as used in this section shall include a voluntary association a joint-stock association or company a business trust a Massachusetts trust a common-law trust and any other organization organized and existing for any lawful purpose and which like a corporation continues to exist notwithstanding changes in the personnel of its members or participants and conducts its affairs through a committee a board or some other group acting in a representative capacity

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to Senate Bill 11. This bill, for the information of the Members of the House, would permit the investment of funds of a trust fund or other funds held by a fiduciary in certain types of common stocks.

The bill would limit the investment to 35 percent of the capital fund in such stocks which, I believe, have a record of having paid dividends over a period of 12 years out of the past 16 years.

This bill would only apply where, for instance, someone dies and leaves money that would go to orphans, minors and a guardian were appointed and the guardian would be permitted to make these trust fund investments in common stock up to 35 percent of the capital of the estate.

We had a sad experience following the stock market crash with funds of persons, who were perfectly capable, so they thought, of managing their own affairs and investing their own funds in common stocks.

The primary purpose of a trust fund is the preservation of the capital of the estate, and secondly, of course, the income that may be derived from the investment. At this time the laws of the Commonwealth have limited the investment of these funds to certain first mortgages, municipal, state and federal bonds, and other investments considered sort of gild edge investments.

I feel that we should be primarily interested in the protection of the capital funds of an estate, particularly those of minors and those for whom trust funds have been created. I, therefore, hesitate at this time to deviate from that rule. I am perfectly satisfied that the 2.9 percent investment that can be made in government bonds or in mortgages is much, much safer than to permit fiduciaries to make their investments in common stock. For that reason I ask this House to vote down Senate Bill 11.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides, as the gentleman from Allegheny has stated, that fiduciaries be permitted to invest fiduciary funds in common stocks, which qualify on a certain basis as defined in the act.

The purpose of this bill, is of course the limitation that is placed upon stocks which have had a dividend-paid record during 12 of the last 16 years, in order to give some stability to the investment.

It also provides that no more than one-third of the market value of the estate may be invested in such securities.

The purpose of this bill has been brought about by the financial conditions of our country today in this respect: when money was paying a good rate of interest of 5 or 6 percent, investments in mortgage bonds and other legal securities such as government securities and so forth, which are today authorized as legal investments; when they were producing on an average of 5 and 6 percent for the estate, you had enough with which that estate could carry out the purposes for which it was created.

However, many estates are in existence where today the purposes for which they were created are being defeated because of the fact that not sufficient return is coming in from the investments which are authorized to carry on the purposes of the fund.

I realize some of the things which the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, has said, but nevertheless, we must face the reality of also taking care of those who are in need of that care.

We have thrown safeguards around the nature of the common stock which may be invested. The argument might arise that we might have a stock market crash, therefore, the value of those investments would be wiped out. I stand here to ask you if we have a stock market crash, what do you think is going to happen to the value of some of the real estate bonds which they were authorized to invest today? We are going to be faced with the same situation. Therefore we are not in my opinion opening the door too far to permit these funds to operate on a basis for which they were created.

The second argument which might be advanced on this thing is that every man that wants to can provide by his will that his trustee or guardian may invest in such funds as they want to, including common stocks. That is very true.

I am here to ask every member of the bar who is a Member of this House, how many do not make their wills? Irrespective of all the effort which is made by trust companies, members of the bar, all those who are interested in matters of that kind, how many people still die without having gone to consult their lawyer to get that will made?

When an estate is left and children have to be educated and they find it impossible to touch the corpus of a trust perhaps; should they not be permitted to enlarge their investment to a point where that child can be taken care of properly? Because after all that is what the purpose of the estate is.

For that reason and with big returns that today are coming in from your common stocks, the return to these trusts will be of sufficient nature that they will maintain the purposes for which they were created.

Now bear in mind we can only invest one-third of the total amount of the estate in this way and they are still bound on the remaining two-thirds for those low income investments.

If any of you are connected with trust work, if you examined trusts which you perhaps had to do with ten, fifteen and twenty years ago and still the same corpus is being maintained, you know what has happened to the income of those trust funds. The purposes of those trust funds are being very seriously defeated.

This bill has been gone over very thoroughly by those who are qualified, or should be qualified to be able to answer this question as to the safety of such investments. They advise that opening the common stock deal on the basis as defined in this bill would be a reasonably safe investment for those purposes. For that reason we would ask that this bill be passed by the House.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, as a Member of the bar, the same as the gentleman Mr. Tompkins from Cameron, I feel safe in stating in my many years of practice where I have had occasion to consult with clients relative to the preparation of their estates, their will and so forth, in many, many instances when I have inquired as to whether or not they desire to permit the fiduciary, who is to handle the estate, the privilege of investing in other than those investments now allowed by law, the answer has always been an absolute no.

I believe that each and every one of us sitting here today, if we think of what is to happen to our estates after we pass on we would say that we would not want our fiduciaries to make these investments in common stock.

The sad experience that I stated happened after the crash of the stock market in 1929 and 1930, where estates were wiped out in their entirety has made me feel that I should argue against this bill as I am doing now. We are primarily interested, I say, in preserving the corpus of the estate.

Take the example of an estate for instance of ten thousand dollars. Under the present investment practices, you can get a return of approximately 2.9 percent as against a possible 5 or 6 percent that you may receive on some stock that has for the past twelve years or twelve out of the last sixteen years earned a dividend.

Is that risk the risk of an additional 3 percent in income which in a ten thousand dollar estate may mean three hundred dollars a year, worth permitting the investment of that estate in common stocks? I feel each and everyone of us here today would say no if our lawyer were to ask us whether or not we would permit this in our will.

I ask you, therefore, not to break down the barrier and defeat this bill.

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, in going over this bill, I, as an Attorney—apparently this is purely an attorney's ball game just about now—when a client comes in and asks me to draw a will, the purpose of the will is to protect the devisee who later might not have sufficient, shall we say, background, to invest the money properly, or to protect the particular person in case that person is a minor.

I suspect that probably 75 percent of the wills that go through the court are wills in which the administrations of the fiduciaries are less than approximately twenty years. A trust that was set up in 1930 let us say, will probably end today. The child or children will be able to obtain their money and spend it as they see fit. My own personal opinion is that I object to permitting any trustee or guardian to invest in what is known as common stock. There are a lot of blue chip common stocks, we all know of them.

The one thing that bothers me mostly about this bill is, why is it that the bill states that the common stock which they are now permitting trustees and guardians to invest in, do not have to have a dividend record of 100 percent. Why is the variance there? Why is it that this bill will permit stock which you are permitting a trustee or a guardian to invest in, is stock that does not pay dividends every year?

It seems to me rather peculiar that you have to take less than 100 percent, because if the establisher of the trust, the person who made the trust was interested in retaining the corpus of the estate the value of the estate, he would probably check and determine absolutely that the investment proceeds of the particular corporation will return something to him each and every year.

The argument that it is a larger return does not hold water in that situation because in the very essence of the bill which you are now attempting to put through this House you have stated that sometime during the past years this particular corporation, or what have you, has not paid dividends.

Mr. Speaker, I arise to oppose this bill because I feel that the purposes behind a trust or a guardian's estate is to save the corpus for the minor or the adult. I ask the House to vote down this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Robertson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Robertson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERTSON. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware if mortgage bonds are a legal investment today?

Mr. ROBERTSON. If they are first mortgage bonds I understand they are.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, if we should have one of the crashes that have been talked about on the floor of this House today, do you think such a crash would also carry with it the value of a mortgage bond?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe that it would, but you could only foreclose on the mortgaged premises and you have the premises. If the crash goes down your stock interest is usually about five, six or seventh in line for any return from the investment.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Municipal bonds today are a legal investment as they not?

Mr. ROBERTSON. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. If we should have such a crash, Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Delaware think that some municipal bonds might default?

Mr. ROBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, I suspect that probably in a very, very few instances where the bond issue is not properly backed by the agreement of the taxing authority they may be in default, but I rather doubt that there would be a very large percentage if any.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The gentleman is talking about the continuity of the return and why it is not 100 percent. He is talking about the preservation of the corpus of the estate. Now in estates there is no limitation on the amounts which an estate can invest in mortgage bonds, first mortgage bonds. There are no limitations upon the amounts which they can invest in municipal bonds, government bonds and so forth.

Supposing we have an estate—let us take the mythical estate of ten thousand dollars that the gentleman from Allegheny has mentioned. I want to point out to you first, that the amount which the fiduciary is allowed to invest under that particular setup is not the full ten thousand dollars but only one-third of that or $3333. The balance of it is bound by the terms of the legal investments.

Supposing we take that full ten thousand dollar estate and we invest it in first mortgage bonds and there is a crash. We need to foreclose on the property that will bring only five thousand dollars. What has the ward or the beneficiary to go on? Instead of ten thousand dollars he has five thousand dollars. He has the property that is sure. But suppose there is a market crash and your stocks depreciate by fifty percent from ten thousand dollars to five thousand dollars. He still has stock worth five thousand dollars the same as he has real estate worth five thousand dollars. We have the same situation going down the line in connection with municipal bonds that should they default on the payment of them, that you have such a financially distressed condition in your country, how do you suppose they will be able to carry their interest load for years and years to come, and maybe eventually the bonds themselves default?

Now we are talking about security. I am afraid we are talking about something which is impossible of attainment. What we are looking at here is something whereby we can project a return for the benefit of those for whom these things are supposed to be created. I believe that opening the door to common stocks under the circumstances which this bill provides is just as safe as the other investments which have been discussed here today.

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make one observation on Senate Bill 11. If you read the bill you will notice that in the case of common stock all that is required is that there be a return in "some" amount. No specific amount. Not one quarter of one percent or one percent, one-eighth of one percent, two percent, just some amount—it can be any little amount. There must be a return in some amount for at least twelve of the preceding fifteen years.

In the case of preferred shares or preferred stock, generally we accept preferred shares to be a better type of investment, it is required that there be a return only of the stated amount, that is, whatever the preferred shares are: six percent, seven percent, five percent, whatever it may be; the stated amount on preferred shares issued for a period of eight out of ten years.

Is it not strange that in a case of a more reliable type of stock they require a return of a stated amount for a greater number of years, eight out of ten and that in the case of common stock all that is required is a return in some amount in at least twelve out of sixteen years.

I say, Mr. Speaker, this is a poor bill and I wish you would vote against it.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the bar for a good many years I can endorse the statements made by the gentleman from Delaware, that it is more important to preserve the principal of the estate than to make a few extra per cent in interest. It has been shown by past experience that where investments are made in stocks there is bound to be a total loss. But where there is an investment made in first mortgages, there will always be something left particularly when the investment is carefully made.

I think that it is more important to protect those who are dependent upon the corpus of the estate, in other words it is more important to protect the principal of the estate than to make a little bit more interest. As a matter of fact, any careful investor does not look so much to making a great deal as he does to protect the principal. I think under this bill it would be a dangerous precedent to permit trust companies particularly to invest in common stocks. I think this is a bad bill and should be defeated.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, as a gentleman who does not know very much about trust funds I would like to ask you, if I created a trust fund in the interest of my son or daughter of $50,000 and I died and my debts were $35,000, whether those debts would be paid out of that trust fund?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, you could not set up a trust fund very well in defeat of your creditors. You would only have $15,000 left to turn into a trust fund.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman

if that is correct, that you cannot create a trust fund that would save you from paying your honest debts at the time of your death?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, that is right. You cannot do so.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I have proven of course that I am a layman in this argument, but I was informed that such trust funds could be set up and if such trust funds can be set up where the father protects the son even against his own debts, then we certainly should not allow the trustees to spend that man's money foolishly.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, as a layman I also would like some information. Do I understand the gentleman from Cameron to say that if twenty years before a man dies he creates a trust fund for his wife—twenty years before he dies—do I understand the gentleman from Cameron to say that the creditors when the man dies can levy upon that trust fund?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, let us get this thing down to the proper basis. If he creates that in his will to take effect upon his death, no, he cannot maintain that trust fund against his creditors. However, if he sets that trust fund up as what we call an inter vivos trust it sets the fund apart, creates an instrument that he cannot touch himself during his lifetime, then that trust fund is not subject to creditors upon his death.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. That is what I thought it was, and I am glad to hear it from such a distinguished authority.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Tompkins, just one more question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would such a fund be subject to this act that we are now acting upon, that was created twenty years before the man's death?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, under ordinary circumstances no, because the provisions of the trust instrument would define the powers of the fiduciary.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does it necessarily have to define those powers?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, it is not necessary but I have never known of a case where it has not.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise only to answer two statements made by the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins; one to the effect where he sets up the situation of a mortgage.

Under the investment powers of a fiduciary mortgage the investment is based upon a fifty percent valuation of the property at the time of the placing of the mortgage, so that when you start out you start out with a benefit right there, so that if there is a decrease in the value of the property you still have plenty of security and equity in the property to protect that mortgage.

Finally I say this, if it is a gamble—and I call it a gamble to only permit up to one third of the estate being invested in common stock—then I say if you consider it as a gamble why should you be permitted to invest even one percent of the estate?

Mr. CORR. Mr. Speaker, for the sake of the record,

Mr. Schmidt is from Allegheny County and I am also practicing law there.

I want to go on record in favor of this bill. They are making a big fuss about nothing.

Most of the estates that will participate or will be concerned with this bill are under $10,000. Under the present law there is a return of two or three percent, and this will enable those minors and widows to eat for years to come; not to wait, in case the minors may be ten or fifteen years of age, to get a lump sum to buy an automobile. I think it is a good bill and it should pass.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 54, as follows:

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the court of common pleas in the seventh judicial district. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 In addition to the judges provided for in the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 167) entitled "An act to designate the several judicial districts of the Commonwealth as required by the Constitution and to provide for the election and commissioning of judges learned in the law for the said districts" an additional law judge is hereby authorized and provided for the court of common pleas of the seventh judicial district who shall possess the same qualifications which are required by the Constitution and laws for the president judge of the court of common pleas of said district and who shall hold his office for a like term and by the same tenure and shall have the same power authority and jurisdiction and shall be subject to the same duties restrictions and penalties and shall receive the same compensation provided for by law for judges learned in the law as if the same office had been established in the time of and subject to the provisions of the act approved the seventh day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1410) entitled "An act to fix the salaries and compensation of the judges of the Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of Common Pleas the judges of the Orphan's Courts the judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia and the judges of the County Court of Allegheny County and certain associate judges not learned in the law and repealing certain acts inconsistent herewith"

Section 2 At the municipal election in November one thousand nine hundred fifty-three the qualified electors of the said seventh judicial district shall elect in the same manner prescribed by law for the election of the president judge of the court of common pleas of said district a competent person learned in the law to serve as said additional law judge of the court of common pleas of said seventh judicial district from the first Monday in January one thousand nine hundred fifty-four for a term of ten years Vacancies in the office hereby created whether caused by death resignation expiration of term or otherwise shall be filled in the same manner as is required by law in case of a similar vacancy in the office of president judge of said court

Section 3 The Governor is hereby authorized to appoint a competent person learned in the law as such additional law judge of the court of common pleas of the said seventh judicial district to serve until the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-four

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—1

NOT VOTING—1

Whalley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 636, as follows:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" by authorizing investments in common stocks and similar securities of unincorporated associations meeting certain qualifications and eliminating the requirement that stock and similar securities must be listed on an exchange as to the stock and securities of banks and insurance and investment companies

Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 9 Stocks

(a) Preferred and Common Stock Preferred and common stock of any corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any commonwealth or state thereof or of the District of Columbia shall be an authorized investment if

(1) purchase in the exercise of that degree of judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds considering the probable income to be derived therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital

(2) in the case of preferred stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in eight of the preceding ten fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding ten fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during such year [and]

(3) in the case of common stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during said year and in each of at least twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in some amount upon all its common stock if any outstanding during such year and

(4) in the case of any stock other than stock of a bank or insurance company or of an investment company (as hereinafter defined) the stock is listed or traded (or if unlisted or not entitled to trading privileges shall be eligible for listing and application for such listing shall have been made) on the New York Stock Exchange or any other exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking

No investment in common stock shall be made which at that time would cause the market value of the investments in common stocks to exceed one third of the market value of the estate not including in such market value the value of any participation in a common trust fund No sale or other liquidation of any investment shall be required solely because of any change in market values whereby the percentages of stocks hereinabove set forth are exceeded In determining the market value of an estate a fiduciary may rely upon published market quotations as to those investments for which such quotations are available and upon such valuations of other property as in his best judgment seem fair and reasonable according to available information

When a corporation has acquired a substantial part of its property within sixteen years immediately preceding the investment by consolidation or merger or by the purchase of a substantial part of the property of any other corporation or corporations the earnings of the predecessor or constituent corporations shall be consolidated so as to ascertain whether the requirements of this section have been satisfied

"Corporation" as used in this section shall include a voluntary association a joint-stock association or company a business trust a Massachusetts trust a common-law trust and any other organization organized and existing for any lawful purpose and which like a corporation continues to exist notwithstanding changes in the personnel of its members or participants and conducts its affairs through a committee a board or some other group acting in a representative capacity

"Investment Company" as used in this section shall mean a corporation which is registered as an investment company under the Federal Investment Company Act of 1940 as from time to time amended and which has no preferred stock bonds loans or any other outstanding securities having preference or priority as to assets or earnings over its common stock

"Common stock" as used in this section shall include the stock certificates of beneficial interests or trust participation certificates issued by any corporation or unincorporated association included under the definition of "corporation" in the preceding paragraph

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the House in its wisdom having passed Senate Bill 11, by the miraculous margin of one, can hardly logically reject Senate Bill 636. I realize that a margin of one, though not as wide as a barn door or as deep as a well, nevertheless for the purposes at hand will do.

My understanding is that under Senate Bill 11 the trustees of a trust, maybe three of them, or I do not know how many, would pick out some common stocks. You would have the judgment of whoever the trustees happen to be; but they most certainly would not be men who made investment a business.

The bill we have to do with opens the door to investment trusts. Now there are investment trusts and investment trusts. To meet objections this bill has been drastically amended The amendments have been a great improvement. They have narrowed the range of investment trusts in which trust funds could be invested.

My understanding is that the restrictions in the bill are so binding, so conclusive that only about a dozen investment trusts would qualify under the bill I submit to the Members of the House that if the trustees of a trust fund can invest in one common stock and have one common stock carry the risk, that it is a safer procedure to invest in a portfolio of common stocks that has been as carefully selected as the one common stock could possibly be. Therefore, since we have passed Senate Bill 11, I cannot see any logical ground upon which we could reject Senate Bill 636.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I heartily concur in the remarks made by the Minority Leader. As you know, I did oppose Senate Bill 11 but I feel that inasmuch as the House has seen fit to pass that bill, then on the same theory Senate Bill 636 should receive the approval of this House. I, therefore, ask those who opposed Senate Bill 11 to go along with us on Senate Bill 636.

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, I also concur with the remarks of the Majority Leader, Mr. Andrews, and although I opposed the preceding bill, Senate Bill 11, for the reasons stated by me at the time, by the extraordinary vote of the House, it has passed; I think we should, therefore, vote in favor of Senate 636.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I noticed the date on House Bill No. 1085 is listed as July 30, 1951. Is that a correct date, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will examine the record. The Chair is informed that House Bill 1085, Printer's No. 666, was placed on the postponed calendar July 30th.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, would not the time limit for its being on the calendar have elapsed by now?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, not a sufficient number of legislative days have elapsed to disqualify the bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. I thank the Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, the measure that is before this House we considered sometime ago and it was defeated by a decisive majority. The bill was then resurrected and comes before us for action again.

I am not going to take the time of the House to debate at length upon this matter. I wish to advise the membership of this House that we are now voting upon placing under local option the matter of taking away from dry areas their distributors and state liquor stores.

The membership of the House was at that time well versed on the merits of the bill. I am asking the Members to sustain their original position, inasmuch as nothing has happened in the interim to warrant acceptance of the features incorporated within the bill. I request those who voted against this measure at a prior time to vote against it this evening.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call to the attention of the gentleman that at the time the previous vote was taken there were many Members missing from the House.

The bill at hand is House Bill 1085, Printer's No. 666. It is one of the package of so-called liquor bills. The bill changes the present law in just two respects. At the present time a community may vote on whether or not it wishes to retain a liquor license or whether or not it wishes to retain a dispenser or beverage license.

House Bill 1085 would give those same people in a community an opportunity to vote on the question of whether or not they wish to remove a state liquor store and whether or not they wish to remove a distributor's license.

The bill is drawn very clearly. It is very simple; there can be no confusion when the voters vote upon the question. At the time they vote they may vote upon one question, they may vote upon two, three or four. If that question is defeated, it may not be again brought up for four years. If the vote should be a tie vote, the status quo of the licensee or the state liquor store will remain as it was prior to the vote.

As I recall, a great number of gentlemen on the other side of the House have always stressed home rule. I believe this bill is very clearly, very plainly, very simply a matter of home rule. I request all the Members of the House to vote in support of this bill.

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, in regards to the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Ziegler, I wish to make this brief statement.

I think perhaps everything he said was true, but on the other hand, if what he mentions is true, I think there should be a vote of the area, not just of the community.

I live in a small community. We in that community may vote out a liquor store or a distributor, and we deny the people of the area the privilege and the right to buy the legal beverages that are sold in the state of Pennsylvania. This I cannot subscribe or agree to. Why should we in the small community in which I live deny the privilege, the right of the people of the area to do the things that our Constitution provides for?

For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to this bill in every sense of the word, because I feel that we will not give the people of the area the chance to vote on whether or not they would subscribe to this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if this bill also contained a provision for a local vote on the question of whether or not the people in that community may or may not drink liquor or beer, I think this bill would have some sense. But I fail to see any sense in outlawing a liquor store or a beer distributor system in a community when all the people who desire to buy beer or liquor need do is to cross a township or a borough or a city line, buy it there and bring it back home.

I agree that if people in a community find tap rooms or restaurants which have liquor licenses offensive to their taste they should be entitled to vote to eliminate them. But for the life of me I do not see what we are going to accomplish by this, even if we make it the law of Pennsylvania.

I live in the city of Reading, and we are surrounded by boroughs. If the city of Reading should by any chance vote in favor of eliminating the liquor stores, the beer distributors, in five minutes anybody who wanted to could cross into West Reading or Shillington or some other borough and buy what he wanted and bring it back home.

Home rule is a fine principle, but we should remember that the people back home should not be given silly things to vote upon. If we think they are stupid and silly we should not say to them, home rule says that you may vote on this. I think it is our obligation here to pass sensible legislation and if we want to eliminate beer and liquor from the state of Pennsylvania let us do it on a state wide basis, as other states have done in the past, but not on a community basis.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I object to this bill also on several grounds.

First of all I believe that the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board is a state monopoly, and properly so. As such in locating their liquor stores I presume they have taken into consideration the population centers, and as a result they have established stores in communities where they would be available to the most people in the general neighborhood. Not every township, not every borough has a state store, and while the people of one little community may not want that state store, it may be surrounded by a dozen communities who do want the services of that state store, who otherwise might be forced to drive fifty miles to the nearest state store. That I think would be an injustice to the people in the community surrounding the one in which the state store is located.

Then in addition to that, when this bill was up on the last occasion, I called attention to this fact also, that there are many communities in which we have a beer distributor, communities which are you might say border line communities, having perhaps only one distributor. It is possible now since the quota law has been passed for existing distributors to gang up in areas which are almost dry, and by lending financial assistance to the dries to drive out of business the legitimate distributor in that community. You would have an alliance between the dries and the distributor to the detriment of some small fellow trying to carry on a successful business.

For these two reasons I believe this is bad legislation and I intend to vote against it.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the gentlemen on the other side of the House blow hot and cold on the question.

I do not recall of any legislation having been introduced to repeal the question of whether or not they will vote on liquor license, whether or not they may vote on a beverage license. That is still the law, so that all this bill does is to add two additional elements, or permitting two additional questions to be placed on the ballot: whether or not the stores may be ousted and whether or not the distributor may be ousted.

I also think they lose sight of the primary fact that only by reason of the vote of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do we have liquor at all. So if the industry is brought in here solely by reason of the people, I think they have every right to regulate the industry.

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, we have a liquor store in our own community at home and we also have a highway garage. I wonder why, according to the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Ziegler, that somebody hasn't introduced legislation to outlaw that. We have a number of people that are heartily in favor of the way the program is being conducted. After all the state maintains these items in their own community which are very beneficial and helpful to the area. Let us keep them both.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion this is legislation which the people thought they had back in 1934 under local option.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Schmidt, Sarraf and Mihm.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Section 3 Article VII of said act is hereby further amended by adding at the end thereof a new subdivision to read as follows

(g) Municipality Authorities

Section 790 Grants Conveyances Appropriations to Contracts with and Leases from Municipality Authorities Whenever the board of any municipality authority shall have undertaken a school project or projects for use by a school district individually or for use by two or more school districts jointly such school district or school districts shall have the power upon written approval of the Department of Public Instruction

(1) To sell lease lend grant or convey to such municipality authority individually or jointly with or without consideration any lands easements or rights in lands which may be deemed necessary for the project together with any buildings structures or improvements thereon erected as well as furnishings and equipment used or useful in connection therewith

(2) To purchase or otherwise acquire additional lands or interests in lands which may be deemed necessary for the project and to finance such acquisition by the issue

ance and sale of general obligation bonds according to law

(3) To transfer assign and set over to such municipality authority any contract which may have been awarded for such project or projects

(4) To make appropriations to such municipality authority out of its or their general funds or out of any other available funds including proceeds of insurance on school property the proceeds of bonds of the school district or districts issued for building purposes and not so used and moneys set aside or otherwise available for building purposes Any such funds which represent the proceeds of any general obligation bonds heretofore or hereafter issued by the school district shall be used by such municipality authority for or towards the purpose or purposes for which such bonds were issued and in the event that any such bonds were issued pursuant to a vote of the electors any appropriation of such proceeds as above set forth shall not be deemed such a change of purpose from that for which such bonds were authorized as shall require the question to be again submitted to a vote of the electors under any existing law

(5) To lease individually or jointly from such municipality authority such school project or projects for a term not exceeding forty (40) years at such rental or rentals payable out of current revenues and upon such terms and conditions as may be authorized by the board of such municipality authority and the board or boards of school directors of such school district or school districts and in case of joint leases to agree upon the manner of sharing as between the school districts the rental or rentals and any other sums payable to the municipality authority and the casts and expenses of insuring operating maintaining and repairing the school property leased

(6) To make all other contracts or agreements with such municipality authority or with other school districts as may be deemed necessary or convenient in connection with the project

Section 4 Section two thousand five hundred eleven point one of said act as added by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1879) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2511.1 Payments on Account of Obligations to State Public School Building Authority and on Account of Rentals Payable to Municipality Authorities and Non-profit Corporations (A) The Commonwealth shall pay annually to each school [districts] district erecting or sharing in the erection of a building or buildings or providing educational [facilities] equipment under the provisions of the State Public School Building Authority Act an amount to be determined (1) by multiplying the school district's standard reimbursement fraction by fifty one-hundredths (50-100) and by the annual rental charge as fixed by the State Public School Building Authority or (2) if the district's standard reimbursement fraction is greater than five thousand nine hundred ninety-nine ten-thousandths (.5999) by multiplying the standard reimbursement fraction by itself and by the annual rental charge fixed by the State Public Building Authority.

(b) The Commonwealth shall also pay commencing with the school year one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two (1951-1952) and annually in each school year thereafter to each school district which shall have entered into an approved lease with a municipality authority or with a non-profit corporation for the rental of a school building or buildings or providing education equipment an amount to be determined (1) by multiplying the school district's standard reimbursement fraction by fifty one-thousandths (50-100) and by the rental or share thereof paid by the school district during the prior school year under its leave with such municipality authority or non-profit corporation or (2) if the district's standard reimbursement fraction is greater than five thousand nine hundred ninety-nine ten thousandths (.5999) by multiplying the standard reimbursement fraction by itself and by the annual rental or share thereof paid by the school district during the prior school year under its lease with such municipality authority or non-profit corporation no payment shall be made to any school district on account of any lease entered into with any municipality authority or nonprofit corporation unless such lease is approved by the Department of Public Instruction. The Department of Public Instruction shall give its approval if it shall find that the leased project is in conformance with general county and State plans for an orderly development of improved attendance areas and administrative units and for the improved housing of public schools in the Commonwealth that the school building will conform with standards and regulations prescribed by the Department with respect to educational design location usefulness for community activities safety comfort and convenience and that the school district or school districts to which the project is to be leased will have the ability to meet from current revenues the rental or their respective shares of rental to be paid to the municipality authority or non-profit corporation under the proposed lease and to defray the cost of their respective shares of the cost of operation and maintenance of the project.

(c) The standard reimbursement fraction used for the above purposes shall be the actual fraction as determined by the Department of Public Instruction as provided in clause (6) of section two thousand five hundred one of the act to which this is an amendment without reference to the minimum value of such reimbursement fraction.

Payments to a school district shall be determined and approved by the Department of Public Instruction. The amount so approved shall be included in and be payable from any future appropriations made to the Department of Public Instruction [during the term that a lease exists between the school district and the Authority or so long as such school district is indebted to the Authority under said lease].

Section 5 The sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($750,000) or as much thereof as shall be necessary is hereby appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one for the purpose of making payments to school districts on account of obligations to the State Public School Building Authority and on account of rentals payable to municipality authorities and non-profit corporations. The appropriation made hereby shall be in addition to any other sums appropriated or made available for said purposes during said period.

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—1

Whalley.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1006, entitled:

An Act fixing the minimum salaries for tipstaves in the courts of record in counties of the fourth class

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate either Mr. Dowling or Mr. Ziegler, sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Dowling permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DOWLING. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, for my own information I would like to know whether under the present law tipstaves can be hired on the monthly basis and paid a monthly salary.

Mr. DOWLING. Mr. Speaker, in Dauphin County they are hired on a daily basis. I do not know whether they can be hired on a monthly basis.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know whether it is possible to hire them on a monthly basis under the existing law?

Mr. DOWLING. Mr. Speaker, I do not.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, and I do not know either, but in Cambria County they do hire them and pay them by the month. Now, then, if they were on a monthly salary and we pass this seven dollar minimum per day how would you arrive at the number of days? Would you have to pay seven dollars for each working day of that month or for each day that the individual appeared in the court or how would that be governed?

Mr. DOWLING. Mr. Speaker, in Dauphin County there are four terms of common pleas court a year lasting, at least, approximately one week for each term, and four terms of criminal court lasting approximately one week. I am informed that the tipstaves work approximately forty days a year in Dauphin County. They are paid approximately $3.65 a day now and for that reason we have put in this bill to increase the pay to seven dollars a day because these men cannot pay their transportation costs and meals and receive any compensation at all for their work.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I do not object to the seven dollar minimum. The only question that arises in my mind is whether or not we are going to decrease those in Cambria County.

In Cambria County the tipstaves not only work during the days of court as has been mentioned by Mr. Dowling, but they also work during the equity courts and different hearings such as non-support and desertion cases and we find our tipstaves there every day. So much so that our County Commissioners and salary board has seen fit to put them on a monthly salary. I do not want to be opposed to this bill setting a seven dollar minimum but at the same time I do not want our county put in a position where they have to pay seven dollars a day for every day in the month rather than have them on a monthly salary and I would ask if it is agreeable to the sponsors to have this bill passed over until we can determine for certain what the effect would be on a county which is hiring them by the month rather than by the day.

Mr. DOWLING. Mr. Speaker, I think the question raised by the gentleman from Cambria County is a perfectly fair question and I am perfectly agreeable, with my co-sponsor's permission, to pass this bill over and try to get that information for Mr. Lopresti at the earliest possible time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair withdraws its decision as to the bill having been agreed to on third reading.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1006, Printer's No. 841
was passed over at the request of Mr. DOWLING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1170, as follows:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of Section 1201 of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" by authorizing the bringing of informations for violations of the summary provisions of this act occurring on a highway dividing two political subdivisions before the nearest available magistrate in either one of them

Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 1201 of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P L 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titlinf including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" as last amended by the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P L 1412) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1201 Limitations of Actions

(a) Informations charging violations of any of the summary provisions of this act shall be brought before the nearest available magistrate within the city borough incorporated town or township where the alleged violation occurred or where the alleged violation occurred on a highway which divides two of said political subdivisions the information may be brought before the nearest available magistrate in either one of them Provided however That there is no substantial difference between the respective distances from the place where the alleged violation occurred to the offices of more than one magistrate any such prosecution may be brought before any one of such magistrates or if there is no person holding the office of magistrate in such city borough incorporated town or township then such information shall be brought before such nearest available magistrate in any adjoining city borough incorporated town or township within fifteen (15) days after the commission of the alleged offense and not thereafter except that where an information is filed against a person prima facie guilty of a summary offense and it subsequently appears that a person other than the person named in the information was the offender an information may be filed against such other person within fifteen (15) days after his or her identity shall have been discovered and excepting further that informations charging violations of the provisions of sections 205 207 210 212 406.1 511 610.1 (j) and 813 of this act may be brought within fifteen (15) days after it is discovered that a violation of any of these sections has been committed

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Whalley.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for conference.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1329, as follows:

An Act to further amend section 78 of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P L 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" by changing the law as to who may attend the annual meetings of the state association of controllers

Section 1 Section 78 of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P L 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" as amended by the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P L 1465) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 78 Expenses of Members Length of Meetings Expenses Each controller [or] deputy controller and the solicitor to the controller may attend the annual meeting and shall be allowed his expenses actually and necessarily incurred in going to attending and returning from the annual meeting of the association but not exceeding twelve dollars per day together with eight cents per mile in going to and returning from such meeting. The time spent in attending the meeting exclusive of the time employed in traveling shall not exceed three days. These expenses shall be paid by the respective counties. The expenses of the annual meeting of the association including printing committee expenses and stenographers shall be paid by the counties having controllers but shall not exceed sixty dollars per annum for each county in addition to the traveling expenses hereinbefore provided for.

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Whalley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1500, as follows:

An Act to repeal Section 1 of the act approved the first day of May A D one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P L 155) entitled "An act regulating the letting of certain contracts for the erection construction and alteration of public buildings" as to State Authorities.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 The act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P L 155) entitled "An act regulating the letting of certain contracts for the erection construction and alteration of public buildings" is hereby repealed insofar as it applies to the erection construction and alteration of buildings by any State Authority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I will have to vote against this bill. Unless I can get additional information, I will ask to have it held over.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are we now on page 22, House Bill No. 1500?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland what additional information he would desire, perhaps we can furnish him the information?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, at a session of the Democratic caucus it was stated that a certain organization in the state, namely the A F L, was opposed to the bill and that the gentleman at the head of the organization was to see some people relative to the bill for the position to be taken upon it.

Now I would like to vote for the bill if possible, but I would also like to get the reasons, the available reasons as to why the organization is against it before I vote in favor of it or against it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman to whom the Member from Westmoreland refers consulted the head of the contractors' organization and the contractors reiterated their opposition to this bill.

The reason for this bill is this; and incidentally, the Majority Leader should be the one to inform the House concerning the need for it, but since he is asleep, I will do it.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would yield to the gentleman, because I can see that we are going to pass this bill with his eloquence today.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, my previous attempts to support bills have been more nearly a kiss of death than they have been an evidence of triumph.

Mr. Speaker, at the present time, under the decision of the court, the General State Authority in awarding contracts is governed by an Act of 1913 which provides that any contract of a thousand dollars or more must be awarded on the basis of separate bids.

The Authority finds itself in this position, and this is an actual incident. The general construction contract is $400,000. There is a plumbing job of one thousand dollars to be done. No major contractor will bid on a thousand dollar job. He is too busy. He does not want it. Anybody that bids on a job of that kind bids high, and so on that kind of job, because the General State Authority has had to ask for separate bids, we have spent a great deal of money unnecessarily.

Under the law, the Department of Property and Supplies can ask for a general bid or it can ask for a separate bid and then it can take either the general bid or two separate bids. As a matter of practice, the Department of Property and Supplies asks for the two bids but as a rule it deals in large contracts. The Department of Property and Supplies, under the law, award a whole job on the basis of a single bid.

The General State Authority can not do that if there is a little minor job somewhere, and there are a number of those jobs at the present time to be cleaned up. They must ask for a general bid on the construction, a separate bid on plumbing or revamping of a heating system and all we want to do is save a little money ultimately for the taxpayers. I cannot see any reason why, since most of our money is spent, we cannot award any more major contracts. This bill is of no personal significance to me. The General State Authority board, and the School Authority asked that this act be introduced and passed.

The contractors are standing to the letter of the law. They are afraid if they open the door that they may be creating a bad precedent. First of all they are opening the door only to the General State Authority and they are opening the door to an Authority that has spent its large money so no Pennsylvania contractor will lose any large job by enactment of this measure.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, originally I merely asked that the bill be held over until I procured additional information from a source that I want to procure it from.

The information that the gentleman has just expressed on the floor I had already had from prior discussions on this bill earlier in the Democratic Caucus.

However, after the money is all gone and they have wasted all the money in the Authority, we present a bill after the money has been wasted and spent in such a manner as the gentleman stated, I do not see why we have need for such a bill. However, I am going to voice my protest vote on this measure inasmuch as I cannot have additional time to procure the information from the source from which I had wanted to procure the same.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would not say that the General State Authority has been wasting its money. We have been dealing in large contracts up to this time and because they were large contracts it was in the interest of the General State Authority to ask for separate bids.

We are now in the process of cleaning up and it is the small bids that are of concern. I have no objection, if the Majority Leader so desires, to hold this bill over until the gentleman from Westmoreland has conducted his investigation. Or, I am perfectly willing that this bill be submitted for a vote now. It is a matter of small significance to me. I am simply acting as the agent for the board of the General State Authority.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I certainly feel that the Minority Leader has expressed what this bill will do, and I would suggest to Mr. Petrosky that as long as this bill applies only to the General State Authority, I do not believe there is any other information he can get. I believe he has all the information at hand and if would withdraw his request to hold the bill over, I would appreciate with the Minority Leader, a roll call vote.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 5 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to support House Bill 1628, and wish to point out that we finally have before us a measure which will give colored oleomargarine to the housewives. After a courageous and valiant fight by many members of the Republican party and the entirety of the Democratic membership of this House, we have finally accomplished a purpose, and now have before us the measure upon which to vote in public.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, it is with pleasure that I rise at this time to voice my approval of House Bill 1628. This is the first time in my three times as a Member of this House that I have had a chance to vote to remove these unfair restrictions against oleomargarine. I hope and pray that every Member of this House votes as I am going to vote,—vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

----------	----------

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,
Senate Bill No. 211, Printer's No. 246, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 303, as follows:

An Act relating to the apportionment of estate taxes and providing procedure for enforcement of contribution or exoneration

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Definitions The following words when used in this act unless the context clearly indicates otherwise shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section

(1) "Person" includes a corporation partnership and association as well as a natural person whether acting in a separate or in a fiduciary capacity

(2) "Estate Tax" means gross Federal estate tax including interest and penalty thereon

(3) "Persons interested in property includible in gross estate" includes persons liable for payment of estate tax and persons whose property is subject to a lien for the estate tax It includes personal representatives guardians and trustees individual or corporate

(4) "Gross Estate" means all property of every description required to be included in computing the estate tax

(5) "Fiduciary" includes executors administrators of any description and trustees

Section 2 Equitable Apportionment Estate tax except as provided in subsection (a) of section three shall be apportioned equitably as near as may be in accordance with the principles hereinafter stated among all persons interested in property includible in gross estate whether resident or nonresident of the Commonwealth and they shall pay the amounts apportioned against them

Section 3 General Rules

(a) Powers of Testator or Settlor A testator settlor or possessor of any appropriate power of appointment may direct how the estate tax shall be apportioned or allocated or grant a discretionary power to another so to direct Any such direction shall take precedence over the provisions of this act in so far as the direction provides for the payment of the estate tax or any part thereof from property the disposition of which can be controlled by the instrument containing the direction or delegating the power to another

(b) Present and Remainder Interests When estate tax shall be apportioned in a situation involving both a present and future interest the amount apportioned including interest and penalties shall be paid entirely from principal even though the holder of the present interest also has rights in the principal

(c) Separate Apportionment of Interest and Penalties Special Circumstances When the orphans' court shall find that it is inequitable to apportion interest and penalties in the same manner as the principal of the estate tax by reason of special circumstances it may direct apportionment of interest and penalties in a manner different from principal

Section 4 Method of Apportionment

(a) Basis of Apportionment Apportionment of the estate tax except as provided in section three shall be made among the persons interested in property includible in gross estate in the proportion that the value of the interest of each such person bears to the value of the net estate before exemption The values used in determining the amount of tax liability shall be used for this purpose

(b) Treatment of Deductions and Credits The following principles shall apply with respect to deductions and credits allowable (1) Deductions allowed by Federal revenue laws in determining the value of decedent's net estate Any interest for which deduction is allowable under Federal revenue laws in determining the value of decedent's net estate such as property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse and charitable public or similar gifts or bequests to the extent of the allowed deduction shall not be included in the computation provided in subsection (a) of section four hereof and to that extent no apportionment shall be made against such interest except that when such an interest is subject to a prior present interest which is not allowable as a deduction the estate tax apportionable against the present interest shall be paid from principal

(2) Property Previously Taxed and Gift Tax Any deduction for property previously taxed and any credit for gift taxes or taxes of a foreign country paid by the decedent or his estate shall inure to the proportionate benefit of all persons liable to apportionment

(3) Credit for State Taxes Any credit for inheritance succession or estate taxes or taxes in the nature thereof in respect to property or interests includible in the gross estate shall inure to the benefit of the persons or interests chargeable with the payment of such taxes to the extent or in proportion that the tax paid or payable reduces the estate tax

(4) Inheritance or Death Tax Effect To the extent that property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse or any charitable public or similar gift or bequest does not constitute an allowable deduction solely by reason of an inheritance tax or other death tax imposed upon and deductible from such property it shall not be included in the computation provided for in subsection (a) of section four hereof and to that extent no apportionment shall be made against such property

Section 5 Enforcement of Contribution or Exoneration

(a) Fiduciary's Duty The fiduciary charged with the duty to pay the tax shall be entitled and it shall be his duty to recover from persons liable to apportionment or from whoever is in possession of property includible in the gross estate not in the fiduciary's possession the amounts of tax apportionable thereto

(b) Suspending Distribution Distribution of property includible in the gross estate to any person other than a fiduciary charged with the duty to pay the tax shall not be required of any fiduciary until the tax apportionable with respect thereto is paid or if the tax has not been determined and apportionment made until adequate security for such payment is furnished to the person making such distribution

(c) Court Decrees The orphans' court upon petition or at an accounting or in any appropriate action or proceeding shall make such decrees or orders as it shall deem advisable apportioning the tax It may also direct a fiduciary to collect the apportioned amounts from the property or interest in his possession of any persons against whom such apportionment has been made and direct all other persons against whom the tax has been or may be apportioned or from whom any part of the tax may be recovered to make payment of such apportioned amounts to the fiduciary When it is ascertained that the fiduciary holds property of the person liable to apportionment insufficient to satisfy the apportioned tax the court may direct that the balance of the apportioned amount of tax shall be paid to the fiduciary by the person liable. Should an overpayment of the tax be made by any person or on his behalf the court may direct an appropriate reimbursement for the overpayment. If the fiduciary cannot recover the tax apportioned against a person benefited such an unrecovered amount shall be charged in such manner as the orphans' court may determine.

Section 6 Severability If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid the remainder of this act and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby and to this end the provisions of this act are declared to be severable.

Section 7 Short Title This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Estate Tax Apportionment Act of 1951".

Section 8 Repeals Sections forty-eight point one of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447) entitled as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors and of trust estates including the appointment bonds rights powers duties liabilities accounts discharge and removal of executors administrators guardians and trustees herein designated as fiduciaries the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents widow's and children's exemptions debts of decedents rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof the lien thereof sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate legacies including legacies charged on land the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges the appraisal of real estate devised at a valuation the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised the abatement and survival of actions and the substitution of executors and administrators therein the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries investments by fiduciaries the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries refunding bonds transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries the rights powers and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries the appointment bonds rights powers duties and liabilities of trustees durante absentia the recording and registration of decrees reports and other proceedings and the fees therefor appeals in certain cases and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction powers and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estate of decedents" as added by the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2762) is hereby repealed.

Subsection four of Section eleven of the act approved the third day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1283) entitled "An act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the appointment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen" is hereby repealed in so far as it is inconsistent with the provisions of this act.

All other acts and parts of acts are hereby repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this act.

Section 9 Effective Date The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall apply to the apportionment of estate taxes with respect to any estate for which the original Federal estate tax return is filed thereafter regardless of when the decedent died.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Whalley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 365, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations; defining and providing for the organization, merger, consolidation, reorganization, winding up and dissolution of such corporation; conferring certain rights, powers, duties, and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act; prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted, or may continue, to do business within the Commonwealth; conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain State departments, boards, commissions, or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations," by permitting the Department of State to copy and destroy or return certain documents; permitting directors to fill vacancies in the board of directors resulting from an increase in the number of directors; deleting certain requirements as to the appointment, compensation and duties of agents; providing that meetings of shareholders at which directors are to be elected may be adjourned for periods of fifteen days each; fixing the method of cumulative voting in cases where directors are elected separately by the holders of different classes of shares; providing that courts having jurisdiction over trustees who are evenly divided as to how shares shall be voted may direct the voting of such shares; deleting requirements as to the voting of shares of foreign corporations owned by other corporations; providing that articles of incorporation may be amended to eliminate the preemptive rights of shareholders, and providing for the purchase of and payment for shares of any shareholders who dissent therefrom; specifying cases of merger or consolidation of which sixty days' notice to shareholders must be given; providing that shareholders of a parent corporation shall have no right to dissent from a merger or consolidation of such parent and one or more wholly-owned subsidiaries thereof, provided the state of incorporation and relative rights and preferences of the shareholders of the parent corporation are not changed thereby further providing for advertising of merger or consolidation by domestic corporations for merger and consolidation of foreign business corporations defining "doing business" by foreign corporations and further providing for service of process on the Secretary of the Commonwealth with respect to such corporations and prescribing procedure for rescinding a certificate of election to dissolve.

On the question,

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. STIMMEL offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. ROBERSON offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. NAJAKA offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 13, 1951.

Whereas, The Honorable Harry W. Price, Jr., of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, and his twin sister, Mrs. Nan Price McCordell of Hollywood, California were born on the twelfth day of August 1903, two of nine children born to Mr. Harry W. Price, Sr., and the late Nan K. Price, and

Whereas, The Honorable Harry W. Price, Jr., better known as "Had", has long distinguished himself through many activities which have stamped him as a fine citizen and true leader in his community; and

Whereas, Mr. Price's educational background consisted of graduation from the Lewistown High School in company with his twin sister, and attendance at Silver Bay Association School, and Penn State and Albright Colleges; and

Whereas, Mr. Price's varied activities have included election to two terms in the Lewistown Borough Council from which he resigned to enlist in the United States Navy, with which he saw considerable action in the Pacific Theatre of Operations as a member of the 302nd Seabee Amphibious Pontoon Battalion during World War II, and

Whereas, Mr. Price in addition to his legislative endeavors as a member of this House of Representatives since his first election thereto in 1946, and his work as a Personnel Supervisor with the American Viscose Corporation, has found time to participate actively in many fraternal activities, being at present a member of fifty-four lodges, clubs, veterans' organizations and associations, as well as being an interested and active volunteer fireman, and a Past President of the Central District Volunteer Fireman's Association of Pennsylvania, consisting of fifteen counties; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby extend its felicitations to the Honorable Harry W. Price, Jr., and to his twin sister Mrs. Nan Price McCordell on their recent birthday anniversary, and wish them many happy returns of the said anniversary, and a long continuance of their happy useful lives in which they have both done much to add joy to existence of their fellows; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Honorable Harry W. Price, Jr., of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Nan Price McCordell of Hollywood, California.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Price.

Mr. HARRY W. PRICE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of my better half and myself, I wish to thank the Members of the House of this resolution.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. TOLL, KOLANKIEWICZ, TAYLOR, BYRNE, LEVEN and LEDERER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 13, 1951.

This day is important as the day on which a friend of the laboring man was born in 1898 in the City of Philadelphia. He represents the Twenty-fourth District of Philadelphia County. He is a trustee of the Philadelphia CIO Council, Financial Secretary of District Council No. 1, I.U.E.R.M.W., Treasurer of the Battery Workers' Union, Local No. 113 for fifteen years.

His interest in the cause of the laboring man and the man in the street caused his community to elect him to the House of Representatives.

In the House, his devotion to the rights of mankind continued unabated. He is a real, sincere and honest Legislator. His industry and activity for the general welfare of the community is hard to match and he is a model of the type of Legislator this Commonwealth needs, therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives salute John J. Welsh on his fifty-third birthday, and be it further

Resolved, That this House is sincerely hopeful that his noble service to the community shall continue for many years to come and that he will receive the recognition which he so richly deserves.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Welsh.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the Members of the House for adopting this resolution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a very brief statement concerning a bill which I am about to introduce.

I have been informed by competent legal authority that by making a few simple amendments to the fiscal code, it is quite possible to empower the Governor or the Legislature to request the Budget Office to prepare an annual budget; to prepare the annual budget in the usual manner. Suggestions could come from either the Governor or from the Legislature.

Of course, it will be necessary in the case of an annual budget to frame the budget for the second year of the biennium by calling a special session. There are no barriers in the Constitution. The amendments are very simple and I rather imagine by the way things are drifting that this sort of bill might be a very happy thing to have in the locker as a means of exit from a situation that is growing constantly more and more complicated. I ask the privilege to introduce this bill.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

CONGRATULATING THE WINNER OF THE SOAP BOX DERBY

Mr. SNOWDEN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, August 14, 1951.

To turn aside from the gloom of the world, to forget temporarily the futility of cease-fire negotiations, even to ignore for a moment the tedium of the longest legislative session and the tension of the American League race and to luxuriate instead in the nostalgia and the sheer joy of a soap box derby must come as a cool, soothing caress to the harassed and frustrated and dejected law makers on the Hill.

For it is truly an occasion for unrestrained jubilation and dancing in the streets when a Pennsylvania boy from Danville rides to triumph and acclaim in the All-American derby held at Akron, Ohio.

On Sunday, August 12, Darwin Cooper piloted his car through a field of talented contenders to a brilliant victory, winning plaudits and prizes for himself and bringing distinction and glory to Pennsylvania. Young Darwin at the age of fifteen has demonstrated unusual skill and courage under highly competitive conditions which augur well for the even more substantial rewards that will come to him in the greater trial of life; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate acknowledge gratefully the victory of skill and intrepidity recently achieved by Darwin Cooper at the Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio and proudly accept the recognition and the prominence that have come to Pennsylvania because of the outstanding exploit of one of her sons; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Darwin Cooper, to the Williamsport Sun, and to the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin—the sponsors of Darwin's successful entry in the contest.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 813, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" by further regulating the preparation of the budget and fiscal affairs of counties

Section 1 Section 346 of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" as amended by the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1184) is hereby repealed

Section 2 Section 370 of said act as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 661) and the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1703) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 370 Annual Budget Control of Expenditures [The controller or the county commissioners where there is no controller shall annually prepare a proposed budget for all funds for the next fiscal year at least thirty days prior to the adoption of the budget] The fiscal year of each county shall begin on the first day of January The budget for each succeeding fiscal year shall be finally passed by the county commissioners on or before the thirty-first day of December preceding the new fiscal year

The commissioners shall at their first meeting in October in each year begin the preparation of the proposed budget for the succeeding fiscal year The controller shall transmit to the commissioners at their first meeting in October a comparative statement of revenues for the current and the immediately preceding fiscal year and a comparative statement of expenditures including interest due and to fall due on all lawful interest bearing debts of the county for the same years giving estimates for the balance of the current year. The controller's statement shall also indicate the amounts of all appropriation requests submitted to the controller or to the commissioners and supplied by them to the controller from the several county offices and agencies including estimates of expenditures contemplated by the commissioners as forwarded by them to the controller. The said statements in such form and detail as the commissioners direct shall be prepared upon a form or forms furnished as provided in Section 370.1 by the Department of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth. With this information as a guide the commissioners shall promptly begin the preparation of a proposed budget for the succeeding fiscal year. In counties not having a controller the commissioners shall prepare the statements hereinbefore required. In counties having a controller the controller shall in addition to preparing the said statements advise with and assist the commissioners in preparing the proposed budget to whatever extent shall seem necessary or convenient. Said budget shall reflect as nearly as possible the estimated revenues and expenditures of the county for the year for which the budget is prepared. It shall be unlawful to prepare and advertise notice of a proposed budget when the same is knowingly inaccurate. Where upon any revision of the budget it appears that the estimated expenditures in the adopted budget will be increased more than ten per cent in the aggregate or more than twenty-five percent in any individual item over the proposed budget it shall be presumed that the tentative budget was inaccurate and such budget may not be legally adopted with any such increases therein unless the same is again advertised once as in the case of the proposed budget and an opportunity afforded to taxpayers to examine the same and protest such increases. This provision shall not be construed to authorize adoption of the budget if revised after the thirty-first day of December. Said budget shall be prepared not later than the tenth day of December on forms furnished as provided in section three hundred seventy point one of this act. Final action shall not be taken on the proposed budget by the county commissioners until after at least ten days public notice. The proposed budget shall be published or otherwise made available for public inspection by all persons who may interest themselves at least twenty days prior to the date set for the adoption of the budget. The county commissioners shall after making such revisions and changes therein as appear advisable adopt the budget and necessary appropriation measures required to put it into effect and shall fix such rate of taxation upon the valuation of the property taxable for county purposes as will together with all other estimated revenues of the county raise a sufficient sum to meet the expenditures.

Within fifteen days after the adoption of the budget the county commissioners shall file a copy of the same in the office of the Department of Internal Affairs.

The county commissioners may at any time by resolution make supplemental appropriations for any lawful purpose from any funds on hand or estimated to be received within the fiscal year and not otherwise appropriated including the proceeds of any borrowing now or hereafter authorized by law.

The county commissioners shall have power to authorize the transfer [within the same fund] of any unencumbered balance or any portion thereof [from one spending agency to another but such action shall be taken only during the last nine months of the fiscal year]. During the last fifteen days of any fiscal year the county commissioners shall have the power to authorize the transfer of any unencumbered balance or any portion thereof from any county fund to any fund of the institution district and to reappropriate such moneys to the institution district.

No work shall be hired to be done no materials purchased no contracts made and no order issued for the payment of any moneys by the county commissioners which will cause the sums appropriated to be exceeded.

During the month of January next following any municipal election the county commissioners may amend the budget and the appropriations and tax rate to conform with the amended budget. A period of ten days public notice of the proposed amendments as provided for notice of the proposed budget shall intervene between the proposal to amend and the adoption of any such amended budget. Any amended budget must be finally passed by the commissioners during the month of January and any purported amendment of the budget in any subsequent month shall be void and of no effect.

No proposed amendments to the budget shall after publication thereof be revised upward in excess of ten per centum in the aggregate thereof or as to an individual item in excess of twenty-five per centum of the amount of such individual item in the proposed amendment. Within fifteen days after the adoption of an amended budget the commissioners shall file a copy thereof in the office of the Department of Internal Affairs.

Section 3 Section 370.1 of said act as added by the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1184) is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 370.1 Committee to Prepare Uniform Forms. The budget and report forms specified in foregoing sections of this act shall be prepared by a committee consisting of three representatives from the Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners, three representatives from the Pennsylvania State Association of County Controllers, one member of the Senate and one member of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly who shall be members of the Local Government Commission designated by the chairman of said Commission and the Secretary of Internal Affairs or his agent who shall be a person trained in the field of municipal finance.

Such representatives shall be appointed by the president of each said organization [within sixty days after the effective date of this act]. In the case of representatives of the county commissioners one shall be appointed from a county of either the third or fourth class, one from a county of either the fifth or sixth class and one from a county of either the seventh or eighth class. The president of each said organization shall supply to the Department of Internal Affairs the names and addresses of such representatives immediately upon their appointment. Said representatives shall serve without compensation but they shall be reimbursed by the Commonwealth for all necessary expenses incurred in attending meetings of the committee. The committee shall meet at the call of the Secretary of Internal Affairs or his agent who shall serve as chairman of the committee. The Secretary of Internal Affairs may call meetings of the committee and shall do so at the request of the secretary of either of said organizations but in every case there shall be at least two weeks notice to each member of the committee of any such meeting.

In preparing the uniform forms for both budgets and annual reports the committee shall give careful consideration to the differing legal requirements and needs of the counties of the several classes producing if necessary separate forms for certain classes of counties or groups of classes.

It shall be the duty of the Secretary of Internal Affairs or his agent to see to it that the forms required by this act are prepared in cooperation with said committee. Should said committee for any reason fail to furnish such cooperation the Secretary of Internal Affairs or his agent shall complete the preparation of the forms. After their preparation he shall issue said forms and distribute them annually as needed to the commissioners, controller or auditors of each county.

Wagner,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1303, as follows:

To Act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing a property tax for a limited period of time on the net incomes derived from sources within the Commonwealth of certain corporations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships excluding certain income providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of taxes and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships State and county officers boards and departments making an appropriation and providing penalties The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Short Title This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Corporation Income Tax Law"

Section 2 Definitions The following words terms and phrases when used in this act shall have the meaning ascribed to them in this section except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning

"Corporation" A corporation having capital stock joint-stock association or limited partnership either organized under the laws of this Commonwealth the United States or any other state territory or foreign country or dependency and carrying on activities in this Commonwealth or owning property in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership association limited partnership joint-stock association or corporation The word "corporation" shall not include non-profit corporations building and loan associations banks bank and trust companies national banks savings institutions trust companies title insurance companies beneficial life and limited life insurance companies mutual fire mutual casualty and mutual life insurance companies foreign stock companies registered in this Commonwealth and therein engaged in doing business as life fire and casualty insurance companies and foreign surety companies

"Department" The Department of Revenue of this Commonwealth

"Net Income" 1 Net income for the calendar year or fiscal year as returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government or in the case of a corporation participating in the filing of consolidated returns to the Federal Government the net income which would have been returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government if separate returns had been made to the Federal Government for the current and prior taxable years subject however to any correction thereof for fraud evasion or error as finally ascertained by the Federal Government Provided That additional deductions shall be allowed from net income on account of any dividends received from any other corporation And provided further That no deduction shall be allowed for any Federal income or excess profits taxes whatsoever except the declared value excess profits tax And provided further That no deduction shall be allowed for not operating losses sustained by the corporation during any other fiscal or calendar year And provided further That in the case of stock life fire casualty and indemnity insurance companies operating on the mutual or participating plan the term "net income" shall not include the dividends paid to policyholders out of net income

2 In the case of corporations owning property or carrying on activities within and without this Commonwealth other than corporations carrying on activities as insurance or surety companies the net income of such corporations derived from sources within this Commonwealth for the fiscal or calendar year shall be determined by allocations and apportionments of net income as defined in clause one hereof made as follows

(a) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated in the Commonwealth shall be allocated to this Commonwealth

(b) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated outside of the Commonwealth shall not be allocated in any part of this Commonwealth

(c) The resultant net income if any after allocations shall be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the corporation's tangible property situated within this Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the corporation's tangible property wherever situated.

(2) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to its employees and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to all its employees.

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from property and activities assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its property and activities.

In cases where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remainder of the net income of the corporation shall be divided into two equal parts only each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules. If only one of the three rules is applicable the part of the net income received from property and activities carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule.

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employees to the extent of services rendered or work performed in the Commonwealth and similar expenditures to employees not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the corporation outside the Commonwealth.

The amount of the corporation's gross receipts from property and activities assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year from services rendered work and contracts performed and sales made in the Commonwealth and all other gross receipts except those negotiated or effected in behalf of the corporation by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside of the Commonwealth and except rentals and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth. If a corporation maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the department shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from property and activities assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the corporation to the business conducted at such place of business in another state. In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the State of Pennsylvania but performed outside the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the State except that if the receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year. In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office outside the State but performed in the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable to the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contracts shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the State under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year.

A rule shall not be deemed to be applicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the corporation are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth.

3 In the case of corporations carrying on activities as insurance or surety companies within and without this Commonwealth the net income of such corporations derived from sources within this Commonwealth for the fiscal or calendar year shall be determined by multiplying net income as defined in clause one hereof by a fraction of which the numerator is the gross premiums received from activities carried on within the Commonwealth as hereinafter defined and of which the denominator is the amount of the gross premiums received from all its activities everywhere.

"Gross Premiums" shall mean the amount of dues fees and premiums stated in the policy contracts and shall include gross premiums of every character and description received during the taxable year from all underwriting activities whether said premiums were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitute for money less the following deductions:

(a) All premiums returned on policies cancelled or not taken.

(b) In the case of stock companies with participating features an additional deduction for that portion of the premiums returned to the policyholders.

(c) In the case of life insurance companies an additional deduction for dividends declared and actually used by policyholders in payment of renewal premiums.

"Gross premiums received from activities carried on in the Commonwealth" shall mean gross premiums received from policies and annuities written on property or risks located or resident in this Commonwealth whether such premiums were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere.

"Sources within this Commonwealth" includes tangible or intangible property located or having a situs in this Commonwealth and any activities carried on in this Commonwealth regardless of whether carried on in intrastate interstate or foreign commerce.

"Carrying on activities" shall include every act power or privilege exercised or enjoyed in this Commonwealth as an incident to or by virtue of the powers and privileges acquired by the nature of the corporate organization.

"Person" Every natural person association or corporation Whenever used in any clause prescribing and imposing a fine or imprisonment or both the term "person" as applied to associations shall mean the partners or members thereof and as applied to corporations the officers thereof.

The singular shall include the plural and the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter.

Section 3 Imposition of Tax Every corporation carrying on activities in this Commonwealth or owning property in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership joint-stock association or corporation shall be subject to and shall pay a State property tax on net income derived from sources within this Commonwealth at the rate of five per centum per annum upon each dollar of such net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and one thousand nine hundred fifty-two except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of five per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon each dollar of such net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and ending in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and one thousand nine hundred fifty-three Provided however That such net income shall not include income for any period for which the corporation is subject to taxation under the Corporate Net Income Tax Act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) as reenacted and amended according to or measured by net income

Except as otherwise provided in this section the tax hereby imposed shall be in addition to all taxes now imposed on any corporation under the provisions of existing laws

Section 4 Report and Payment of Tax For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and one thousand nine hundred fifty-three to transmit to the department upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department a report under oath or affirmation of its president vice-president or other principal officer and of its treasurer or assistant treasurer of net income taxable under the provisions of this act Such report shall set forth

(a) A true copy of its return to the Federal Government of the annual net income arising or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceding or such part or portion of said return as the department may designate

(b) If no return was filed with the Federal Government the report made to the department shall show such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been made and

(c) Such other information as the department may require

The failure of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act to procure or receive any report form shall not excuse it from making a report

Every corporation upon the date of its report is required herein to be made shall pay to the department not less than one-half of the tax due to the Commonwealth by it for such preceding year and the remaining one-half of such tax shall be paid within the thirty days next succeeding and except as otherwise provided by law no extension of time for the filing of any report granted by the department shall extend the date any tax imposed by this act shall be due and payable. The amount of all taxes imposed under the provisions of this act not paid on or before the times as above provided shall bear interest at the rate of six (6) per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid except that if the taxable income has been or is increased by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States interest shall be computed on the additional tax due from thirty days after the corporation receives notice of the change of income until paid Provided however That any corporation may pay the full amount of such tax or any part thereof together with interest due to the date of payment without prejudice to its right to present and prosecute a petition for resettlement a petition for review or an appeal to court If it be thereafter determined that such taxes were overpaid the department shall enter a credit to the account of such corporation which may be used by it in the manner prescribed by law

If the officers of any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report as herein required or shall knowingly make any false report an additional ten per centum of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department to the tax determined to be due

If any corporation closes its fiscal year not upon the thirty-first day of December but upon some other date and reports to the Federal Government as of such other date or would so report were it to make a return to the Federal Government such corporation shall certify such fact to the Department of Revenue and shall make the report herein required within thirty (30) days after the return to the Federal Government is due or would be due were it to be required of such corporation subject in all other respects to the provisions of this act

If the corporation shall claim in its report that the return made to the Federal Government was inaccurate the amount claimed by it to be the net income taxable under this act and the basis of such claim of inaccuracy shall be fully specified

Section 5 Consolidated Reports The department shall not permit any corporation owning or controlling directly or indirectly any of the voting capital stock of another corporation or of other corporations subject to the provisions of this act to make a consolidated report showing the combined net income

Section 6 Extension of Time to File Reports The department may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any report and upon proper cause shown grant to the corporation required to file such report an extension of not more than sixty (60) days within which such report may be filed and in case the Federal income tax authorities at any time grant a longer extension of time for filing such reports with the Federal Government the department may grant an additional extension of time for filing the report under this act of not more than thirty (30) days after the termination of the Federal extension but the amount of tax due shall in such cases nevertheless be subject to interest from the due dates and at the rates fixed by this act

Section 7 Changes Made by Federal Government (a) If the amount of the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States such corporation within thirty (30) days after the receipt of such final change or correction shall make a corrected report under oath or affirmation to the department showing such finally changed or corrected net income upon which the tax is required to be paid to the United States In case a corporation fails to file a report of such correction which results in an increase in net income within the time prescribed there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for every day during which such corporation is in default but the department may abate any such penalty in whole or in part

(b) If as a result of such final change or correction there should be any change made in the amount of the net income of any corporation upon which tax is imposed by this act the department shall have the power and its duty shall be to resettle such taxes Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(c) Where a report of change correction or redetermination of Federal income or Federal tax has been filed after a petition for review or an appeal has been taken such report shall be deemed a part of the original report upon petition of the taxpayer at any subsequent proceeding as though it had been filed with the original report and no separate petition for review or appeal from the resettlement resulting from such report of change correction or redetermination shall be necessary

Section 8 Settlement and Resettlement (a) All taxes due under this act shall be settled by the department and such settlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General and shall so far as possible be made so that notice thereof may reach the taxpayer before the end of a year after the tax report was required to be made

(b) Promptly after the date of any such settlement the department shall send by mail or otherwise a copy thereof to such corporation The tax imposed by this act shall be settled, resettled and otherwise imposed and adjusted in the same manner within the same periods of time and right of resettlement review appeal and refund as provided by law in the case of capital stock and franchise taxes imposed upon corporations.

(c) If within a period of two years after the date of any settlement the department is not satisfied with such settlement or if at any time the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States with the result that tax in addition to the amount paid is due under this act the department is hereby authorized and empowered to make a resettlement of the tax due by such corporation based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession.

Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made.

The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of the original settlement and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements.

(d) If any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such corporation and subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General settle the amount due by it for taxes penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which settlement there shall be no right of review or appeal but the department with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may require a report to be filed and thereupon make a settlement based upon such report and cancel the estimated settlement.

Section 9 Enforcement Rules and Regulations Inquisitorial Powers of the Department (a) The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of taxes penalties and interest imposed by this act. The department is hereby required to have such rules and regulations promulgated and adopted printed and shall distribute the same to any person upon request.

(b) The department or any agent authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and records and to investigate the character of the business of any corporation in order to verify the accuracy of any report made or if no report was made by such corporation to ascertain and settle the tax imposed by this act. Every such corporation is hereby directed and required to give to the department or its duly authorized agent the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized. Any information gained by the department as a result of any returns investigations or verifications required to be made by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court.

(c) Whenever any person acting for or on behalf of the department shall in good faith institute legal proceedings for any violations of the provisions of this act and for any reason shall fail to recover costs of record such costs shall be a charge upon the proper county as shall such costs in the event defendant is imprisoned for failure to pay fine or costs or both and shall be audited and paid as are costs of like character in said county.

(d) The powers conferred by this act upon the department relating to the administration or enforcement of this act shall be in addition to but not exclusive of any other powers heretofore or hereafter conferred upon the department by law.

Section 10 Retention of Records by Corporations Penalty Each corporation shall maintain and keep for a period of three (3) years after any report is filed under this act such record or records of its business within this Commonwealth for the period covered by such report and other pertinent papers as may be required by the department.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court.

Section 11 Penalties (a) Any person who shall wilfully make a false and fraudulent return of net income made taxable by this act shall be guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to punishment by law. Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act.

(b) Any person who wilfully fails neglects or refuses to make a report or to pay the tax as herein prescribed or who shall refuse to permit the department to examine the books papers and records of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or undergo imprisonment not exceeding six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court. Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act.

Section 12 Constitutional Construction The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein.

Section 13 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall remain in force only for the imposition and collection of taxes on net income of corporations derived from sources within the Commonwealth for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and one thousand nine hundred fifty-two or for the fiscal years ending in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-three.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

MRS. A. EVANS KEPHART PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I interrupt the reading of the Calendar just for a moment? The hour is growing late, and I would like to present at this time a very distinguished visitor to the Senate Chamber, the wife of a very prominent ranch owner from Montana. I would ask Mrs. Senator Kephart to stand up and take a bow.

The PRESIDENT. I like the wide open spaces.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I did that in order to keep the Senator from Philadelphia on the floor because there has been too much of a rush to this side of the chamber, and I wanted to notify the gentlemen she has been asked for.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1309, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two as amended sections four five six seven and eight and sections nine and ten as amended of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 888) entitled "An act to safeguard human life and health throughout the Commonwealth by providing for the reporting quarantining and control of disease declared communicable by this act or by regulations of the Department of Health providing for the prevention of infection therefrom and prescribing penalties" by changing the method of approval of communicable disease regulations by the advisory health board and by adding counties which have established a county department of health or joint-county department of health to the political subdivisions required or empowered to perform certain duties relating to the reporting quarantining and control of diseases declared communicable by law or regulation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment, making a typographical correction.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 5, page 9, line 1, by striking out after the word "Assembly" and before the word "said" the following: "the" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1309, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

NAYS—1

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1333, as follows:

An Act to amend sections five and eighteen of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 589) entitled "An act to safeguard human health and life by providing for the issuance of permits to and regulation of persons and entities selling milk and milk products conferring powers and imposing duties on the Secretary of Health the Advisory Health Board and otherwise providing for the administration of the act and imposing penalties" by adding counties which have established or joined in establishing county departments of health to those municipalities which may be constituted agents of the Secretary of Health for the purpose of issuance of milk permits and by adding county department of health regulations to those municipal ordinances not affected by the act

Section 1 Section five of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 589) entitled "An act to safeguard human health and life by providing for the issuance of permits to and regulation of persons and entities selling milk and milk products conferring powers and imposing duties on the Secretary of Health the Advisory Health Board and otherwise providing for the administration of the act and imposing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 5 The secretary may constitute as his agent for the purpose of issuing permits for the sale of milk or milk products a department of health board of health or health officer of any municipality or the county department of health of any county or counties which have established or joined in establishing such a department and shall accept permits issued by municipalities or county departments of health under the terms of municipal ordinances or county department of health regulations equally as stringent as the requirements of this act and enforced by such municipalities or counties as the only permit required for the sale of milk or milk products in such municipalities or counties

Section 2 Section eighteen of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 18 The provisions of this act and the regulations made thereunder shall not be taken nor deemed to repeal existing municipal ordinances nor to prevent municipalities or counties which have established or joined in establishing county departments of health from enacting and enforcing new ordinances or regulations for the further protection of the public health Provided That this act shall be considered as establishing uniform requirements and regulations and that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent municipalities or counties which have established or joined in establishing county departments of health from ordaining and enforcing such additional requirements in excess of the requirements and regulations hereunder as may be deemed necessary from time to time for the preservation of public health and to require applications from and to issue permits to such persons as may be defined by local ordinances or regulations

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. STIMMEL.

RESOLUTION No. 74.

In the House of Representatives, August 13, 1951.

Whereas, The act, approved the 14th day of May, 1915, P. L. 524 and its amendments, make it unlawful for any department, bureau, commission or any other branch of the State government or any board of trustees or custodians of State property to purchase, secure or obtain any policy of insurance on any property owned by the Commonwealth excepting policies of insurance covering loss or damage arising from boiler explosion; and

Whereas, The said act also creates a fund for the rebuilding, restoration and replacement of any structure, property or equipment owned by the Commonwealth and damaged or destroyed by fire or other casualty; and

Whereas, It is desirable that the policy established by the said act of 1915 should be restudied with a view to making any changes or corrections which would be advantageous due to altered conditions and circumstances in regard to the purchase of insurance as compared to self-insurance; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby directs the Joint State Government Commission to study the Act approved the 14th day of May, 1915, P. L. 524, and the method provided in it for the rebuilding and replacement of Commonwealth property damaged by fire or other casualty; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission shall report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly together with such legislation as it may propose to carry out such recommendations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. ROBERTSON.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 75.

In the House of Representatives, August 13, 1951.

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs) That concurrent resolution No. 5 approved the third day of April, 1947 (P. L. 1850) as amended by concurrent resolution No. 2 approved the twenty-fourth day of March, 1949 (P. L. 2135), is hereby further amended to read as follows:

"Whereas, The Pennsylvania Roadside Council, wishing to cooperate in the nationwide Blue Star Memorial Program sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, is desirous of recognizing and commemorating the splendid services and achievements of our sons and daughters who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II; and

Whereas, It is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded the services and sacrifices of citizens so valiantly rendered; and

Whereas, The State of New Jersey has designated one of its state highways leading to Easton, Pennsylvania, as New Jersey's link in this nationwide program; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs) That State Highway Route Number 22 from Easton to Harrisburg, the Pennsylvania Turnpike from the eastern terminus as is or may be established by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to the western terminus thereof, located at a point on the western boundary line of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania touching on the State of Ohio, State Highway Route Number 30 from Irwin to Pittsburgh via the Penn-Lincoln Parkway and State Highway Route Number 22 from Pittsburgh to the Pennsylvania-West Virginia State line is designated as the Blue Star Drive, as a memorial in commemoration of the services of the men and women of Pennsylvania who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II, and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said highways suitable tablets or markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution but shall not replace or change the officially designated route number or name or marker thereof of any highway or turnpike hereby included as a part of such Blue Star Drive."

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Section 5 Section four hundred six of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 406 Officers [and Agents] Every business corporation shall have a president a secretary and a treasurer and may have such other officers and assistant officers [and agents] as it shall authorize from time to time. The articles or by-laws may prescribe special qualifications for such officers. The president and secretary shall be natural persons of full age the treasurer however may be a corporation but if a natural person shall be of full age. Unless the articles or by-laws provide otherwise the board of directors shall elect [or appoint] and fix the compensation of such officers and assistant officers [and agents]. Such officers and assistant officers [and agents] shall be elected [or appointed] at such time in such manner and for such terms as the by-laws shall prescribe. It shall not be necessary for the officers to be directors. If the by-laws so provide any two or more offices may be held by the same person except the offices of president and secretary. The board of directors may secure the fidelity of any or all of such officers by bond or otherwise. Unless otherwise provided in the by-laws the board of directors shall have power to fill any vacancies in any office occurring from whatever reason. All officers [and agents] of the corporation as between themselves and the corporation shall respectively have such authority and perform such duties in the management of the property and affairs of the corporation as may be provided in the by-laws or in the absence of controlling provisions in the by-laws as may be determined by resolution of the board of directors.

Section 6 Paragraph D of Section five hundred one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

D Adjournment or adjournment of any annual or special meeting may be taken but any meeting at which directors are to be elected shall be adjourned only from day to day or for such longer periods not exceeding fifteen days each as the holders of a majority of the shares present in person or by proxy shall direct until such directors have been elected.

Section 7 Section five hundred five of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 505 Elections of Directors Cumulative Voting Unless otherwise provided in the by-laws elections for directors need not be by ballot except upon demand made by a shareholder at the election and before the voting begins. In all elections for directors every shareholder entitled to vote shall have the right in person or by proxy to multiply the number of votes to which he may be entitled by the total number of directors of all classes to be elected by either the holders of the class or classes of shares of which his shares are a part or by the holders of any other class or classes of shares and he may cast the whole number of such votes for one candidate or he may distribute them among any two or more candidates. The candidates receiving the highest number of votes from each class or group of classes entitled to elect directors separately up to the number of directors to be elected by such class or group of classes shall be elected.

Section 8 Section five hundred seven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 507 Voting by Joint Holders of Shares Where shares are held jointly or as tenants in common by two or more persons such shares shall be voted and any proxy shall be given by the person or persons designated for that purpose in the agreement under which such shares are held jointly or by tenancy in common. If the agreement does not determine the question which person or persons shall vote such shares or give any proxy in regard thereto the will of the majority of such persons shall control the manner of voting or the giving of a proxy. If only one or more of such persons is present in person or by proxy he or they shall have the right to vote all such shares and all of the shares standing in the names of such persons shall be deemed to be represented for the purpose of determining a quorum. Where in any case such persons are equally divided upon the manner of voting the shares held by them the vote of such shares shall be divided equally among such persons. Except as hereinafter provided the same shall be true in the case of trustees however appointed [by the court of common pleas] unless the instrument by which the trust was created or the decree of court appointing them otherwise directs. Where in any case such trustees are equally divided upon the manner of voting the shares jointly held by them it shall be lawful for the court [of common pleas] having jurisdiction over the trustees upon petition filed by any of the trustees or by any beneficiary to direct the voting of such shares in the manner which in the opinion of the court will be for the best interests of the parties beneficially interested in the shares.

Section 9 Section five hundred eight of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 508 Voting Shares Held By Corporation Any corporation owning shares in [another] a domestic business corporation may vote the same by any of its officers or by proxy appointed by any such officer unless some other person by resolution of its board of directors shall be appointed its general or special proxy in which case such person shall be entitled to vote the shares. Shares of its own capital stock belonging to a domestic business corporation shall not be voted directly or indirectly at any meeting and shall not be counted in determining the total number of outstanding shares for voting purposes at any given time but shares of its own capital stock held by it in a fiduciary capacity may be voted and shall be counted in determining the total number of outstanding shares at any given time.

Section 10 Paragraph C of Section six hundred two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

C Prior to the issue of any shares of a series established by resolution adopted by the board of directors the corporation shall present to the Department of State a statement executed under the seal of the corporation signed and verified by two duly authorized officers thereof and setting forth

- (1) The name of the corporation
- (2) The resolution establishing and designating the series and fixing and determining the relative rights and preferences thereof
- (3) The date and the manner of the adoption of such resolution

If the Department of State finds that such statement conforms to law and the articles of the corporation and when all fees have been paid as required by law it shall endorse its approval thereon [shall file the statement] and shall issue to the corporation or its representative [a copy of] the approved statement and shall make and retain a copy thereof. Upon the [filing] approval of such statement by the Department of State the resolution establishing and designating the series and fixing and determining the relative rights and preferences thereof shall become effective.

Section 11 Paragraph C of Section seven hundred five of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

C The statement shall be delivered to the Department of State either prior to or within thirty days after the date of such redemption and cancellation. If the Department of State finds that the statement conforms to law it shall upon payment of the filing fee endorse its approval thereon [shall file the statement and] shall issue to the corporation or its representative [a copy of] the approved statement and shall make and retain a copy thereof. The [filing] approval of such statement shall operate as an amendment to the article of the corporation and shall reduce the number of shares of the class so redeemed which the corporation is authorized to issue by the number of the shares so redeemed and cancelled. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prohibit a reduction of authorized capital stock or a reduction of stated capital in any other manner permitted by this act.

Section 12 Paragraph C of Section seven hundred six of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

C The statement shall be delivered to the Department of State. If the Department of State finds that such statement conforms to law it shall upon payment of the filing fee endorse its approval thereon [shall file the statement and] shall issue to the corporation or its representative [a copy of] the approved statement and shall make and retain a copy thereof. Upon the [filing] approval of such statement the reduction shall be effective.

Section 13 Paragraph C of Section seven hundred eight of said act as added by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

C The statement shall be delivered to the Department of State within thirty days after the adoption of the resolution aforesaid. If the Department of State finds that the statement conforms to law it shall endorse its approval thereon [shall file the statement and] shall issue to the corporation or its representative [a copy of] the approved statement and shall make and retain a copy thereof. If the resolution aforesaid provided for a reduction in the number of shares which the corporation is authorized to issue the [filing] approval of such statement shall operate as an amendment to the articles of the corporation and shall reduce the number of shares of the class so cancelled which the corporation is authorized to issue by the number of shares so cancelled otherwise the shares so cancelled shall upon such [filing] approval have the status of authorized but unissued shares. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prohibit a reduction of authorized capital stock or a reduction of stated capital in any other manner permitted by this act.

Section 14 Section eight hundred eight of said act as last amended by the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 139) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 808 Filing of Articles of Amendment The articles of amendment proof of the advertisement heretofore required in this article shall be delivered by the corporation or its representative to the Department of State. If the Department of State finds that such articles conform to law it shall upon payment of the filing fee forthwith but not prior to the day specified in the advertisement required by the preceding section endorse its approval thereon [and] shall [file the articles and] issue to the corporation or its representative a certificate of amendment to which shall be attached [a copy of] the approved articles and shall make and retain a copy thereof.

Section 15 Article eight of said act is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof a new section to read as follows:

Section 810 Rights of Dissenting Shareholders A If any amendment to the articles of a corporation shall limit or deny any preemptive right of any outstanding shares the holder of any outstanding shares affected adversely by such amendment who shall have filed with the corporation prior to or at the meeting of shareholders at which the proposed amendment was submitted to a vote written objection to such proposed amendment and shall not have voted in favor thereof and who within twenty days after the effective date of the amendment shall also make written demand on the corporation for the payment of the fair value of his shares as of the day prior to the date on which the vote was taken approving the amendment without regard to any depreciation or appreciation thereof in consequence of the amendment shall be paid by the corporation the fair value of his shares upon surrender of the share certificate or certificates representing his shares. The demand of the shareholder shall state the number and class of the shares owned by him. Unless a shareholder files such written objection and also makes such demand within the twenty-day period he shall be conclusively presumed to have consented to the amendment and shall be bound by the terms thereof. If within thirty days after the date on which such amendment became effective the value of such shares shall be agreed upon between the dissenting shareholder and the corporation payment thereof shall be made in cash within ninety days after the date on which such amendment became effective upon the surrender of the share certificate or certificates representing his shares. Upon payment of the agreed value the dissenting shareholder shall cease to have any interest in such shares or in the corporation.

B If within such period of thirty days the shareholder and the corporation do not so agree then the dissenting shareholder may within sixty days after the expiration of the thirty-day period apply by petition to the court of common pleas in equity within the county in which the registered office of the corporation is situated for the appointment by the court of three disinterested persons to appraise the fair value of his shares without regard to any depreciation thereof in consequences of the amendment. The award of the appraisers or of a majority of them shall be submitted to the court for determination and the judgment of the court thereon shall be final and conclusive. The costs of such appraisal including a reasonable fee to the appraisers shall be fixed by the court and shall be borne by the corporation unless in the opinion of the court the action of any shareholder in refusing the offer of the corporation has been arbitrary vexatious or in bad faith in which case the costs shall be assessed in the discretion of the court. The award shall be payable only upon and simultaneously with the surrender to the corporation of the share certificate or certificates representing the shares of the dissenting shareholder. If the award shall not be paid by the corporation within thirty days after the order of the court thereon the amount of the award shall be a judgment against the corporation and may be collected as other judgments in such court are by law collectible. Upon the payment of the award or judgment the dissenting shareholder shall cease to have any interest in such shares or in the corporation. Such shares may be held and disposed of by the corporation as it may see fit. Unless the dissenting shareholder shall file a petition within the time herein limited such shareholder and all persons claiming under him shall be conclusively presumed to have approved and ratified the amendment and shall be bound by the terms thereof.

C The rights and remedies at law or in equity of any shareholder who desires to object to or to dissent from any such amendment shall be limited to those prescribed under this section and such rights and remedies under this section shall be exclusive.

D Whenever any such amendment is proposed a copy of this Section 810 shall be enclosed with the written notice mentioned in Section 803 of this act and said written notice shall state that Section 810 sets forth the exclusive rights and remedies of shareholders who would be affected adversely by the proposed amendment and who object thereto.

E The provisions of this section shall apply only to those business corporations which are or may become subject to the provisions of this act but which were not incorporated hereunder.

Section 16 Paragraph B of Section nine hundred two of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

B The board of directors of each domestic corporation upon approving such plan of merger or plan of consolidation shall by resolution direct that the plan be submitted to a vote of the shareholders of such corporation entitled to vote thereon at an annual or special meeting of the shareholders. Written notice shall not less than ten days before such annual or special meeting be given to each shareholder of record of such corporation whether or not entitled to vote on such plan unless the plan of merger or plan of consolidation contemplates [an increase in the aggregate of the authorized capital stock of the constituent corporations] that the aggregate par value or aggregate authorized number of shares of the surviving or new corporation shall be so increased over the aggregate par value or aggregate authorized number of shares of a domestic corporation party to such plan that the increase if effectuated by amendment to the articles of incorporation of such corporation would necessitate a meeting of shareholders called on sixty days' notice under Section 8 E of this act in which event sixty days' notice of such meeting shall be given to each shareholder of each such domestic corporation. The notice shall state the place day hour and purpose of the meeting and a copy or a summary of the plan of merger or plan of consolidation as the case may be shall be included in or enclosed with such notice.

Section 17 Sections nine hundred four and nine hundred five of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) are hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 904 Advertisement the constituent domestic corporations shall advertise before or after the approval of plan of merger by the shareholders their intentions to file articles of merger or articles of consolidation as the case may be with the Department of State in newspapers published in the counties in which the registered offices of the corporations are located in a manner similar to that heretofore prescribed in this act in the case of the formation of a business corporation advertisements shall appear at least three days prior to the day on which the articles of merger or articles of consolidation are presented to the Department of State and shall set forth briefly:

(1) The name and the location of the registered office of each of the corporations intending to merge or consolidate.

(2) The name and the location of the proposed registered office of the domestic surviving or new corporation or in the case of a foreign surviving or new corporation the name of such corporation and its domiciliary state together with the location of its office registered with the state.

(3) A statement that the articles of merger or consolidation are to be filed under the provisions of this act.

(4) The purpose or purposes of the surviving or new corporation.

(5) The time when the articles of merger or consolidation will be delivered to the Department of State.

Section 905 Filing of Articles of Merger or Consolidation. The articles of merger or articles of consolidation as the case may be and proof of the advertisement required by the preceding section and a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporation of all bonus taxes and charges as required by law shall be delivered to the Department of State except that no such certificates shall be required of the surviving corporation in cases of merger. If the Department of State finds that such articles conform to law and that the certificate or certificates evidencing payment of bonus or taxes or charges delivered therewith is in proper form it shall upon payment of the filing fee forthwith but not prior to the day specified in the advertisement required by the preceding section endorse its approval thereon and [file the articles and] issue to the surviving or new corporation or its representative a certificate of merger or a certificate of consolidation as the case may be to which shall be attached [a copy of] the approved articles and shall make and retain a copy thereof.

- (2) The address including street and number if any of the registered office of the corporation in this Commonwealth
- (3) The names and respective addresses including street and number if any of its officers
- (4) The names and respective addresses including street and number if any of its directors
- (5) If the election to dissolve was by written agreement of all shareholders a statement that the agreement was signed by all shareholders of record of the corporation or signed in their names by their duly authorized attorneys
- (6) If the election to dissolve was by resolution adopted at a meeting of the shareholders the number of shares outstanding the number of shares entitled to vote in respect of the dissolution of the corporation and the number of shares voted for and against the voluntary dissolution of the corporation respectively and if the shares of any class are entitled to vote as a class the number of shares of such class and the number of shares of all other classes voted for and against the voluntary dissolution of the corporation

The certificate of election to dissolve shall be delivered to the Department of State. If the Department of State finds that the certificate conforms to law it shall endorse its approval hereon and when all fees required by law have been paid [shall file the certificate and] shall issue to the corporation or its representative [a copy of] the approved certificate and shall make and retain a copy thereof. Upon the [filing] approval by the Department of State of a certificate of election to dissolve the corporation shall cease to carry on its business except in so far as may be necessary for the proper winding up thereof but its corporate existence shall continue until a certificate of dissolution has been issued by the Department of State or until a decree dissolving the corporation has been entered by a court of common pleas as elsewhere provided in this act.

Section 25 Article XI of said act is hereby amended by adding after section one thousand one hundred three thereof a new section to read as follows:

Section 1103.1 Statement rescinding certificate of election to dissolve any business corporation which has heretofore elected to dissolve as provided in section 1102 of this act and has filed a certificate in evidence thereof in the Department of State as provided in section 1103 of this act may rescind such action in the same manner and by the same procedure as that provided in section 1102 of this act for the election of a corporation to dissolve voluntarily and shall execute a statement rescinding certificate of election to dissolve under the seal of the corporation signed and verified by two duly authorized officers of the corporation which shall set forth:

- (1) The name of the corporation
- (2) The address including street and number if any of the registered office of the corporation in this Commonwealth
- (3) The names and respective addresses including street and number if any of its officers
- (4) The names and respective addresses including street and number of any of its directors
- (5) The date of filing of certificate of election to dissolve in Department of State
- (6) If the election to rescind was by resolution adopted at a meeting of the shareholders the number of shares outstanding the number of shares entitled to vote in respect of the rescission of the election to dissolve the corporation and the number of shares voted for and against the rescission of dissolution of the corporation respectively and if the shares of any class are entitled to vote as a class the number of shares of such class and the number of shares of all other classes voted for and against the rescission of the election to dissolve the corporation

The statement rescinding certificate of election to dissolve shall be delivered to the Department of State if the Department of State finds that the statement conforms to law it shall endorse its approval thereon and when all fees required by law have been paid shall issue to the corporation of its representative the approved statement and shall make and retain a copy thereof upon the approval by the Department of State of a statement rescinding certificate of election to dissolve the election to dissolve shall be void.

Section 26 Paragraph B of Section one thousand one hundred four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

B After the [filing] approval by the Department of State of a certificate of election to dissolve the board of directors shall immediately cause notice of the winding up proceedings to be mailed to each known creditor and claimant and to be published once a week for two successive weeks in two newspapers published in the English language one of which shall be a newspaper of general circulation and the others legal newspaper if any designated by the rules of court for the publication of legal notices otherwise in two newspapers of general circulation published in the county in which the registered office of the corporation is located. Where there is but one newspaper of general circulation published in any county advertisement in such newspaper shall be sufficient.

Section 26 Section one thousand one hundred five of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1773) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 1105 Articles of Dissolution When all debts liabilities and obligations of the corporation have been paid and discharged or adequate provision shall have been made therefor and all of the remaining property and assets of the corporation shall have been distributed to its shareholders articles of dissolution shall be executed under the seal of the corporation and signed and verified by two duly authorized officers of the corporation which shall set forth:

- (1) The name of the corporation
- (2) The address including street and number if any of the registered office of the corporation
- (3) A statement that the corporation has therefore delivered to the Department of State a certificate of election to dissolve and the date on which the certificate was filed by the Department of State
- (4) A statement that all debts obligations and liabilities of the corporation have been paid and discharged or that adequate provision has been made therefor
- (5) A statement that all the remaining property and assets of the corporation have been distributed among its shareholders in accordance with their respective rights and interests

(6) A statement that there are no suits pending against the corporation in any court or that adequate provision has been made for the satisfaction of any judgment or decree which may be obtained against the corporation in each such pending suit

The articles of dissolution proof of the advertisement required by the preceding section and a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporation of all bonus taxes and charges as required by law shall be delivered to the Department of State. If the Department of State finds that such articles conform to law and that the certificate delivered therewith evidencing payment of bonus or taxes or charges is in proper form it shall upon payment of the filing fee endorse its approval thereon and shall file the articles and issue to the corporation or its representative a certificate of dissolution to which shall be attached [a copy of] the approved articles and shall make and retain a copy thereof. Upon the approval of the articles of dissolution the existence of the corporation shall cease.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 488, Printer's No. 476,
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1006, entitled:

An Act fixing the minimum salaries for tipstaves in the courts of record in counties of the fourth class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DOWLING. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 3, by inserting after the word "day" the following: The provisions of this act shall not apply in counties in which tipstaves are paid on a monthly basis.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1286, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray current and other expenses of the State government during any fiscal biennium evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues of any current biennium levied assessed collectible and accruing during such fiscal biennium defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation

Section 1 Whenever the General Assembly has provided revenues for the general purposes of any fiscal biennium and the Governor Auditor General and the State Treasurer determine such revenues will not be available in large part for the current and other expenses of the State government as a result of which the collectible revenues may not be sufficient to defray the current and other expenses of the State government the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby authorized and directed during any biennium to borrow from time to time on the credit of the current revenues of any current biennium such sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate one third of the moneys appropriated for any current biennium by the General Assembly for the general purposes of any fiscal biennium

Section 2 (a) Such loans shall be evidenced by notes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania All of said notes shall mature not later than May 31 of the second year of any current biennium Such notes are hereby declared to be tax anticipation notes Such notes or renewals thereof shall be issued from time to time for such total amounts in such sums and subject to such terms and conditions rates of interest not in excess of four and one-half (4½) per cent per annum and time of payment of interest as the Governor Auditor General and the State Treasurer shall determine and direct

(b) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall bear either the signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer or the facsimile signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in which latter event such notes shall be countersigned by two officers of the Philadelphia National Bank (Loan and Transfer Agent of the Commonwealth) All such notes shall bear a facsimile of the great seal of the Commonwealth

(c) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall have the qualities and incidents of negotiable instruments under the Negotiable Instruments Law of the Commonwealth

(d) The current revenues of any fiscal biennium period shall be pledged for the payment of the principal and interest of such notes during such fiscal biennium and shall be payable in lawful money of the United States All notes issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation for State and local purposes

Section 3 The proceeds derived from the negotiation of loans under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury and shall be used for the payment of appropriations made from such fund to defray the current and other expenses of the State government for the current fiscal biennium

Section 4 Any loans negotiated under the provisions of this act shall be secured by the current revenues levied and assessed for revenue purposes of every kind or character accruing to the General Fund of the State Treasury during the current fiscal biennium and shall be paid out of such revenues and so much of such revenues as shall be necessary for the payment of the principal and interest of such loans are hereby specifically appropriated The Department of Revenue shall allocate such revenues to said payments

Section 5 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions are held unconstitutional the decision so holding shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared that the legislative intent would have been to adopt this act had such unconstitutional provision not been included herein

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. WATERHOUSE.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 855, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the twelfth day of April one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (Act No. 21) entitled "An Act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State Liquor Store for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" and of fees and imposing penalties" by permitting the sale and possession of wine in packages not bearing the official seal of the board. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts, as follows

Section 1 Clause (f) of section 208 subsection (d) of section 305 subsection (e) of section 409 and clause (4) of section 491 of the act approved the twelfth day of April one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (Act No. 21) entitled "an act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State Liquor Stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 208 Specific Subject on Which Board May Adopt Regulations Subject to the provisions of this act and without limiting the general power conferred by the preceding section the board may make regulations regarding

(f) The sealing and labeling of liquor and alcohol sold under this act and of liquor and alcohol lawfully acquired by any person prior to January first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four This section shall not be construed to authorize the board to require that packages containing wine have affixed thereto the official seal of the board

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill, Mr. Waterhouse.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Waterhouse, to explain or tell the House just what this bill does.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, this bill would eliminate the necessity of stamping each bottle individually. This is the custom now in about 21 of the States which consume 63.6 of the wine that is consumed in the United States.

Instead of stamping each bottle individually it would be paid on the case or on the shipment to the state liquor stores. Someone has said something about New Jersey. New Jersey has the same law as well as New York, Ohio and, as I say, there are 21.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I believe this is a very bad bill for the reason that I could order a case of wine, and the only stamp that I would have on it would be on the case. There would be no marking on the bottle. After I emptied that case I could have bottles in my possession which I could say came from the same case. There would be no way of checking up on me. I think this is a pretty bad bill. It is a good way for the state to lose a lot of money in taxes and I do not believe we should pass it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am in agreement with the gentleman from Allegheny. As I understand the import of this measure, it removes the sale of wine from the jurisdiction of the Liquor Control Board. There will be no possibility of determining whether a bottle of wine had or had not passed through the channels of distribution controlled by the Liquor Control Board. It would seem to be a bill for the encouragement of unrestrained bootlegging in alien wines and as the gentleman from Allegheny has said, a step in the direction of dismantling the powers of the Liquor Control Board to accumulate a profit from the sale of wine.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, also the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, if this involved the liquor trade then I could only agree with the gentlemen. But due to the fact that wine is very cheap, 60 and 70 cents a fifth, I believe lots of it at that, I think we are probably just imagining what could happen and I am satisfied would not happen, because in 21 States apparently it is not happening. I am satisfied that if they are going to bootleg they certainly are not going to bother with 60 and 70 cent drinks. I think they would probably get into something that would involve more money.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Erie in his free hours may indulge himself in 60 cent red ink, but as have observed the habits of those who consume wine, most of the wine consumed does not fall in the 60 to 50 cent category. How under this bill are you going to keep track even of foreign imports of expensive wines? If you open the door to the 50 and 60 cent variety, you open the door to the more expensive wines bottled in California and bottled in Spain. There cannot be any distinction; there is no way of telling, if it does not bear the stamp of the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, I believe if he were to check with the liquor stores he would find that the volume is definitely in the cheaper wines. The people who buy the more expensive wines, of course, would not be legislators. So maybe he does not have as broad a view of this as he might have. I believe that those who do would be very sure they were getting what they were paying for. To be sure of that, you would buy it from a liquor store.

Briefly this bill has been before the House and was acted upon favorably several years ago. It was only through a little personal disturbance that it was not signed. I understand that is the history, but I believe it is good legislation. Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia—and the District of Columbia could not be wrong—Florida, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Texas, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming. I don't know whether they have all adopted the same legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I hope that the Members of this House will see fit to support the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am wondering whether it was a slip of the lip when the gentleman from Erie said with respect to one variety of wine that if they wanted it they would buy it through the liquor store? Did he mean to infer that in order grades of wine if they wanted to buy it they would not buy it through the liquor store?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, that is not what I meant. He was referring to the higher priced wines. I think he would find that would be true in all priced wines. Due to the price structure I am quite sure that no one would care to take a chance on bootleg stuff when he can go to the liquor store and know what he is getting at a good price.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I do not care to prolong the discussion, but the gentleman's reading of a list of States lacks pertinence because he does not tell us what sort of distribution system the various States have, and he does not tell us the nature of their tax system, so that his list of States may or may not be pertinent.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any idea how much revenue the state stores would lose by the enactment of his bill?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe they would lose any revenue.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, none at all?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe so because they would collect the same amount of money they now collect.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 456, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 368), entitled "An act to protect consumers in the purchase for fuel purposes of the hard coal known as anthracite; providing for and regulating the sale, offering for sale, resale, delivery and shipment of anthracite according to a standard provided for in this act; requiring producers and dealers and persons engaged in the sale and resale of anthracite, from storage yards or otherwise to consumers, to keep certain records; conferring powers on the Anthracite Committee and its agents, and providing penalties," by defining "Retail Dealer," "Wholesale Dealer," "Municipal Weighmasters," and "Municipality," requiring producers, wholesale dealers and municipal weighmasters to issue certain statements and keep certain records; imposing and changing penalties; providing for the payment of fines for violations to the Commonwealth; and providing for injunctions to restrain violations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, line 4 of Title, by inserting after "Municipality" the following: and "Storage Place for Anthracite".

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 2), page 3, lines 5 and 7, by inserting a bracket before the word "purchasing" in line 5, inserting a bracket after the word "anthracite" in line 7, and inserting immediately thereafter the following: "maintaining a place for the storage of anthracite, who purchases anthracite for resale to consumers regardless of the quantity sold or who sells to a retail dealer in lots not exceeding 20,000 pounds in any one transaction."

Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 2), page 3, lines 14 and 15, by striking out "purchasing anthracite for resale to retail dealers or consumers in lots exceeding 20,000 pounds" and inserting in lieu thereof: "or his or its legal representative who purchases anthracite for resale to retail dealers in lots exceeding 20,000 pounds or one not maintaining a storage place for anthracite who sells anthracite to a consumer regardless of the quantity sold."

Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 2), page 3, by inserting after line 20 the following:

(o) "Storage Place for Anthracite," an established place of business including a permanent office, storage facilities for not less than 250 ton of anthracite and its own weighing scales.

Amend Sec. 3, (Sec. 5), page 8, line 7, by striking out "railroad car number and the model and".

Amend Sec. 3, (Sec. 5), page 8, line 8, by inserting after the word "transported" the following: "and in the case of wholesale dealers and producers, the railroad car number and the model of the vehicle in which the anthracite is transported".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 499, as follows:

An Act to add Section 15.1 to the act approved the eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 298) entitled "An act authorizing the creation of and providing for and regulating the maintenance and operation of a county employees' retirement system in counties of the fourth class imposing certain charges on counties and fixing penalties" by providing for optional minimum retirement allowances under certain conditions

Section 1 The act approved the eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 298) entitled "An act authorizing the creation of and providing for and regulating the maintenance and operation of a county employees' retirement system in counties of the fourth class imposing certain charges on counties and fixing penalties" is hereby amended by adding after Section 15 thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 15.1 Optional Minimum Allowances At any time the board by rule may be increasing the county annuity authorize the payment of a minimum annual retirement allowance of twelve hundred dollars payable monthly in the amount of one hundred dollars to every beneficiary who has retired for superannuation after twenty years' service as a county employe but no county annuity shall in any case exceed fifty per centum of the average salary

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Amend Sec. 6 (Sec. 904), page 24, line 5, by inserting after the word "days" the following "The owner and the shipper of the vehicle involved in a violation shall pay a fine of five hundred dollars ($500) for each violation after the first and in default of which the owner and the shipper of such vehicle shall undergo imprisonment for sixty (60) days. Where the owner or the shipper is a corporation the president thereof shall undergo the imprisonment herein set forth"

Amend Sec. 6 (Sec. 904), page 24, line 7, by striking out the word and figures "thirty (30)" and inserting in lieu thereof "ninety (90)"

Amend Sec. 6 (Sec. 904), page 24, line 7, by inserting after the word "days" the following "for the first offense and for a period of one (1) year for each subsequent offense"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, the amendments that I have offered to the House do not interfere with the weight increase in the present bill. They only deal with the enforcement of this bill. What they do in brief is this:

There is a section where the police officer has at his discretion the privilege of allowing a truck to proceed while overloaded.

My amendment, Mr. Speaker, says that that truck shall be immediately unloaded and meet the required weight plus the five percent leeway.

Again I would like to bring into this bill the provision that the owner and the shipper as well as the operator shall be held responsible for over-loading.

The reason for this is, so many times a trucker or an operator will leave his trailer to be loaded, he will go in later on, hook up his cab, and drive away not knowing that he is over-loaded.

Again, these amendments would include the suspension of an operator who violates this law. As you know, for speeding, maybe doing five miles more than the limit, they are suspended for ninety days. Well, my amendment, would suspend this operator for ninety days for the first offense and one year for any other offense.

These amendments may seem very drastic to this House or the proponents of this bill. I do not think they are. I believe that if all this talk from the truckers and associations and the proponents of this bill that they want to stop over-loading, if they are sincere they will vote for these amendments.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose these amendments because I think they are entirely unnecessary. Most of the provisions that the gentleman tries to cover are already covered in the bill

The first provision, which is the unloading provision, the bill presently provides that any vehicle in excess of sixty thousand pounds must be immediately unloaded. The officer has no discretionary power. The second provision requires that any vehicle in excess of fifty-four thousand pounds or the forty-eight thousand plus the five percent tolerance, must be unloaded, with no mandatory provisions, no discretionary powers on the part of the officer; they must be unloaded. Presently under the Pennsylvania Motor Code the police officer does have discretionary power in whether or not he requires the overload to be removed.

The second provision of these amendments places the burden upon the shipper as well as upon the operator. This provision would be an impossible provision to enforce. In the first place the matter of identifying the shipper would be exceedingly difficult.

An example in point; a driver picks up a load at several different loading points from several different shippers. How under the terms of these amendments can you identify the shipper? True, if he picked up a full load, which is somewhat uncommon in the industry, at one point you might be able to identify the shipper in that case, but in many, many cases, in fact the majority of the cases it would be impossible to identify the shipper.

Secondly, presuming that the shipper of the over-load is an out-of-state shipper, under Pennsylvania law as presently written he could not be extradited to answer charges in Pennsylvania for the violation. For that reason I ask that this part of the amendment be voted down.

Now the provision for the suspension of the driver. This provision was purposely inserted in the law to overcome the objection which has been raised by many, particularly truck drivers, that they were required by the owner to over-load. This places the penalty squarely upon the owner and relieves the driver of that responsibility. And we feel that that is where the responsibility should rest, that we should not penalize some poor fellow and put him out of his job because his boss requires him to load an over-load. We purposely put that provision in the law, and for those reasons I ask the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to Mr. Dennison as to the discretionary powers of a policeman in the enforcing of reducing the weight, there are only two trucks that would come under this. That would be the 60,000 and the 62,000 pound.

Now, of course, my purpose in these amendments is strictly to stop over-loading, which I believe is damaging our roads, and it is dangerous to the motorist as well as the pedestrian.

As far as the holding of the owner and the shipper equally guilty, that I believe is a very important part of the amendments. Mr. Dennison said how are you going to identify them. Well, certainly there must be some slip that that driver carries with the owner's and the shipper's names on it.

He brought up the fact that one may be from out-of-state. I was dubious about that part of my amendments. I have checked them. I have been advised the proper thing to do in the case of an over-loaded out-of-state truck is that you would impound that truck until the penalties were paid. That, would be one sure way of stopping over-loading by out-of-state trucks, because I am sure that no out-of-state owner or shipper would want his truck held up until he sent the fine as well as the costs to the alderman.

As to the suspension of a driver, certainly that driver should be suspended. If the license is suspended for speeding, certainly that man should be suspended for driving an over-loaded truck on the highway. I say that he is much more dangerous to this state than a speeder. What is the difference between a man who would go out and blow up a bridge and a man with a twenty ton truck that would drive over a bridge that is allowed 3,000 pounds and the bridge caved in? The same results. That has happened in the state where a twenty ton truck went over a 3,000 pound bridge. The bridge caved in. It was months before the pedestrians of that section could use it. They had to go miles and miles around.

I want to make it clear, my purpose in these amendments is strictly to have it enforced. I want to make it clear also that my purpose, in case this bill passed, that it had some teeth in it. I am not going to vote for the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments. In its present form Senate Bill 615 puts the over-loader out of business with penalties so drastic that not even the highest rate obtainable would permit a trucker to overload and stay in business, if the bill that I hope will pass is enforced. You cannot legislate on the presumption that the measures you pass will not be enforced. The act in its present form has plenty of teeth. If I did not think it had teeth I would be willing to stay here tomorrow to put some teeth in it. The gentleman who suggests the amendments had opportunity to bring his teeth yesterday and simply because his dental arrangements have been delayed I cannot see any reason why we should stay here tomorrow to vote upon a bill that is in proper shape at the present time.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, in order not to hold the House up, in view of the fact that I have amendments similar to those of Mr. Rigby which would impose a penalty upon shippers and owners of goods shipped in certain cases, I am going to withdraw my amendments, or withhold them and ask the House to support the amendments of Mr. Rigby, to make this truck bill a clear cut bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Rigby, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RIGBY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman tell me exactly what a shipper is?

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Readinger I would presume a shipper is a gentleman that is hired to supervise the loading and putting his wares out on the road.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Rigby if an individual living in Pennsylvania decided to move to another state and called a moving concern and gave instructions to move his furniture to the other state, would he be a shipper when his furniture was loaded on that van?

Mr. RIGBY. Well I think technically he would be. So would you be, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. READINGER. Would not your amendment here imposing penalties on the owner and the shipper impose a $500 fine upon that householder if that truck happened to exceed the weight limits of the bill?

Mr. RIGBY. Well, it probably would Mr. Readinger, but don't you think that you are stretching a point pretty far to take an individual and his moving? Who is going to have 60,000 of furniture in moving? That is quite a house full. I think that maybe you could move a good bit of the capitol in that.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Rigby, the only thing I wanted to ascertain was whether your amendment is broad enough to make a violator out of the householder who would not have any idea how much his furniture weighs or how much they are putting on one individual truck, is it broad enough to cover him?

Mr. RIGBY. I do not think that it would. I think that police officer and I think most police officers are fair, and at their discretion I think they would handle it very well.

Mr. READINGER. Do you not think it unwise to make your amendment so broad that if a truck operator were picked and found to be violating the weight limits, a person as innocent as the one I am talking about could be fined? Do you think that is wise legislation?

Mr. RIGBY. Well I think it is wise legislation if you are interested in the stopping of overloading trucks. However, I repeat I think you are stretching the point pretty thin.

Mr. READINGER. Perhaps I am stretching the point, Mr. Speaker, but I would like to point out to the House that this amendment if it had merit could certainly be worded in such a way that no innocent shippers would ever be subjected to a charge of having violated a law and perhaps being made to pay a fine.

I know that nobody in this House wants this to happen, but it could very easily happen in this case. I am not familiar with the trucking or the moving business, but looking at the size of some of the moving vans I am sure they could carry a great deal more than 60,000 pounds total weight if they wanted to.

When I move my furniture from Pennsylvania to some other state I do not have the slightest idea whether that truck is going to stop at some other point and pick up some other person's furniture going to the same place. Since I would be considered a shipper under those circumstances I think this is a very bad amendment.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to Mr. Readinger, is the proponents of this bill will agree to postpone the bill temporarily I will be more than willing to meet and sit down and change these amendments to meet his requirements; if they want to postpone this bill temporarily and we can refer it back to Committee.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RIGBY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker as I understand the amendment as to the overload, does that include any trucks, that is half ton, three-quarter and from there on up?

Mr. RIGBY. If the gentleman will read this bill, there is a five percent allowance on overloading.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker I am asking about this amendment, not about the bill.

Mr. RIGBY. The amendments are to include any trucks that are loaded above the five percent.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker, I had occasion this year on the farm to be raising peas. I take them in to a binder and I judge about what my weight is. I am allowed 15,000 pounds gross. I check a load on the scales, then we hit a rainy spell or wet morning with a lot of dew and we have a lot of water on that same load, but the load is about as big in proportion as the day before. I go down the highway, and I lose my license for ninety days.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, in enacting legislation I think it would be very difficult to take into consideration the element of what water and snow may do to his load. Of course I could tell the gentleman maybe he could take those peas down and put them through a wringer, but I believe any sensible officer certainly would take that into consideration. We cannot legislate the weather, and I am not attempting to.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker, when you make a law stipulating certain weights and the police are told that it is their job to arrest, I cannot see where they can allow for water or anything else, whether you have an overload of milk on your truck or whether you do not that morning. Certainly it is going to work a hardship on the farmers who are hauling milk or any other produce into town to lose their license for ninety days.

Mr. Rigby states that the police will use their judgment. Not in our section, because they have to make so many arrests every month or they get moved out. The only place in the country I know. I ask the support of the House in defeating these amendments.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, I presume that there is no water in Mr. Gleason's milk.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker, I want to tell you we have not had any rain up there until last Sunday, since July 4th, and our cows are giving powdered milk.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, in response to Mr. Rigby's suggestion that the bill be held over until these amendments could be placed in proper order, that suggestion was made yesterday under an agreement that today the amendments would be in proper order. Now I am thoroughly convinced, and I think that most of the Members of the House are convinced that there is no possible way that you could get such obnoxious amendments in proper order.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER declared the nays appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, fourteen Members voting in the affirmative and one hundred fifty in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill and I would like to read several communications from different organizations relative to why they oppose the bill. I have one here the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors. I quote as follows:

My dear Representative:

As a statewide organization vitally interested in the roads of Pennsylvania, we ask you to recognize the fact that truck weights are an engineering and not a political decision.

We ask for the defeat of Senate Bill No. 615 until we have before us the result of the Maryland road test, now being conducted by impartial qualified highway engineers and by practically all interests identified with the road problems.

In asking for the defeat of Senate Bill No. 615, the following points should be considered:

(1) There should be no increase in truck weights until we have engineering proof that the big trucks do not damage our roads.

(2) Overloading fines should be most severe as well as uniform. Senate 615 does not provide uniform fines.

(3) The law should make mandatory the unloading of illegal loads. Senate 615 does not.

(4) The Department of Revenue should retain its power of revoking licenses of habitual violators.

(5) Trucks should pay their way. License fees on trucks should be of an amount commensurate with damage done to roads.

(6) Our 45,000 miles of roads and 10,000 bridges, as well as many miles of state highways and hundreds of state and county bridges will not carry any increase in truck weights.

We are joined in asking for the defeat of this bill by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, Rural Letter Carriers' Association, Pennsylvania Federation of Womens' Clubs, Keystone Auto Club, Pittsburgh

Motor Club, Pennsylvania State Grange, and Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs.

We should properly add to the above 90% of the motoring public of Pennsylvania. Ask Mr. Average Motorist.

Your consideration will be appreciated.

Very sincerely yours,

H. A. THOMSON, Secretary.

Also opposed to this bill is the Brotherhood of Railway Steamship Clerks of the AFL, the freight handlers, express and station employes (that is an AFL organization) the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors, the CIO, United Mine Workers of America are all opposed to this bill.

In addition to that I have another communication here from the Pennsylvania State Grange.

In the heat of controversy engendered by the Truck Bill, S-615, now pending in the House, it occurs to us that it might be refreshing to read the enclosed pamphlet which comes from an informed and unbiased source.

You will note that the article is prepared by T. J. Kauer, Director, Ohio Department of Highways, and is reprinted from "State Government," May, 1951, published by The Council of State Governments.

We know that you are over-burdened with mail at this time, but it will be appreciated if you will kindly scan this matter.

Sincerely yours,

JOAB K. MAHOOD, Secretary
Pennsylvania State Grange

Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to read this communication. It is quite lengthy. However, I will turn it over for the records.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman. The statement presented by the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

THE MARYLAND ROAD TESTS

Effects of Various Axle Loads on a Reinforced Portland Cement Concrete Pavement—
Maryland Road Test One-MD

By T. J. Kauer

Director, Ohio Department of Highways

(In this article Mr. Kauer, Chairman of the Inter-Regional Council on Highways Transportation and member of the Project Executive Committee in charge of the Maryland Road Tests, describes the nature of the tests and outstanding conclusions to be drawn from them to date. The results, he states, "already indicate conclusively that further increases in legal weights of commercial vehicles should be halted.")

In our fast moving world, science frequently outstrips the capabilities of man to cope with his own advancements. Such is the case today when people are asking: "Are the trucks taking over the highways?"

Today we find our main highways clogged with more cars traveling more miles than ever before, more and heavier trucks carrying bigger loads and traveling greater distances than ever before. This trend is increasing steadily upward. Our city streets are jammed with cars and trucks which have no parking spaces and whose efficiency is hampered through their own sheer numbers. Many of our rural and urban highways have shown repeatedly that they are not capable of carrying the ever-increasing number of trucks with heavy axle loads.

It is true that pavements can be built that will withstand any number of repetitions of any given axle loads. However, the Nation's capabilities to manufacture cars and trucks seem to have no limit, but maintenance and construction of highways and streets have very definite limitations based upon time, materials, and funds. Last year, the total miles of new construction only provided parking space for the new units produced.

Economically, the trucking industry has grown to become a very important cog in America's life. The efficiency of shipping by truck has been proven, and it is not the intention of public officials unjustly to restrict this far-reaching industry. However, every car owner in the Nation sees the problem. The majority of our roads were not built to carry the loads now hauled.

On the initiative of Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio a Conference of Central Atlantic and Mid-Western States Highway Officials was called for December 5 and 6, 1949. The purpose of this conference was to discuss the legal limitation of commercial vehicle dimensions and weights, together with associated problems, toward attaining uniformity among the various States. Representatives of the following States and organizations were present: Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Wisconsin, the Bureau of Public Roads, and the Council of State Governments.

In opening the meeting, Governor Lausche suggested that the following points be considered:

(1) Are our laws sufficiently liberal, or too severe, in regard to restriction of the sizes and weights of trucks?

(2) To what extent do over-loads cause accidents?

(3) To what extent do they contribute to the breakdown of our roads?

(4) Has there been adequate contribution by trucking interests toward the financing of construction of roads?

After considerable discussion, it was decided that the Conference should be continued as an operating group, and "Inter-Regional Council on Highway Transportation" was adopted as the name of the group. George N. Lewis, Jr., Director of the Traffic Division of Maryland, was elected Secretary, and the writer was elected Chairman. It also was decided that a committee should report on the feasibility of establishing a test road for the purpose of determining actual damage to paving surfaces due to the operation of commercial traffic. The last previous investigation of this type was made by the Illinois Highway Department almost thirty years ago, on a project known as the Bates Test Road.

Test Road Selected

A committee of engineers representing the various States in the Council, the Bureau of Public Roads, and the Highway Research Board selected a 1.1 mile section of portland cement concrete pavement on U. S. Route 301, located approximately nine miles south of La Plata in Charles County, Maryland. The project was designated "Road Test One-MD."

The pavement was constructed in 1941. According to information furnished by the Maryland State Roads Commission, the traffic to which it previously had been subjected included few vehicles with axle loads in excess of 18,000 pounds. However, the pavement had been subjected to a variety of weather conditions, ranging from heat to cold, natural cycles of freezing and thawing, wetting and drying, and all seasonal changes of nine years. The pavement was in excellent condition at the start of the tests.

The pavement is reinforced portland cement concrete and consists of two 12-foot lanes separated by a longitudinal joint, each lane having a parabolic cross section 9 inches thick at the lane edges and 7 inches thick at the center of the lanes. Expansion joints  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch wide are spaced at intervals of 120 feet, with two intermediate contraction joints at 40-foot spacings. Dowel bars  $\frac{3}{4}$  of an inch in diameter at 15-inch spacing are placed in all transverse joints. The adjacent lanes are tied together with tie bars 4 feet long spaced at 4-foot intervals.

Organization

After the test site had been selected, States again were contacted to obtain the necessary funds to carry on the project, it being agreed that the tests be conducted at the joint expense of the participating state highway departments, with the Highway Research Board assuming direction of the project.

As finally organized, the following highway departments executed contracts—the National Academy of Sciences agreeing to participate financially in this cooperative project: Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia.

The project is being administered and supervised by the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences through a small Project Executive Committee and an Advisory Committee, both under the chairmanship of Fred Burggraf, Associate Director of the Highway Research Board. The Project Executive Committee also includes H. S. Fairbank of the Bureau of Public Roads, A. S. Gordon of the Maryland State Roads Commission, and the writer. The Advisory Committee includes one representative from each of the participating States, one representative of the Bureau of Public Roads, one representative from the Automobile Manufacturers Association, one from the American Trucking Association, and one from the Department of the Army. Other representatives appointed by the Highway Research Board are the Chairmen of the Highway Research Board's Department of Economics, Finance and Administration, and Department of Design.

The field staff assigned to the Highway Research Board by the Bureau of Public Roads consisted of A. Traragin as Project Engineer and three Assistant Engineers, Theodore Dec, Jack R. Hutchins, and Sydney W. Smith.

Cost of Project

The cost of this project is shared by the participating States in monetary contributions; by the Bureau of Public Roads in providing personnel and instruments for measurements of surface roughness, slab strains, and deflections caused by the test loads, for soil surveys, and other necessary instrumentation and testing services, and in providing the services of the project engineer and three assistants; by the petroleum industry in providing gasoline, oil, and grease; and by truck manufacturers of the Automobile Manufacturers Association in providing the test vehicles. Vehicles were furnished by The Ford Motor Company, Reo Motors, Inc., General Motors Corporation, Autocar Company, White Motor Company, International Harvester Company, and Mack International Motor Truck Company. Gasoline, oil, and grease were supplied by the following fourteen companies: American, Atlantic, Cities Service, Esso, Standard of New Jersey, Gulf, Ohio, Phillips, Pure, Shell, Sinclair, Soncony Vacuum, Sun, Texas, and Tidewater.

The total estimated cost of the project is $245,000. Toward this amount $150,000 has been contributed by the twelve highway departments previously mentioned; the balance has been in contributions of personnel, services, equipment, and material valued approximately as follows:

Bureau of Public Roads
Personnel and service .....	$40,000
Truck Manufacturers
Test vehicles .....	27,500
Petroleum Industry
Grease, oil and gasoline .....	20,000
Department of Defense
Aerial photography .....	3,100
Personnel .....	4,400

$95,000

An estimated distribution of the cash expenditures is:

Testing Operations .....	$52,450
By-pass Road and Turnarounds .....	50,900
Administration .....	9,050
Maintenance of Test Road .....	2,000
Final Repair of Test Road .....	28,000
Reports .....	2,600

Test Sections

The 1.1 mile test road was divided into four sections; the two sections on the south end of the project were 0.5 miles long, and the two on the north end of the project 0.6 miles long. Turnarounds were constructed at both ends and between the two southern and two northern sections.

Section 1 is located on the west lane south of the central turnaround. This section was tested with two single-unit, two-axle trucks having rear-axle loads of 18,000 pounds.

Section 2 is located on the east lane south of the central turnaround. This section was tested with two single-unit, two-axle trucks having rear-axle loads of 22,400 pounds.

Section 3 is located on the west lane north of the central turnaround. This section was tested with two single-unit, tandem-axle trucks having tandem-axle loads of 32,000 pounds.

Section 4 is located on the east lane north of the central turnaround. This section was tested with two single-unit, tandem-axle trucks having tandem-axle loads of 44,800 pounds.

Preliminary Soil Survey

Soil test data have been obtained from 50 auger borings made adjacent to the concrete pavement to a depth of approximately 30 inches, spaced at 100-foot intervals on alternate sides of the pavement from end to end of each test lane.

These data indicate that approximately 15 per cent of the subgrade soils (mainly at the south end of sections 1 and 2) have granular characteristics and that the remainder are fine-grained, plastic soils.

These fine-grained soils have been compared by Group Index Ratings with the average type of soils found under "pumping"<sup>1</sup> pavements in Illinois, Indiana, North Carolina, and Tennessee. This comparison shows that the loam and silty loam soils on this project are better than the average of the soils that have been found conducive to pumping in three of the States and are about the same as the average of such soils in the fourth State.

Also, a comparison on a grain-size basis shows the average of the soils adjacent to the pavement on the project to be slightly better than the average of soils for the entire State of Maryland.

<sup>1</sup> The deflections of concrete pavements at joints, cracks, and along the edge of the pavement, under heavy loads after the accumulation of water in some subgrade soils, cause displacement and ejection of water carrying soil particles in suspension. This action is known as "pumping," and its continued repetition removes sufficient soil to result in lack of subgrade support and eventual cracking of the pavement.

Regardless of the variation in the soils along the edge of the pavement, the behavior of Section 3 (32,000-lb. tandem-axle loads), may be compared with the behavior of Section 4 (44,800-lb. tandem-axle loads), because the subgrade across the grade has been found to be reasonably uniform. Similarly, has been found to be reasonably uniform. Similarly, Section 1 (18,000-lb. single-axle load) may be compared with Section 2 (22,400-lb. single-axle load). But, before the behaviors of the test pavements under the tandem-axle loading may be compared to those of the single-axle loadings, the characteristics of the subgrade soils under each pavement slab, vehicle speeds, rate of load applications, and other variables must be studied in detail.

Concrete Tests

Nineteen beams approximately seven inches wide were sawed from the four concrete specimens removed from the pavement for this project. The average flexural strength was 728 p.s.i. (pounds per square inch). The average flexural strength of twenty-eight beams made during the construction of the pavement included in the test section was 485 p.s.i. at seven days. The average compressive strength of 12 six-inch diameter cores drilled in June from portions of the roadway not subjected to test traffic was 6,944 p.s.i. after being immersed in water for twenty-eight days. The average compressive strength of twenty cores drilled from the pavement included in the test section, two months after it was constructed and tested at an age of four months, was 4,838 p.s.i. The average modulus of elasticity of the cores was 4,800,000 p.s.i. for the wet conditions.

The average height of these cores was 7.6 inches. The average required thickness for the concrete at the areas where the cores were removed was 7.5

All of these tests show that the concrete was of good quality and had the designed thickness.

Additional cores and slabs are being removed from the test road and a complete report on them will be given when all the cores and beams are tested and the data analyzed.

Test Procedures

The behavior of the pavement under the loads in the four sections was determined by measuring the rate of crack development in the concrete slabs, by the amount of pumping along the free edge and in the points, by the road surface roughness, by the amount of slab settlement, and by the strain and deflection measurements of the slabs under load.

Crack Surveys

A detailed survey was made of the cracks in each slab prior to the beginning of operation with the test trucks. A solid, black line approximately one and one-half inches in width was painted adjacent to each existing crack along its full length. As new cracks or extensions of old cracks developed, they were painted with contrasting liens as follows:

Solid yellow line from June 23 to August 7

Solid white line from August 8 to September 19

Solid red line from September 20 to November 8

Dashed yellow line from November 9 to December 23

Each slab was checked for cracks each day, and the exact position of each crack as it developed was recorded on a card with the date and number of load applications when the crack was first noticed. On Section 1, where the 18,000-lb. single-axle loads were applied after six months of operation, 241 feet of cracks were found after more than 238,000 truck passes. With the same number of truck passes on Section 2 (22,400-lb. single-axle loads) 1,210 feet of cracks were found. This is a ratio of 5 to 1 of the cracking with 22,400-lb. loads as compared with the 18,000-lb. single-axle loads. However, when consideration is given only to those cracks that have been determined by analysis to represent structural failure due to load, the ratio is 6 to 1.

By action of the Executive and Advisory Committees, test traffic on Section 4 (44,800-lb. tandem-axle trucks) was stopped on October 13, 1950. At that time 92,166 truck passes had been applied on this section and 3,303 feet of new cracks were found, with the same number of passes on Section 3 (32,000-lb. tandem-axle loads) 307 feet of cracks were found—a ratio from Section 4 to 3 of 11 to 1. It is interesting to note that longitudinal cracks of any extent developed only on Section 4. Twenty-five per cent of the cracks in Section 4 were longitudinal. On Section 3, only 3 per cent of the cracks were longitudinal. On Sections 1 and 2 the percentages were 4 and 6, respectively.

Figures 1 and 2 show the rate of development of cracking under single and tandem axles respectively.

Figures 3 and 4 show the crack patterns for typical sections under single and tandem axles.

The Air Force cooperated to the extent of flying a jet plane over the project and obtaining a color transparency Sonne strip photograph showing the cracks (by the contrasting colors) in each slab on all four sections. One such strip was obtained on August 14 and another after the traffic tests were completed.

Pumping

In conjunction with the daily crack survey a pumping survey was made each day. This survey consisted of recording the number of places and the lineal feet along the free edge, and the number of transverse joints that were pumping. Table 1 shows the number of days in each month that shows the number of days in each month that pumping was found in each section and also the maximum amount of pumping recorded. Figures 5 and 6 show by month the maximum lineal feet of pumping recorded at the free edges of all sections, and Figures 7 and 8 show the maximum number of transverse joints that pumped each month in each of the sections. Rain was recorded on the project by a rain gauge, loaned to the project by the Weather Bureau of the Department of Commerce. In a number of cases pumping was noticed along the longitudinal joints, particularly between Section 3 and 4. Because this type of pumping cannot be attributed easily to any one of the loadings, figures for longitudinal pumping are not given. Figure 9 shows an example of pumping along the free edge and Figure 10 shows an example of pumping in the transverse joint.

Road Surface Roughness

The Bureau of Public Roads road surface roughness indicator was used to obtain surface roughness data on June 12, before the tests started, and on August 8 and September 20. These measurements were made in both directions along each normal wheel path at 20 miles per hour.

The average of all the sections shows an increase in roughness of 3.6 units during the first eight weeks of truck traffic. During the next six weeks an additional increase in roughness of 11.6 units, or a total increase of 15.2 units, was recorded for fourteen weeks of test truck traffic. The following shows the increase in road surface roughness by section from June 12 to September 20.

Section number	Increase in road surface roughness Units per mile
1. (18,000-pound single axles)	12.9
2. (22,400-pound single axles)	12.4
3. (32,000-pound tandem axles)	12.0
4. (44,800-pound tandem axles)	23.5

A final road surface roughness measurement will be made as soon as the frost leaves the subgrade.

Slab Settlement

Each slab (12 by 40 feet) was identified by a number painted on the slab. Ten spots were painted in each slab for reference points for precise level observations of variation in elevations. The Coast and Geodetic Survey placed fifteen permanent concrete bench marks along the project and determined their elevation. These were used as reference points to determine the settlement of the slabs.

The first set of levels was run from May 15 to May 17, prior to any test truck traffic. A repeat set of levels was run on July 27 and 28 and again on October 1 and 2. The average settlement for all the slabs at the free edge of the transverse joints as of October 2 was as follows:

Section Number	Increase in settlement of slabs at free edge of transverse joint Inches
1. (18,000-pound single axle)	0.17
2. (22,400-pound single axle)	0.40
3. (32,000-pound tandem axles)	0.27
4. (44,800-pound tandem axles)	0.88

Observations of Strain and Deflection

Another phase of this research project is concerned with the strains in the pavement caused by the various axle loads at various speeds and by the phenomena known as warping. Information observers of future pavements and should permit the extension of the findings of the traffic test phase to portland cement concrete pavements of different structural design. This part of the project requires considerably more field and office work.

Before starting the test traffic, strains and deflections at certain joints were measured under 18,000- and 22,400-pound single-axle and 32,000- and 44,800-pound tandem-axle loads at creep speed and at 15, 30, and 40 miles per hour. No significant pumping had occurred prior to these measurements.

These early tests showed that tandem axles acted independently, at least at lower speeds, and that the strain returned almost to zero when one axle left the gauge point and the other had not yet reached it. Later tests made after the joints had been pumping showed that under pumping conditions tandem axles, each carrying a given load, do not act independently but rather tend to produce strains appreciably higher than a single axle carrying the same load.

After the traffic tests were started and pumping became evident, strain and deflection measurements were made at selected joints. Where the subsoil was good (pumping had not occurred) these measurements agree with the earlier tests, but, where pumping had occurred, much higher values were obtained. In some cases stresses near pumping joints were appreciably greater than one-half the modulus of rupture of the concrete. Previous research has shown that concrete will break if subjected to relatively few repetitions of a load which produces stresses in excess of 50 per cent of the modulus of rupture.

Tests under way and scheduled for completion this spring will provide data over a wider range of axle loads and for slabs on each type of soil encountered on the project.

Maintenance

The Executive and Advisory Committees for this project have defined maintenance as follows:

"To maintain shoulders reasonably flush with the edge of the pavement, to seal joints, and to correct profile deficiencies to insure safe operating conditions as necessary in the opinion of the Project Engineer with the advice of the State Resident Maintenance Engineer and others. Maintenance is not to include undersealing to correct for pumping."

For the six-month period of operation the shoulders were maintained twenty-three times and the joints were resealed eleven times. The first time joints were resealed was on July 8 and the first maintenance to the shoulders was given on July 13. Because of the wet condition of the shoulder during the early part of July, it was not feasible to give maintenance any sooner. In addition, French drains were installed on July 18 along three joints on the free edge of Section 2 (22,400-pound single-axle loads). The following numbers of joints were brought up to level with hot plant mix bituminous material: Section 1-1 joint; Section 2-3 joints; Section 3-nine; Section 4-2 joints.

Summary of Results to Date

As stated by the Advisory Committee: "All pertinent data must be carefully analyzed before the final report, however, certain facts relative to the behavior of the pavement under test have already been established.

"The more significant observations which may be made from the test results to December 23 (after six months of continuous operation) are as follows:

"1. Soil tests made on samples obtained throughout the length of the pavement adjacent to the pavement edges and under certain sections of the pavement indicates that there is reasonable uniformity in the soils on the two sides of the pavement.

"2. Based on these same soil tests, there is found to be a definite correlation between soil type and pavement behavior. The higher the granular content and the lower the plasticity of the soil, the better the performance. The subgrade soils on this project are typical of the soils underlying a very extensive mileage of concrete pavement throughout the country.

"3. The progress of cracking and depression of joints in the test sections has a definite relationship to the occurrence of pumping. Previous research and observation have shown that four basic conditions must be present simultaneously to create a pumping slab. They are: (1) frequent heavy axle loads; (2) subgrade soils of such a nature that they may pump through open joints or cracks or at pavement edges; (3) free water under the pavement; and (4) joints or cracks in the pavement. These conditions were present on this project and pumping resulted.

"4. Based on both quality tests and dimension measurements, the concrete in the test sections is of good strength and of the designed thickness.

"5. All four sections were damaged as follows by the loads applied:

"(a) The 44,800-lb. tandem-axle loads caused approximately eleven times as much cracking (lineal feet) as the 32,000-lb. tandem-axle loads. This relationship held true over a period of almost four months, that is, from 20,000 to 92,000 truck passes in each lane.

"(b) The 22,400-lb. single-axle loads caused approximately six times as much cracking (lineal feet) as the 18,000-lb. single-axle loads. This relationship held true over a period of almost five months, that is, from 35,000 to 238,000 truck passes in each lane.

"(c) After 84,000 truck passes, 80 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 44,800-lb. tandem-axle loads were depressed, whereas, with the same number of truck passes, only 10 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 32,000-lb. tandem-axle loads were depressed. (Depressed joints are defined as those joints at which a marked localized settlement of the pavement has occurred, accompanied by cracking of the pavement in the vicinity of the joint.)

"(d) After 137,000 truck passes, 22 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 22,400-lb. single-axle loads were depressed, whereas, with the same number of truck passes, only 2 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 18,000-lb. single-axle loads were depressed.

"6. (a) After 238,000 truck passes, 28 per cent of the slabs in the section under 18,000-lb single-axle loads and 64 per cent of the slabs under 22,400-lb. axle loads contained cracks which have been analyzed as constituting structural failures due to the application of the test axle loads. Conversely, 72 per cent of the slabs in the 18,000 lb. section and 36 per cent of the slabs in the 22,400-lb. section show no such structural failures.

"b After 92,000 truck passes, 27 per cent of the slabs in the section under 32,000-lb. tandem-axle loads and 96 per cent of the slabs under 44,800-lb. tandem-axle loads contained cracks which have been analyzed as constituting structural failures due to the application of the test axle loads. Conversely, 73 per cent of the slabs in the 32,000-lb. section and 4 per cent of the slabs in the 44,800-lb. section show no such structural failures."

It will be noted that pumping was a major factor in failure of the various sections. Prior to the late thirties or early forties pumping was not a serious problem for highway departments. However, it should be remembered that in 1925 in Ohio there were no 18,000- pound axle loads on rural state highways. In 1948 there were 142 axle loads weighing 18,000 pounds or more out of every 1,000 trucks weighed. Highway engineers soon realized that, with the great increase in the number of heavy axle loads, it was necessary, where the existing soil was of the type that would pump, to place a layer of granular material between the concrete slab and the soil.

We recently have completed the analysis of data gathered in a survey of approximately 500 miles of portland cement concrete pavement in Ohio. Some of the conclusions may be summarized briefly as follows:

1. Little or no pumping occurred on the majority of the projects carrying 50 and less 14,000-pound axles and 20 and less 18,000-pound axles per eight hours, even under unfavorable conditions of subgrade soil and design.

2. Where the number of 14,000-pound axles per eight hours is expected to be within 51 and 250, it is well to use a granular subbase even though it is not a first-class, low-plasticity material. Traffic data indicate that this load group would include 20 to 80 axles of 18,000 pounds and greater.

3. The study shows that granular subbase material having a plasticity index of six or less should be used over fine-grained soils to prevent pumping where the traffic is expected to have over 250 axles of 14,000 pounds per eight hours. Traffic data indicate that this load group would include more than 80 axles of 18,000 pounds or greater.

To secure complete answers to the interrelationship between the loads and subgrades on Road Test One-MD it will be necessary to wait until the extensive soil survey is completed. However, for the soils generally found on the project, which are similar to those under most of our existing pavement in Ohio, I believe that the damage is directly proportional to the number and weight of the axle loads. Where the underlying material is granular in character, the performance under 18,000- and 22,400-pound single-axle loads was good. This checks with our experience with granular subbases.

As previously stated, the tests are not completed, and undoubtedly will be continued for some time into the future, after which the final data will become available.

You might say that these are not normal loadings and that the tests are accelerated far beyond normal usage of our highways. This is not true of Ohio's highways, and likewise I can well imagine that similar heavy truck traffic is traversing the highways of Ohio's sister States.

With axle loadings being applied to each test section of the test pavements at average frequencies ranging from 884 to 1,333 per twenty-four hour period, it is apparent that many of our present highways are called upon to withstand equal or greater applications of legal loads.

Comparisons with several of Ohio's heavy truck routes reveal that heavy truck units and combination units are subjecting those pavements to greater frequencies of applications, as follows:

2,840 such vehicles per twenty-four hours on U.S. 24 between Toledo and the Michigan state line.

2,240 on Route 20 south of Toledo.

1,730 on U. S. Route 25, between Dayton and Franklin.

1,520 on Route 14 between Columbiana and the Pennsylvania state line.

Thus it is obvious that these controlled measurements of damage to a pavement that is as good as or better than normal existing pavements are being applied at a rate that approximates, in some instances, the frequency that traffic actually is presently generating on existing highways. Also, it is obvious that any existing road is potentially exposed to similar, heavy, commercial traffic.

What does all this add up to? While we must await the completions of the tests for a thorough analysis, surely the results already indicate conclusively that further increases in legal weights of commercial vehicles should be halted. The moratorium on upward revisions in such limitations that was proposed at the Conference in Columbus last year, as well as at the Governors' Conference at White Sulphur Springs this year, definitely and decisively should be accomplished by each of the States.

This is especially true at the present time, with international relations strained to a dangerous degree and with a resultant hazard of war. In case of war, there are routes across Ohio that would be called upon to carry heavy truck traffic in greater concentration than is presently being generated. The results to date of the tests on the Maryland test road indicate that increased frequencies of heavy loadings on these paving surfaces might disrupt seriously the effective functioning of these highly essential routes.

It is possible for highway engineers to design pavements that will withstand any given number of given axle loads. Any pavement designed for a large number of extremely heavy axle loads will, of course, cost considerably more than pavements adequate for more moderate axle loads. The question at issue is whether or not trucks pay their fair share of highway costs. In Ohio we are of the opinion that the large truck with heavy cargoes definitely damage the highways far in excess of the proportionate gross weight of such trucks compared to the gross weight of ordinary vehicles.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I also have a communication here from the United Railroad Brotherhood Committee, comprising the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers and Express and Station Employees affiliated with the AFL. Also from the Pennsylvania State Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Maintenance and Way Employees affiliated with the AFL.

Dear Mr. Moran:—

The United Railroad Brotherhood Committee, composed of the following labor organizations; the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, is opposed to S. B. 615—The Big Truck Bill.

It seems the entire nation is facing a transportation crisis. It is a well known fact that the roads and highways throughout the country are going to pieces faster than money can be found to replace them. But besides wrecking the highways, the huge overloaded trucks are the cause of many fatal and near fatal accidents and unquestionably contribute towards the discomfort of the traveling public.

Most of the truck transportation companies affected by this measure will be permitted to skim off the cream of the transportation business leaving the railroad industry to handle a greater portion of the unprofitable commodities, thereby jeopardizing the financial stability of our railroad transportation system.

While the railroads support their own roadways, the trucking industry pays out only about three per cent of its receipts in the form of gasoline and other taxes for the use of the public highways—the tax payers pay the remainder of the highway cost. This creates an unjustifiable subsidy for one segment of the truck transportation industry enabling that particular group to compete unfairly with the railroad industry.

In view of the above, we ask your support and influence towards the defeat of this measure.

Yours very truly,

JAMES A. FOX,
Chairman.

I also have a communication here from Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Dear Sir:

The members of the Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs are very much opposed to any further increases in truck weights or sizes as are contemplated in Senate Bill 615.

Our roads are already overburdened with axle loads and great weights of the Box Car Trucks.

These vehicles are also a menace to safety and are ruining our secondary road systems.

It is our opinion that present registration fees and and fines should be increased but no further, weight axle or load limits should be permitted, and we ask that you oppose those provisions of this Bill No. 615.

Very sincerely yours,

FAME W. HOUSTON

Mrs. Fred C. Houston, President

Honorable J. P. Moran

116 Eighth Street

Turtle Creek, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I came home from the hospital a few days ago, a victim of an auto carrier crashing into my car. I am fortunate to be here to tell about it, as my car was completely demolished.

I believe every person on our highways today fears these monsters. They are killing ever so many people, and yet they want to increase their loads. The number of these road monsters is increasing daily. They defy the laws by overloading, and their mechanical condition, brakes, etc., are reported frequently as failing. This all requires the careful attention of our law-makers.

May I suggest that these trucks be put on a road of their own, the same as the railroads, and let them keep it up. The weight of loads certainly should not be increased, and their speed limit on level road and downgrades should be reduced. You know, and every car-owner knows how fast they go on every downgrade. Can anything be done about the drivers going without regular sleep and falling asleep at the wheel?

The public needs protection against these road monsters!

Sincerely yours,

D. J. SULLIVAN

That is signed "D. J. Sullivan." I judge he must be an Irishman.

August 7, 1951.

To the Honorable Members of the House of Representatives

Dear Sir:

The Pennsylvania CIO Council opposes Senate Bill No. 615, commonly known as the Truckers' Bill.

This bill increases the present allowable maximum gross weight from 45,000 pounds to 60,000 pounds. This represents 33 1/3 percent increase in allowable gross weight. In addition it provides no penalty for violations unless the gross weight exceeds 105 per cent of the respective maximum weight allowed.

This means that a truck tractor and two-axle semi-trailer, while legally permitted to haul 60,000 pounds gross load, is actually allowed to carry 5 percent (3,000 pounds) more before a penalty can be imposed for overweight. This makes the actual allowable gross weight for such vehicles 63,000 pounds.

This compares with the present gross allowable for such vehicle of 45,000 pounds, plus 5 percent, or 47,250 pounds.

The increased maximum allowance gross of 15,750 pounds would raise havoc with the highways. This added impact thrust on the road surface would be quite damaging beyond question.

Evidence of what present weights do is noticed on all roads, especially on the right side of the world's best highway, the Pennsylvania Turnpike. To accelerate this injury to the road surface by allowing the impact thrust to be increased almost eight tons would be even much more damaging.

The roads belong to all the people. Increased fees and penalties for violations will not replace broken roadbeds.

In addition to the obvious increase in damage to the roads, the hauling of heavier loads may well lead to decreased employment.

We respectfully urge you to vote against Senate Bill No. 615.

Very truly yours,

HARRY BOYER, President

I have here a communication from the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

All Members of the State Legislature:

Dear Sirs:

For your consideration and action, I am attaching a resolution adopted by the twentieth international convention of the Brotherhood Railway Carmen of America, held in Kansas City, Missouri, September 11 to 22, inclusive, 1950.

Delegates from every state in the United States, as well as every province in the Dominion of Canada, in attendance at our convention gave this resolution their full support.

The highways of North America are being destroyed by heavy trucks and buses. These highways are maintained by the taxpayers, including the railroads, which are among the highest taxpayers. In addition to destroying the highways, many lives are lost daily due to accidents caused by heavily loaded trucks and buses.

Thanking you in advance for giving this resolution your kind consideration and attention, I remain

Your respectfully,

IRVIN BARNEY,
General President

RESOLUTION

Outling Basic Requirements of Public Policy Bearing Upon the Relationship Between Competing Forms of Transportation

Whereas, The magnificent performance of the railroads of the United States and Canada and of their employees during World War III and their universal service in fulfilling the peacetime needs of agriculture, industry and the entire public have conclusively proven that a strong and efficient system of railroads is essential to the welfare and the defense of these nations, and

Whereas, Public policies as to transportation at both the state or provincial and national levels are, in many important respects, unsound and operate to restrain and impair the natural and inherent advantages of railway transportation through the provision of public support by various means of other forms of transportation thus affording to airway, waterway and highway transportation unnatural and unjustified opportunities to take from railroads traffic which is vital to their prosperity and continued existence and to dilute railroad traffic volume so as to unnecessarily and unjustifiably increase the aggregate cost of transportation to the traveling and shipping public, and

portation, the advantages to the public inherent in this means for the mass movement of freight and passengers in universal service at the lowest true cost, and the unique character of railroads as the only single instrument of transportation capable of rendering the complete, low-cost service essential to our North American economy, warrant the dedication by those who have chosen railroading as a career to a comprehensive and consistent effort to correct public policies applicable to transportation and to bring about the adoption and efficient administration of transportation policies which will properly serve the true public interest, Now Therefore,

Be It Resolved, That the Brotherhood Railway Carmen of America, in its Twentieth National Convention assembled at Kansas City, Missouri, this 22nd day of September, 1950, does hereby dedicate its effort and pledge the combined energies of its members toward the prompt adoption and the efficient and impartial administration of public policies as to transportation which will afford to all forms of transportation equal opportunity under the law, will allocate to each agency of transportation and those who use it the true and entire cost of the service rendered, will prevent the further construction at public expense of transportation facilities to unnecessarily and uneconomically duplicate facilities already in existence, will prevent the abuse of public highways and will promote the safety, convenience and economy of the public in their use of highways and other facilities

To that end, we urge

As To Highways and Highway Use

There have been invested more than twenty billions of dollars for the construction of improved rural highways, and further billions for their maintenance in addition to the vast sums expended for the improvement of city streets. These roads and streets were supposed to last a lifetime, yet after approximately thirty years of service by the oldest roads and an average service life of approximately fifteen years for our road system as a whole we find public highways generally in a deplorable state. The Joint Committee on the Economic Report states the need for the expenditure of forty-one billions of dollars (exclusive of Canada) to eliminate highway and street deficiencies.

The American Road Builders Association estimates needed expenditures of sixty billions of dollars over the next 15-20 years to put public highways into reasonable proper condition. The American Association of State Highway Officials forecasts the expenditure of some thirty billions of dollars on only 700,000 miles of primary highways and on only 37,800 miles of existing roads in the so-called system of interstate highways the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is advocating the expenditure of eleven billions of dollars.

The greater portion of these staggering sums is to be spent—not to accommodate increased needs of our expanded traffic of automobiles and trucks but to replace thousands of miles of public roads pounded to pieces by a steadily increasing number of heavy trucks travelling at high speeds for great distances.

In this premature destruction of our magnificent system of public roads there is a lesson which must be learned—an admonition we must heed if we are to avoid the profligate waste of yet more billions of our substance

1. We have permitted the abuse of our highways by allowing the movement thereon of many thousands of tons of freight which should have been moved by rail.

2. The weight and size limitations for trucks and truck trains applicable in most of the states and provinces have been far too liberal to prevent the premature destruction of highways, and

3. We have been inexcusably lax in the enforcement of such size and weight limitations as we have had, and flagrant violation has been the rule rather than the exception.

It would be futile to spend the requested billions for the reconstruction of roads while leaving them subject to the same forces which caused their destruction. We must not close our eyes to the relationship between cause and effect. It is only common sense to eliminate the cause of road damage before we spend billions to repair the damage that has already been done. Truck and trailer manufacturers, oil companies, road contractors and suppliers of road material, have banded together in the past to support the truckers in their demands for bigger and bigger trucks. It is these same forces who now demand the staggering sums for roads, yet they have made no move to correct the evils which brought about this tragic condition.

We oppose the raising of further funds for road construction until there is a good-faith demonstration of intention to eliminate the cause of premature road destruction.

We favor material reductions in both the gross loads and axle loads of commercial trucks and combinations. Two axled, "box car" trailers should be made unlawful and truck-trailer combination lengths should be materially reduced. Exceptions to these generally reduced limitations should be made only for vehicles engaged in the movement of livestock and agricultural products from the place of production to the first original market and then under permit limiting operation to roads serving areas where that kind of transportation service is essential.

Much has been said about the desirability of "uniformity" in size and weight limitations for motor vehicles as they are applied by the several states and provinces. Closer examination shows that the principal exponents of such uniformity are those who seek increases in states or provinces with lower limitations who are, at the same time, opposed to any reductions in states or provinces where existing limits are excessively high. Uniformity in size and weight limitations for trucks must be predicated upon uniformity in roads and their capacity. There is no semblance of uniformity in the capacity of roads and streets in the several states or provinces. Weight limits have been fixed at the maximum which only our very best roads are capable of carrying. Not all of the limited mileage state primary and federal aid roads is capable of carrying the weights now permitted. These 300,000 miles of improved roads constitute less than 10% of the total mileage of all rural roads yet weight limitations for all roads are based on the maximum capacity of these roads. Thus we have gauged the strength of our chain by its strongest link. Weight limitations should be so fixed as to achieve protection with "uniformity" as the secondary objective.

As to Subsidy

Government at all levels should end all subsidies to all forms of transportation. Air mail pay should be based upon the actual value of the service rendered and should not exceed air mail revenue. The existing and still increasing differences between civilian air craft and those for military purposes, and the maturity of the air transport industry, nullify any justification that may have existed for federal subsidy of air lines. The minimum requirement is that payments by the Federal Government for mail pay and for support be separated and that such subsidy payments as are made be honestly labeled as such. Air lines should be required to provide their own landing fields and terminal facilities. Where they are provided by local or other units of government use charges should be such as to cover all costs of operation and the capital cost of providing the facility. The United States Government should stop squandering money on the operation of barge lines and fulfill its original commitment by getting out of the barge line business. Those who use inland waterways for private gain should pay tolls adequate to return to the government the true cost of improving and maintaining the inland water courses.

State or provincial and local units of government should so adjust their charges for highway use by commercial motor vehicles as to exact from such vehicles their fair share of the cost of building and maintaining all roads and streets, including interest on capital invested and funds to replace worn out roads at the end of their useful service life. It is unjust to levy any portion of road or street costs upon the land. The unjust portion of road cost paid from land taxes in the past is such as to outweigh any remaining argument for road taxes on land resting upon enhanced land value from road improvement. The extent to which any land values are enhanced by road improvement is measured by the extent such improved roads are used by motor vehicles. Motor vehicle use taxes are the only fair and practical means of defraying the cost of all roads and streets. Gasoline taxes do not fairly distribute the burden of road cost because they unjustly minimize the payments made by heavy trucks and, particularly, by those using diesel fuel. Further increases in motor fuel taxes without additional compensating charges against heavy vehicles further increase the extent and degree of the existing subsidy to heavy trucks by automobiles.

The ton-mile is without doubt a fair unit of measurement of relative road use. While the ton-mile tax is, in theory, a just tax, it is in practice, difficult of administration particularly when it rests upon voluntary reports of admitted ton-miles of road use. Equalization of truck taxes with those paid by automobiles can best be accomplished by a flat annual charge against trucks, graduated and classified into groups by gross laden weight and measured by the annual ton-miles of road use by the average vehicle in each of the respective weight classes.

A glaring discrimination against railroads and those who can use them is the policy pursued in virtually all the states or provinces under which railroads are required to pay heavy ad valorem or similar taxes on their rights of way and other property for the support of schools and the general expense of government while their competitors pay little or nothing for such purposes. Trucks using public roads for private profit should pay taxes for the general expense of government comparable to the taxes assessed against the railroads. That portion of the investment in public highways used for profit should be taxed to the same extent and for the same purposes as investments in railroad rights-of-way.

As a means of arriving at a practical solution of the tax question a competent Government agency should be clothed with power to evaluate all proper factors and to fix truck taxes from year to year in substantially the same manner as taxes against railroads are now fixed in most of the states or provinces.

The principle of reciprocal tax exemption for motor vehicles has been greatly abused. Considerations which justify exemption of passenger cars from registration in foreign states do not apply to trucks using public roads as a place of business. Commercial trucks should pay registration fees and other road use taxes to all states or provinces whose roads they use. State or provincial laws exempting non-resident vehicles from payment of registration taxes should be so amended as to exempt only passenger cars. If commercial vehicles are to be exempted at all that exemption should be extended only to those domiciled in contiguous states or provinces.

Another form of study to highway transportation is the policy which prevails in many states or provinces as to the apportionment of the cost of eliminating or protecting railway-highway crossings. Under modern conditions motor vehicles are the principal beneficiaries of grade separations or grade crossing protection. Where federal money is used on these projects railroads may be assessed only that portion of the cost equal to the benefits they receive and then not more than ten per cent, yet under the laws of many states or provinces railroads are compelled to bear as much as fifty per cent of the cost. If real progress is to be made in eliminating dangerous crossings legislatures should be realistic and modernize their laws on this subject to conform to the principles applicable on federal aid projects

As to Highway Safety

The appalling toll of highway traffic accidents and death commands the sober attention of every citizen. The members of this organization are justly concerned both as those who operate passenger cars on roads and streets and as those who operate trains that intersect the stream of automobile traffic at thousands of crossings at grades.

Little or no public control has been exercised over the character of freight permitted upon public highways. On November 9, 1949, a truck hauling poison gas was involved in an accident at St. Joseph, Missouri. On March 24, 1950, a truck hauling ten tons of dynamite exploded near Nashville, Tennessee, and on May 14, 1949, a truck hauling dangerous acids was involved in an accident which all but wrecked the Holland Tunnel into New York City. It is manifestly improper and unsafe for dangerous commodities such as these to be moved over public roads and streets in company with automobiles and other trucks where the inherently dangerous character of the commodity is entirely out of proportion to the nominal transportation saving or convenience enjoyed by the shipper. Yet there is no law, federal or otherwise, which bars such commodities from the public highways. Of no less danger is the tremendous volume of gasoline, butane and other explosives and inflammable commodities moved for great distances over the public highways in huge tank trucks and trailers. The size and weight of such combinations makes them dangerous but the explosive and inflammable character of their cargo multiplies that danger and is an unjustified and unnecessary threat to both highway and railway transportation. Deaths and injuries to motorists, trainment and passengers on trains from explosion and fire caused by tank truck accidents are too numerous to be ignored. Dangerous commodities of this character should be barred from public highways. They should be transported by railroad where they may be properly handled under controlled conditions. It is recognized that motor vehicle fuel must be transported to some extent over roads and streets but the quantity transported in each tank unit should be limited as to encourage its long-haul transportation by rail and to permit its short-haul distribution by truck.

For these reasons we favor legislation to strictly regulate the transportation by truck of commodities which are inherently dangerous and to prohibit the transportation in tank trucks over the public highways of explosives or inflammable fluids in quantities in excess of two thousand gallons.

The convenience and hazard caused by heavily laden trucks and trailers creeping up hills and speeding down grade are too well known to require extended comment. We favor legislation which will limit truck loads in proportion to their power so they can maintain adequate speeds up-grade and strict requirements limiting truck speed and requiring brakes really adequate for safety.

As to Regulation

One of the reasons why motor carriers are able to take traffic from the railroads is that they do not attempt to serve the public generally. They pick and choose the most profitable traffic and ignore the rest. They specialize in handling a comparatively few commodities for a limited class of shippers between the larger commercial centers. They do not give the general public, all shippers and all localities, the real common carrier service supplied by the railroads. If all of the inter-city trucks should cease operations, the railroads would be able to meet adequately the needs of all shippers now using such trucks; but if the railroads ceased operations, commerce would be paralyzed. The trucking industry would not give all the public the service now performed by the railroads.

There are two principal reasons why this specialized form of competition is so hurtful to the railroads, so damaging to their financial position: (1) The traffic that is skimmed off by these specialists is generally the heavy-loading, higher rated traffic. (2) The effect of this skimming is not alone the loss of this higher rated traffic, but it brings about extreme elements of unbalanced traffic movements. For example, one fairly consistent railroad traffic pattern has been the carload movement of agricultural and forest products eastward by rail and the return carload movement of manufactured products from east to west. The traffic skimming by motor carriers has already seriously drained the carload westbound manufactured products from the railroads, one result of which has been necessary increases in freight rates on the eastbound commodities. A continuance of this trend will wreak disastrous financial results upon the railroads.

We assert that the public policy is wrong if it permits the crippling or ruination of the only carrier agency that serves all the public in order to benefit the small segment of the public served by the skimming motor carriers. We believe that the Interstate Commerce Act as it is now written gives the Interstate Commerce Commission full power to prevent traffic skimming operations by motor truck, which would result in the ruination of railroads, and that the Commission should so administer the law. But, if there is doubt as to the power and duty of the Commission to pursue that policy, the law should be so amended as to remove that doubt, (further, the Board of Transport Commissioners in Canada should be clothed with powers to regulate all forms of transportation).

Recent decisions of the courts have construed certain language of Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act in such a way as to exempt from regulation a very substantial portion of the truck transportation of farm products. Language really meant to exclude only farm-to-market hauling has been so broadened as to exempt virtually all hauling of agricultural products. The law should be amended so as to carry out the real intent and to make the long-haul trucking of farm products subject to the same kind of regulation and control as that applicable to other commodities.

Contract and private carriers should not be so pampered as to defeat the purpose of regulation. Contract carriers ought to make the same showing required of common carriers before they are allowed to operate. They should be required to prove, further, that the specialized service they propose to offer under individual contracts will not impair the ability of common carriers to render public service.

Where big wholesalers and others use their own trucks to deliver goods for great distances, they are obviously selling transportation as well as goods. They should be so controlled in that activity as to protect and preserve the integrity of regulation. We recognize the need for local delivery and distribution but submit that there is a practical difference between local delivery and inter-city transportation. Railroads are prohibited by the "commodities clause" of the Interstate Commerce Act from dealing in goods they transport. That clause should be enlarged to include the converse and to prevent oil companies and other wholesalers from transporting goods in which they deal.

Be It Further Resolved that copies of this resolution be furnished to all local lodges of the Brotherhood Railway Carmen of America, the Chairmen of all State Legislative Boards, the Governors of the several states, the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the U. S. Congress, members of the Canadian House of Commons and Senate, and the Railway Labor Executives' Association, the American Federation of Labor, the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and to such other public officials or others as may be interested in the subject matter hereof.

Concur.

I have a letter here from Lawrence P. Monahan. He says,

I want to register my opposition to that portion of the Truck Bill which will permit the increase of weight of trucks. In my conversation with my neighbors and acquaintances on this Bill, there is not one in ten that is in favor of the increase of weight of trucks.

Our highways are no longer safe to travel on by reason of the damage that has been done a great many of them by the overweight trucks. I live twenty miles north of Pittsburgh on a County road connecting Routes 8 and 19. During the past few months the large freight car trucks are now using this County road, no doubt to by-pass the City's inspection. The terrific speed of these large trucks renders the highways most dangerous for use.

This morning on my way in to town, there were three large freight car trucks that were being conveyed by a policeman so that when they came to curves in the roads the policeman would stop traffic in advance, otherwise the trucks would occupy the entire highway at the curves.

A recent article in the Reader's Digest claims that it would require thirty-five billion dollars to restore our present highways for passenger travel! The present condition of the highways, it is alleged, is due to the overweight of trucks.

The public is against any increase of weight and is anxious to have the law drafted so that a violation of it will call for a substantial fine and the unloading of trucks to a legal weight before permitting them to pass on.

Kindly use your influence to defeat this overweight truck provision of the Bill.

Very truly yours,

LAWRENCE P. MONAHAN

I have here a telegram from William J. Hart, Director District 19, United Steel Workers of America, CIO.

The 35,000 members of United Steel Workers of America District 19 urge you to vote against Senate Bill 615 the big truck bill. We are strongly opposed to any increase in truck weights which would greatly aggravate destruction of our highway system by heavy trucks. We also feel the provisions to combat overloading are inadequate and would do little to take profits out of overloading or reduce hazards created by overloaded trucks. We urge you not to sacrifice the interest of labor and the public for the demands of a powerful minority group.

WM. J. HART
Director District 19

I have here Mr. Speaker, quotations from newspapers all over the state in opposition to this bill I will not take the time of the House to read. However I do wish to call your attention to an article here from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Last year there were more people killed and injured in highway accidents than there were casualties in the Korean War. Highway accidents and highway deaths are the most unnecessary of tragedies. The Pennsylvania Safety program proves that most accidents can be prevented. We have done so much here to improve our record of highway safety that we should not now reverse our progress by passing this big truck bill.

If for no other reasons than safety—the safety of 3,000,000 motorists and hundreds of thousands of truck drivers—this bill should be defeated. Last week Dr. McClelland, who is the well-known coroner in Allegheny County, said that we would have a lot more highway accidents if truck weight limits are raised. Dr. McClelland is an authority on this subject. He insists that the police weigh all trucks which have been in accidents. As a result of this experience, he is convinced that the Heavier the Trucks, the Harder They Are to Stop, and the More Frequent the Accidents.

This conclusion has been proven in New Jersey. There the Motor Vehicle Commissioner studied traffic accidents and found that the tractor-trailer trucks were responsible for twice as many accidents as other vehicles. Worse yet, a high percentage of these resulted in death.

I am not going to recite a list of truck accidents. You all read the newspapers. You all have read, time after time, that the crash came when the brakes failed to hold." If we permit trucks to carry even heavier loads, there will be even more danger of brake failure.

I realize that this bill tries to set braking standards. That's a fine idea. If it could work. But how can any policeman stop a truck and test its brakes? The State troopers tell me that they have neither the equipment, nor the personnel, nor the training to make these tests. In other words, the braking standards are useless.

As I read this bill, it will increase the weight limits from 3000 to 15000 pounds per truck. Yet there will be no additional safety provisions. It is obvious that this type of legislation will create additional highway hazards. Instead of helping the safety program, this bill will harm . . . if not ruin . . . it.

We are proud of our Highway Safety record in Pennsylvania. Over the years this House has helped to frame one of the best safety programs in the nation: by compulsory inspection of vehicles, by intelligent speed limits, by a statewide safety program, by rebuilding highways to eliminate danger spots, and so forth. It would be a backward step to raise weight limits without providing greater safety regulations.

As Dr. McClelland says, "There will be more frequent and more serious accidents if we permit heavier trucks. "Instead of inviting death on the highway, I believe we should defeat this bill and study the problem so that we can have a sound, safe, and sane program in 1953.

Another quotation:

A fellow here, Whitney Bolton says, "The best sign I've seen in a year, the one on the back of a huge 12 wheel job: 'Take It Easy. I've been in 28 accidents and never lost one.'"

Mr. Speaker, I have a report here from a highway research board. I have nine different reports which would take the rest of this day and part of tomorrow to read and which I do not think the Members would like me to do, but for the information of the Members I would just like to read one paragraph here that will tell who is interested in this Highway research board and this Maryland Test.

The project has been arranged cooperatively by the State highway departments of Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Wisconsin and the District of Columbia and the Bureau of Public Roads.

The project will be administered and supervised by the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences through a Project Executive Committee consisting of Fred Burggraf, Associate Director, Highway Research Board, Chairman; H. S. Fairbank, Deputy Commissioner, Bureau of Public Roads; Albert S. Gordon, Executive Assistant to Chairman, State Roads Commission of Maryland; and T. J. Kauer, Director, Ohio Department of Highways, with the assistance of an Advisory Committee.

The Advisory Committee for the project includes one representative from each participating State, one representative from the Bureau of Public Roads, one representative from the Automobile Manufacturers Association, one representative from the American Trucking Association and one representative from the Department of the Army.

Other members appointed by the Highway Research Board are Fred Burggraf, Associate Director, to be Chairman; H. S. Fairbank, Chairman of the Highway Research Board's Department of Economics, Finance and Administration; and C. N. Conner, Chairman of the Board's Department of Design. The Chairman and Director of the Board are members ex-officio. W. N. Carey, Jr., is assigned as Executive Assistant to the Chairman.

The engineer in charge of the project is A. Taragin who has been assigned to the Highway Research Board for this job by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this first report, Number 1, I have got nine of them here; number 1 was submitted early in 1950, the second report in July of 1950, the third report August of 1950, the fourth in September of 1950, the fifth in October of 1950, the sixth in November of 1950, the seventh in December of 1950, the eighth in January of 1951 and the last and final one, May of 1951. This by the way is not completed.

(For Maryland Road Test, Reports 1 to 9 inc. see Appendix.)

This research is still going on and I think it would be a bad mistake on the part of this House to pass Senate Bill 615 until this investigation at least is completed, and I believe that instead of passing this bill we should turn it over to our fact-finding body, the Joint State Government Commission to make a report to the next session of the Legislature. I think if we were to do that we would really be acting intelligently and we will know what we are doing when 1953 comes around.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE GRANGE

Hon. J. P. Moran
House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Mr. Moran:

We note that the Big Truck Bill, S-615, has passed the Senate and is now pending in the House.

Nobody objects to the legitimate operations of the trucking industry which constitutes a very important segment of the economic life of our Nation. However, in the enactment of all legislation it is well to keep in mind the sound rule which aims to confer the greatest good upon the greatest number. Judged by that rule, we think that S-615 should be defeated.

This bill would authorize axle weight limits far in excess of the standards established by the American Association of Highway Officials. We have in mind a recent statement made by Thomas H. MacDonald, Commissioner of the U. S. Public Roads Administration, in which he said: "Specifically, we are overloading our highways in their traffic volume capacity and their structural capacity—and the results are so costly both to individuals and to the public that they total a disgraceful and extravagant waste of the Nation's true economy." Mr. MacDonald is the foremost authority in the world on matters relating to highways and what he has to say on this subject is entitled to full respect.

The proponents of S-615 are fond of saying that we should build our roads to suit the traffic, rather than requiring traffic to conform to the capacity of the highways. If that is to be our policy, common sense dictates that roads of greater capacity should be built before truck weights are increased. We all know that such a course is impossible under present conditions in a State with 40,000 miles of highways and 60,000 miles of roads and streets.

The only sensible course for us to follow is to take the best possible care of the roads we now have rather than to recklessly destroy them by subjecting them to stresses and strains exceeding their capacity.

We respectfully ask the House to defeat S-615 to protect the public interest.

Sincerely yours,

JOAB K. MAHOOD, Secretary,

Dear Representative Moran:

The Allegheny County Boroughs Association, representing 67 of the 74 boroughs of the county, respectfully requests you to oppose the passage of Senate Bill 615 which would authorize an increase of truck weights in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Legislative Committee and the Executive Council of this Association believe that any virtues of the bill contained in those provisions providing for increased over-loading penalties and requirements for minimum brake and engine capacities are destroyed by the provisions authorizing increases in legal load limits.

S. B. 615 is not in conformity with the policy recommendations of the American Association of State Highway Officials and the United States Bureau of Public Roads. The Allegheny County Boroughs Association is on record in support of an 18,000 lb. single-axle load limit and a weight limit for tandem trailers calculated according to the approved formula of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

We respectfully request you to help defeat Senate Bill 615.

Very truly yours,

To the State Representatives from Allegheny County:
"Big Truck Bill"

Gentlemen:

It was extremely discouraging to me to see the State Senate become subservient to the so-called "Big Truck Lobby" and approve the "Big Truck Bill."

I have no ax to grind one way or another except as a common, ordinary citizen of the Commonwealth. You gentlemen have undoubtedly read in the papers over the past several years the number of serious accidents in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County because of the collisions between trucks and automobiles. And do you recall how many times the papers have gone on to state that at least the partial cause of such accidents was the heavy truck loads, which have caused the drivers to lose control of their vehicles on our hilly roads.

How can any Legislature vote to permit heavier truck weights when one reads every day in the papers in Western Pennsylvania about the many people who are injured or killed every day in highway fatalities brought about by overloaded trucks.

It is true in some of the more level states that the proposed maximum weight of the new Bill is satisfactory. But states having such higher weight limits are not faced with the same hilly and mountainous country with which we in Pennsylvania are faced.

In addition to the big trucks being a menace to the citizens on the highway they are also decidedly a nuisance, and I am sure you all have had the experience of following trucks up a long hill at 5 or 6 miles an hour, and then having arrived at the crest of the hill, not being able to pass the trucks because they haul downhill at 45, 50, or 60 miles an hour. Certainly, the bigger the trucks get the more congestion they cause on our hilly roads.

Undoubtedly, all of you gentlemen travel the Pennsylvania Turnpike periodically between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, and I would like to call your attention specifically to the deterioration of this wonderful highway in the last five years. Certainly, no man in his right mind can argue that the damage to the Pennsylvania Turnpike is caused by automotive traffic. I don't believe the average citizen minds being heavily taxed to maintain good highways, but I am sure they are all irritated by being heavily taxed to maintain highways that are then constantly damaged by heavy truck traffic.

I have one concrete suggestion to make regarding the Turnpike. Why doesn't one of you gentlemen introduce a Bill requiring a scale at every entrance to the Turnpike and requiring every truck entering the Turnpike to pass over that scale. Such a policy on the part of the Commonwealth would make the enforcement of our existing truck-weight laws more effective, particularly as regards to the Turnpike, and should save the State many thousands of dollars in the maintenance by eliminating some of the damage caused to highways by the overloading of trucks.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

I am writing to you in regards to how you stand on Big Truck Bill S-615. I want to give you my position and thousands of railroaders likewise. We feel by the increase in weight for these traveling boxcars that No. 1—will abolish jobs; No. 2—increase the hazards on the highways and No. 3—increase our taxes, by the breaking up of our highways which will need repairs. The more tonnage allowed the trucking industry the more unemployment on railroads. Some features of the bill is certain speed must be maintained, therefore even the small trucker will have to deiselize there trucks. This all boils down to the fact that the only ones who will benefit are the large trucking concerns; thereby eliminating the smaller ones who do not have the money to buy new trucks.

If our Public Servants in the House vote us railroaders out of jobs, there is only one other thing left to do and that is to put into office only those who will protect the working class and not those who will support big business.

was in Harrisburg on Wednesday, July 18th after being told the vote may be taken on that day, but I was told it was decided not to have a vate taken until after the election on July 24th. I wonder what they were afraid of—the vote?

Mr. John Dent came out in the paper and said that there were thousands of telegrams, letters and post-cards received from people but he thought it was engineered. Well if the co-sponsor of the S-615 (J. Dent) only realizes this might be true, I wonder if he thought it could not happen again if it passes?

My purpose of this letter is to let you know just how I feel as do many, many other railroaders that if they are going to vote for the bill it will create more unemployment on railroads. We have enough furloughed now let alone to swell the ranks more. We feel that a great injustice will be done us. Hoping you will weigh the facts and act to the best of your ability.

Yours truly,

Dear Mr. Moran:

As a Federation of Women's Clubs member. I would appreciate your using your influence against Senate Bill No. 615—The Box Car Bill.

No doubt, the defendants feel as we all do—speed up production but as an extensive traveler of the highways from Miami to Fairbanks, Alaska, I advocate Safety on the highways. Let us not have a frightful casualty list on the home front, too.

If trucks must increase their capacity. They should have their own roads. We are coming ta that and now is a good time to start thinking about it.

Dear Sir:

As one of your constituents I would like to ask you to vote against the 'Big Truck Bill'

My reasons for opposing the increase in maximum load are

(1) The "fair-weather" brake systems do not make them safe with present restrictions (there is no emergency feature on modern truck brakes.)

(2) Damage to underballast on highways during periods of great precipitation by forcing drainage by weight on road sections. Paring breaks follow.

My honest belief is that we need more stringent laws to deal with the present violators rather than sanction their abuse of Public Property.

Thank you,

JOHN HASSAN

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker I think the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, yesterday very well spoke the importance of this bill. I could not have done it better myself. There is no doubt that a great majority of people in Pennsylvania are vitally interested in this bill. I think that up to date a lot of those people have not received the consideration which they should receive.

I am wondering in my own mind whether the Members of this House have given them the consideration they should and whether they have considered the provisions of this bill in the light of the effect it might have on the great majority of taxpayers and citizens is Pennsylvania, and its effect upon the investment that those citizens of Pennsylvania have in the largest and greatest highway system in the world.

I am rising now to oppose the passage of this bill. But in opposing it I want to make myself very clear on several points. If the House will bear with me a few minutes I think I can make that plain.

The first thing I would like to clear up, and I want to be very clearly understood on this particular point is this: It so happens that the Secretary of Highways of Pennsylvania comes from my county. He is affiliated with the same political party I am, in fact he is County Chairman.

I do not wish to have any inference drawn from my position on this bill, that I am speaking in any way in behalf of the Pennsylvania Highway Department or any of its personnel from the Secretary down to the janitors you might say. As a matter of fact I have never been contacted by anyone from the Highway Department or anyone acting in their behalf in relation to this bill. I say that Mr. Speaker because I want it clearly understood that this is a personal matter with me and it is in no way connected with the Highway Department. I am just trying to clear up any inference that might be drawn along that line.

The only people that I am really interested in, and the only people that I am sure the Members of this House should be interested in are the people they represent. I do not mean any special interests of any kind. I mean the people that go to the polls and elect them and exercise their privilege of casting a ballot and expect their Representatives to fairly and justly represent them. Those are the people in whom I am interested.

I said I am wondering whether we have all taken into consideration the effect that the passage of this bill will have upon things that those people are interested in and spend money for.

I am wondering if we have taken into consideration the fact that there are about two and a half million passenger cars on the highway owned by Pennsylvanians in Pennsylvania—two and a half million, Mr. Speaker.

I am wondering if we are taking into consideration the fact that there are approximately four hundred and 25,000 trucks registered in the state of Pennsylvania.

I am wondering if we are taking into consideration, with those two things in mind, that out of the trucks that are registered in Pennsylvania, approximately four percent will be affected or will be benefited by the passage of this act. In other words, Mr. Speaker it seems to me that this bill is so important because it seems to affect, to my mind, a very small group of people who will benefit from it. The effects might be very drastic and very expensive to a very, very vast majority of people in this state.

I point that out so that the Members might take it into consideration in their deliberations on this bill.

I am wondering if each of the Members has taken into consideration the fact that there are a little better than 9,000 township bridges in the State of Pennsylvania.

I wonder if we are considering the fact that out of that number of bridges in Pennsylvania about 5800 of those bridges cannot today carry a load in excess of 15 tons. That seems to me to be very important in considering this bill because even under our present law these bridges can be submitted to a load of twenty-two and a half tons or seven and a half more than they can take today. Now we are being asked to pass legislation that will submit them to a load of thirty tons, which is again seven and a half tons more than is permitted under our present law.

I am wondering if the Members of the House have taken into consideration how many bridges and how many miles of township black top road they have in their districts that certainly will be submitted to this new weight load, and whether they have taken into consideration and have anything based and tangible and unbiased upon which they can come to a fair and just conclusion and know what is going to happen to their highways.

There are 12,000 miles of township black top roads in our townships. I am not sure in my own mind what will happen to them. I have been told by different people who are interested in this bill for different reasons, different results, what will happen by this increase, and I do not feel qualified on a matter that is scientific, technical and requires engineering opinion and investigation to determine it.

I certainly do not feel qualified to pass on this subject until I am satisfied in my own mind that I have facts and information from unbiased, impartial sources that these weights which are recommended will do no damage to not only our primary system but our secondary system and the bridges of which I am speaking.

I do not bring that out as a matter of hedging on a duty, if you like, but simply as an approach to a very, very important problem. I would hate to think that we would pass a bill in this session when we did not have sufficient facts and sufficient information to base a just and fair opinion or decision, and then come back, possibly a year or a year and a half later and find that by acting without those facts and without that information we have made a mistake. I would hate to see that happen. I think it is far better that we have the facts and the information before we proceed to pass legislation which can cause great damage to our highways and will affect as many people in the State of Pennsylvania that this one might if it were passed.

I can say to the Members of this House that should it develop that I were convinced by impartial experts, engineers or people who know that our highways would not suffer by this, would be glad to vote for it because I have nothing against the people who are proponents of this legislation.

I think there is a serious problem probably, in that field, and if there is, I certainly want to do what I can to help the people that are suffering under an unjust law, that have not progressed as much as they should. I want to help them out but I do not think it can be done by taking their word for the facts, nor do I think it can be done by taking the word or the facts of the people who have some special reason to oppose this type of legislation and this very thing.

That is why I urge upon this House to give this matter careful study and to vote this bill down so that a study can be made by one of our own agencies that will supply the information we want and the information which is important from all sources and have the benefit of that information before deciding this important issue.

It has been said, and it has been argued that Pennsylvania is the bottleneck because our weights are so low, and that all the surrounding states have higher weights and therefore we become a bottleneck to the trucking industry. I do not know whether that is true or whether it is not. I can only rely on information which I receive from interested sources.

I do not know that Governor Lausche of Ohio a short time ago recommended and proceeded with the organization which is now conducting what is known and what we have heard about as the Maryland Test.

It would seem to be a very odd thing to me that all of our surrounding states are taking part in that test by giving the money so that it can be carried out. If they were satisfied that the weights they have in their respective states are correct, it seems to me that they would not spend money that foolishly.

I believe uniformity is a good thing and I think that is the thing we should strive for. If uniformity is to be the object which is set forth in this bill, then I am for it, if it conforms to our highways. But this bill does not create uniformity in the truck weight laws between ourselves and the states that are nearby—our neighboring states, it just does not do it. Even if we pass this bill, we still do not have uniformity.

I was interested in reading this item and I want to call it to your attention. It is out of a trade journal which is known as "Power Wagon." It is the motor truck journal and it is the issue of July 1951.

I was interested in reading it to find out what Pennsylvania's place is in the trucking industry, whether we were a bottleneck or whether we were not; whether we were so far out of line or whether we were not.

Here is a map which has been drawn—I do not know whether you can all see it or not, but on the one side it states: "State single unit length and gross weight laws." Then the legend indicates that the black states are bottleneck states with laws below minimum standards

You will notice on that map there are only two states which are marked black—Oregon and Mississippi. Pennsylvania is white as are the other states surrounding it.

On the other side is a similar chart where there are trailer combination lengths and gross weight laws with the same legend that the black states are bottleneck states and are states with laws below minimum standards. There are several more of those, but still Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Indiana, New Jersey, West Virginia and Maryland are all white. So at least we have some opinion from a source closely connected with the trucking industry that Pennsylvania is not a bottleneck state.

It is very interesting to me that in trying to seek uniformity these Maryland tests have been conducted and one of the leaders in that investigation is a gentleman by the name of Kauer who is the director of the Ohio Highway Department and as I understand, there are no reports available which contain the conclusions which I presume will be drawn from the facts that have been gathered to date, there has been no official report, and I was interested in reading a statement by Mr. Kauer, who is also a member of the Project Executive Committee in charge of the Maryland Road tests,

He wrote quite a lengthy report which I will not bother you with but the results he states, and I quote him, "already indicate conclusively that further weight increases in legal weights of commercial vehicles should be halted."

That is the gentleman from Ohio and it seems to me they have a maximum axle weight, if I am correct, and I believe I am, of 18,000 pounds. He says that should not be increased, but still we are being asked to put on a maximum axle weight of 20,000 pounds, at least in one instance which I will talk about a little later.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that the really sensible way to answer this problem and to solve it and meet the issue is a study to determine just what weights our highways will take and what that should be. Not only that, but also to study and see whether our economy depends so much upon not only the trucking that is being done now, but whether our defense situation needs are such that we need these heavy trucks. If we should come to that conclusion, then I think we should know and look in and see what we should do or what we can do about our highways so that we can build them so that they can better withstand the weights and the traffic that they must bear, if they cannot do it now.

Certainly there seems to be a lot of confusion on this matter, and I will say that the gentleman, or whoever drafted 615, was a master at creating confusion. It is very difficult to read and to understand. I want to point out a few of those features in just a moment.

I have a resolution to present to this House for a study by the Joint State Government Commission. I have prepared one and I am going to introduce it whether this bill fails or whether it passes because I think even though it does pass, I think we should make the investigation and find out. Maybe we can go higher. Maybe we can give more weight than these people want. I do not know, but every indication I have been able to find is to the effect that we cannot, but I think the study should be made so that we can be prepared, so that we can progress and that our economy and our highways and everything else in Pennsylvania will be ready to meet the advance in transportation—if that is what you want to call it—and meet the defense needs that we might have.

I want to point out a few things in the bill itself which I think are important, and I am not going to accuse anyone of lying about this thing because I do not think anyone has done it deliberately, but I do think there are many things in the bill that have been little discussed and I think there are some provisions in the bill which when you consider them, read them and understand them, you will find that they go a little further than claimed, that they do a lot more than is claimed, and I would like, with the indulgence of the house, to point out just a few of them.

In the first place, the one thing that stands out in my mind in this whole controversy and in the propaganda is that fact that we are increasing the gross weight; that a trucker is allowed to haul by 15,000 pounds, going from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds.

That has been in the background because the important thing is the axle weight. That is the thing the experts say damages the highways. I am no engineer. I have a little difficulty following that but as long as you can put 15,000 more pounds on a truck, as long as you do not overload your axle over 18,000 pounds, there will not be any more damage. I do not know where that weight goes. It must go up through the roof of the vehicle. I do not understand it. It may be right, I do not know.

At any rate they are not increasing that because the present law in Pennsylvania says that you are entitled to a maximum of 20,000 pounds on an axle. I say that is an incorrect statement because you will find one provision in the law now, and it appeared in the bill, for the maximum weight for a two-wheeled, one axle semi-trailer is 18,000 pounds, and if that were not so, I do not understand the reason for bracketing out the 18,000 pounds and putting in 20,000 and underlining it. So at least in one place in our present law it does provide for a maximum of 18,000 pounds, and I must admit that, and in another place then provides for 20,000.

The important thing to me is first that I do not know. There are, as far as I know, no court decisions on it, but there has been a decision or at least an interpretation by the enforcement agency, the Pennsylvania State Police. I was recognizing the ambiguity and the inconsistency in the law. They have at least given the truckers a break in allowing them 20,000 instead of 18,000 and for that reason it has not been tested in the courts for a decision, but there seems to be no doubt that it will be 20,000 pounds.

But then is that what it is? I say again it is not 20,000 pounds but it is 21,000 pounds, because the bill as it is drafted allows the tolerance of five per cent which would be an extra 1,000 pounds.

There is no provision in the bill, some of the Members were talking about unloading provisions a moment ago, where if you had to unload this truck if it is overweight that you have to unload to the maximum actual weight. You only unload it to the maximum actual weight plus five percent which is 21,000 pounds.

I say it seems to me that in an attempt to confuse maybe cover up a little bit, all of the provisions and the workings of the provisions of this bill have not been made clear.

The fact is that the actual weight is not in effect remaining the same. To me they are adding 3,000 pounds but to give the proponents of this bill their just dues we can at least say you are giving them 1,000. I only point that out to explain what I first said that the person who drew this was really a master at creating points for interpretation and confusion.

The same thing applies to the gross weight provisions for the one type tractor and trailer with a single axle is being increased from 45,000 pounds to 48,000 pounds. But then there is a five percent tolerance in that particular respect so that they do not have to carry 48,000, they can carry 50,400 pounds. The reason they can do that is because of a very simple device that there will be no arrest made if the weight does not exceed the maximum plus the five percent. Or, if it does not exceed 50,400 pounds there is no arrest.

Nothing happens here within the law. They are not increasing it to 48,000 it is being increased to 50,400.

In addition to that they say we are increasing our penalties. Well, I believe they are in some respects. In some respects I do not believe they are being increased at all. But in increasing the penalties they are also giving themselves or wanting to get I should say a little more weight.

If you read the provision in the bill, you will find that if a fellow has more than 50,400 pounds on his truck he is in violation of the law and he is subject to a fine of $100. Then in addition there say he is liable for two dollars for every hundred pounds that he is overloaded. Well that is a very general statement because again when you start to add up the pounds overweight to determine how much he is overweight to apply the two dollars per hundred provision, he is then given another tolerance of 3,100 pounds. In other words he can go from 48,000 plus 3,100 which is 51,100 pounds before he becomes subject to the two dollar fine.

Those are the things that have not been pointed out. It sounded to me a long time ago that if a fellow had more than 48,000 pounds and the tolerance, he was subject to a $100 fine and two dollars for every hundred over that. But that is not the case. There is another tolerance that comes under it that he is given.

I point these things out for this reason, we just do not know the facts. There has been a lot of confusion. The bill itself creates a tremendous amount of confusion. Being a lawyer and practicing before courts and aldermen—and I have all the respect in the world for them, I know there is going to be a great deal of difficulty, not only to interpret some of the provisions of this bill but to understand them and know what anybody is talking about. I say for that reason it is designed to create confusion.

There is another instance where they say we are not increasing axle weights. There is no doubt about it that on these tande mvehicles that we hear so much about the maximum axle weight on those now is 26,000 pounds. Right in the bill that is stricken out and it is increased to 33,000 pounds. So there is an increase of 7,000 pounds on the axle weight of that particular vehicle.

However in the gross weight provision for that vehicle which now can carry 60,000 pounds there are no tolerances and if they go over the 60,000 they are in violation.

Another thing which I think is important ins the increase in registration fees. Much has been made out of that. I do not know what the idea is—whether they are sugar coating a bitter pill or what—but the registration fees, it is true they are being increased. But they are only being increased for the weight that is being increased and the fees are being increased in the same proportion that the weight is being increased.

I do not see where anyone can claim a great deal of generosity to the motor fund of Pennsylvania when they say "give us more weight and we will pay more money." They are simply paying the same proportion that they are paying now. They are paying to carry the loads over the highways. I do not have any objection to that. I think they should, but I certainly think the inference that has been drawn is that they were willing to pay much more than that. They are only paying—if you read the bill and analyze it—exactly for the particular increase in weight that they want.

There is another interesting feature in the bill and I think it is a mighty important one because it comes right down to the safety factor of these trucks and the danger that they may create on the highway.

I do not like to talk too much about that because I think like everybody else trucks are here to stay. I do not think anybody wants to,—oh maybe they do, I don't,—put them off the highways.

Certainly the motor vehicle, the automobile, the passenger car is here to stay too. I do not think anyone can raise any question that there is an increased element of danger when you have the big heavy trucks on our highways that we have today and that are being asked for by this bill. As I say they are here to stay, and if we can protect the automobiles, the passenger cars, and give this weight that is needed then I am for it. But it seems to me like going a little bit too far if we increase these trucks by seven and a half tons, 15,000 pounds, and then do not do something about the braking facilities on them. The bill provides that something will be done about the brakes on these trucks and it does not have to be done until 1953.

You are exposing the drivers of two and a half million passenger cars over our highways to an increased weight, a much more heavily loaded truck, by 15,000 pounds without any increase in the braking mechanism of those trucks.

I am sure you have all passed and travelled behind many trucks on your way to and from Harrisburg. Have you ever came up behind one on a hill when it was moving as slow as they do, and you could not get around it because of a curve ahead, or the crest of the hill, have you ever stopped to think if the brakes let go where you would be.

I said they have a right to be on the highway there is no question about it, but I am wondering if I would not have a little more apprehension when I am behind one of them the next time and I consider that maybe there is 15,000 or seven and one-half tons more weight on that vehicle, and those brakes which were not designed apparently, otherwise the provision would not be in the bill; whether those brakes would hold it in a case of emergency.

Another feature: they are putting power into these trucks so they will be sure to be able to go twenty miles up a two percent grade. That is not very fast.

To me a two percent grade is practically level. I think the incline from the well of the House up there is much more than that. I would say that is about six or seven percent right there. Twenty miles on a two percent grade is a two foot rise in every hundred feet. That would not take much power and I do not know what effect that would have. I know all those trucks are not going to go twenty miles an hour. But then why not raise it up and be fair about it, so they will not congest traffic and will not cause the hazards and the dangers that they do.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to take any more time. I know that there is a lot more coming and there has been a lot ahead of me.

I would like to repeat that it seems to me that if we people here in this House want to truly represent our people and so somfething that you can be proud of, that not one can ever find any fault with you for doing, it would be to approach this issue and this problem in an intelligent and a fair way. Ie seems to me the only way that that can be done is for us as a body to use our own agency to gather the facts and conclusions, the expert scientific conclusions that can be drawn, and make up our own minds what weight shall be carried on our highways, and also make up our minds that if greater weight than our highways can now bear are needed and is the thing that we should do, then we should consider what we could do or what we should have our Highway Department do to meet that need.

I presume a very important thing to consider along that line would be whether we can raise the money, which we are having difficulty in doing, whether we can afford to do it, at least to study the financial aspects of the matter.

It does not seem that it has to be done right today. Nor does it have to be done at this session. This problem, as Mr. Andrews said yesterday, has been in this House for many, many terms. I know it has been before me for three sessions. I do not know how many before that. But I know several.

I cannot understand when we are getting down to the crux of the thing, to a possible solution of the problem, when we have, what you might call, an interstate organization set up which is meeting and trying to solve this problem, willing and anxious to meet it, searching for the very facts and the very information which we need and which I have spoken about; when we are so close to apparently having that information or at least some of it, why we cannot now wait for it, why it must be forced through now. It just does not make sense to me.

Again I think it is far better, when a relatively short time is involved, to do this important thing and do it right from the beginning, instead of doing it wrong now and then coming back, admitting our mistake to the vast majority who oppose this bill, and then try to make the corrections.

Another thing I would like to point out if an increase is allowed, that I feel sure our highways are going to be subjected to: if my information is right New York State which bounds us on the north has passed what is known as a ton-mileage tax. If I am not mistaken as soon as that thing goes into effect the trucks that travel that course are going to seek a cheaper course to travel. That certainly will be Pennsylvania.

Again it seems odd to me why we should sit here and worry too much about truck weights with the little bit of information we have, when in addition only this four percent as I have said will be benefited by this.

They are not all that will be benefited. All the out-of-state truckers who do not contribute anything to our motor fund certainly will be benefited. The only thing the out-of-state truckers contribute to our motor fund is for the gasoline they buy in Pennsylvania. I do not know how much it is but I do not think, relatively speaking, it is very much.

I know up where I live—I am about twenty-five miles from the Ohio line and about eighty miles from the New York state line, almost on the direct route from Chicago around the Great Lakes up to Buffalo—they can whisk through the upper corner of Pennsylvania pretty fast, I know they do not buy much gasoline up there and they do not contribute to the use or further use of our highways in any way. That is just another thing to take into consideration in your deliberation.

As I said I intend to present this resolution whether this bill passes or whether it fails, because I think it is most important to Pennsylvania and to the citizens of Pennsylvania and to you Members of the House that that study be made so we will know what we are doing.

Mr. JOHN M. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I had intended talking at length on Senate Bill 615. Representative Moran has covered the situation quite well. However, I wish to tell you we have the Teamsters on one hand, the Railway Carmen of America, the Railway Maintenance of Way, The Railway, Steamship Clerks and Express Employees on the other hand. They are all affiliated with the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

How can the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor endorse this bill knowing that they are divided in their opinion?

Mr. Speaker, I am very proud of my 100 percent labor record in two other sessions, namely 1945 and 1949. I now find myself in a peculiar situation. Therefore, I must support the opinion of the majority of my constituents by voting against this bill and ask you to do likewise.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to congratulate the gentlemen who have already spoken, upon the temper of their discussion. It has been in marked contrast to much of the propaganda that has been a foreword to this meeting in the legislative forum.

I am quite aware that a great many people oppose this bill. I can remember when a great many people opposed the automobile. One of the Members of this House told me not long ago that he just could not vote for this bill because the farmers in his particular neighborhood did not like it. I am old enough to remember the day when it was as much as your life was worth to drive through the county that Member represents in an automobile.

I have been wondering whether it is not possible to establish some arenas of agreement. I submit as a fact on the basis of what I believe is competent engineering authority that it is axle weight that counts as far as damage to the highway is concerned, and that if gross weight is properly distributed as to axle weight you have a workable transportation situation.

I submit notwithstanding the devious argument of the gentleman from Crawford that the existing bill makes no change actually in axle weight, and I submit as a matter of fact that the bill makes no change in the gross allowable weight of 62,000 pounds, a weight that it now carries and is perfectly legal as far as some of our trucks are concerned.

This bill, by clever propaganda, has been labeled the "Boxcar Bill." One way to kill a good measure is to give it a bad name. I have received hundreds of letters protesting that this measure increases the size and height of alleged "boxcars" upon our highways. All of the Members who have read this bill, and I trust and hope all of them have read it not once, not twice, but three times, know that it makes no changes whatsoever in the height or the width or the length of the motor trucks that now travel the highways and they travel them under the provisions of the Motor Code.

The gross weight of the tandem semi-trailer is increased from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds but you still have your restraining influence of axle weight which has not been changed.

It is interesting to compare Pennsylvania with some of the neighboring states. The increases in weights on the various combinations are designed to bring Pennsylvania more nearly in line with surrounding states. We admit that. On the single axle semi-trailer, the following weights are permitted in the states surrounding Pennsylvania:

Ohio, 46,000; New York, 52,000; District of Columbia, 50,000; Maryland, 52,000; Delaware, 48,000; New Jersey, 52,000. The average is 50,000.

Pennsylvania now has a gross weight of 45,000 pounds for that type of vehicle and a 45,000 pound limit is requested under the existing bill.

On the tandem axle on the trailer, the weights permitted in surrounding states read as follows: Ohio, 67,000; New York, 61,500; West Virginia, 60,800; District of Columbia, 65,400; Maryland, 65,000; Delaware, 60,000; New Jersey, 60,000. The average being 65,000 pounds.

Are all the eminent highway authorities in those states clearly crazy? Have they no roads? Are they all negligent of their highways? What is so special about the Pennsylvania Highway situation that is not found in neighboring states?

A great scientist a great many years ago in designing a theory of road building said that if you can lay a road on dry earth, you did not have to worry about your surface, if you had a reasonably good surface. But if you lay a road on mud, you had to worry. There is a good deal of talk about the damage that is done to our highways by trucks, and then they tell us about overloaded trucks.

There are some statistics as to the amount of overloading but there are not any statistics as to the amount of the damage done by the overloaded truck as compared with the damage done by the legally loaded truck. Neither are there any statistics showing that a 40,000 pound load, on a surface that is laid on mud, that permits pumping, does not do as much damage, if it pumps, as a 0,000 load.

This damage to highways does need some critical study because it is worth finding out definitely, although the engineers know and would tell you if you asked them, why you have a perfectly level undamaged stretch of highway and right next to it you have a stretch of highway that is severely damaged. Is that caused primarily—damage in one place and no damage in the other—because of an overload?

It is caused by soft surface defects which are leveled by 30,000 pound loads, 40,000 pound loads just as much as they are by 60,000. I have seen pumping on highways as the result of the passage of a passenger car. This damage to highways is something that is very much befogged concerning which there should be some honest thinking.

It is worth while knowing whether the trucks are paying anything into Pennsylvania's coffers.

I thought I had some figures here—I do not know whether I can find them or not—as to the amount of money that the trucks contribute to Pennsylvania; where Pennsylvania stood as far as the financial contributions from the trucks are concerned.

The total cash from license fee receipts from trucks in 1950 was $153,002,000. And the gas tax paid by trucks was $49,368. The percentage of the total revenue of the Highway Department's funds contributed by trucks was 32 percent.

In Delaware the trucks contribute 34 percent. In West Virginia they contribute 37 percent. So far as the proportionate contribution made by trucks to the Department of Highways' funds, we stand third, not twenty-sixth as has been alleged.

This bill definitely puts the overloader out of business. I leave the penalties in the bill for the possible discussion of other speakers. The bill does provide that when a tandem trailer, tandem axle semi-trailer is found to be overloaded the arresting officer has no choice but to compel the driver to unload the excess before proceeding.

There are marked improvements in the safety requirements carried in the pending bill; marked improvements as to breaking power, as to engine power, as to the technical construction. Definite steps have been taken in this bill to protect not only the people who consign their goods to trucks but the people who travel the highways, and the protection that is extended in this bill is an essential protection. It is a protection that the traveling public will be denied if this bill falls.

I know that an unusually clever advertising agency is responsible for much of the propaganda against this bill. It is an advertising agency that was retained by the American Association of Railroads.

I am wondering whether the expense of the Grange in fighting this bill was financed out of Grange money or financed from some other source.

I am wondering whether the Association of Township Supervisors are, out of their own funds, responsible for the campaign they have waged or whether they have been financed from other sources.

You know, Mr. Speaker, we do not have the railroads for the benefit of the railroads; the trucks for the benefit of the truckers, the airlines for the benefit of the airline companies. We have those agencies as public utilities for the service of the public.

The railroad has no greater claim upon a monopoly of transportation than had the stage-coach, and for any agency to maintain he has a vested interest in progress is to fly in the face of development in this country.

Transportation is a tough game. The airlines have to struggle. The truckers had a tough time and the railroads have had their days of prosperity and decline, but it is no more the business of this General Assembly to guarantee a revenue to the railroads than it is to guarantee a revenue to the truckers. Airlines, waterways, railroad and trucks must enter the transportation arena and there in the spirit of free enterprise contend for the financial prizes that go to those best equipped to serve an immediate need, immediate need that has been voiced, and I could, after the fashion of the gentleman from Allegheny, present documents and petitions and letters a foot high, two feet high from business corporations that are, admitted by preference, shipping by truck and they are as vitally interested in this bill as the railroads seem to be in defeating it.

We have heard a good deal about the Maryland tests. Right in the fact of the Maryland tests the Maryland Legislature enacts legislation fixing weight limits in excess of the weight limits of this bill. New Jersey is constructing a master highway from north to south throughout the length of the state in which the weights are as I recall 15,000 pounds in excess of the maximum carried under this legislation.

The pleas for delay are pleas usually made by those who are unable to gain their ends in any other way. I presume if the opponents of this bill were assured at this moment of its defeat, they would not be pleading for delay but would be pressing for immediate action. I am submitting that there are no essential engineering facts needed for a decision concerning the function of this bill that are not now available and which have been available for months.

As I say, you do not need to be an engineer to know that a highway surface if placed on top of mud will break if you send trucks over it. There is a great deal of worry expressed about bridges that have a weight limit of from 2,000 to 10,000 pounds and how they will be broken and ruined if we pass this bill. I cannot see any difference between a bridge that will only stand 2,000 or 10,000 pounds, I cannot see the difference whether it is broken by a 20,000 pound truck, a 30,000 pound truck, or a 60,000 pound truck. It is the business of the Highway Department and it is the business of local authorities to post their bridges.

I agree that it is dangerous practice to permit traffic by any sort of vehicle to go over bridges in excess of the proper load, but I also agree that in order to insure safety you have to have local cooperation and it does not matter what kind of an act you pass or do not pass if there is no local interest your law fails.

We will finally come to a vote on this bill. It will be a great misfortune and I am quite sure that the proponents, the speakers will be very much perturbed if they find the end of their oratory that they were left alone and the audience had departed.

I note the passage of time. I would have liked to have submitted after the fashion of the gentleman from Allegheny various interesting documents. I would have liked to have referred more to my voluminous notes and to have presented a more cogent and longer dissertation, but I have sympathy with the listener and I conclude by saying, I supported this bill in 1949, I have supported legislation along these lines for several sessions whenever it appeared, and I can say honestly that in all my legislative experience I have not had the opportunity to pass upon a sounder measure.

Mr. LOUIS LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, two years ago I stood here all alone, just as the Minority Leader said a minute ago he would be left all alone.

I opposed the bill two years ago without a single soul in Pennsylvania asking me to be against the bill. I say that because sometime after that I was accused of trying to represent the Pennsylvania Railroad. That is the farthest thing from my mind. I did say in my remarks then, and I guess to some extent they will apply today, that the railroaders at that time were being laid off in their work while the truck drivers or the trucking industry was hiring truck drivers.

I want it distinctly understood that I am not against the trucking industry. I want it understood that I am their friend. And by opposing this bill I believe I am helping the trucking industry, because it is like anything else. The owners of the trucking industry are only human beings, that is all. You know some of the foolish things we human beings have done in our lifetime. Well if the trucking industry in the way they have conducted themselves in the past few years that I am familiar with, are allowed to have their way and they can come in here and change the Legislature over to suit themselves, you and I with our pleasure car will go up the alleys. That is exactly what will happen to the two million five hundred thousand cars that are owned and driven by the citizens of the state.

I know a little bit about that. I drive back and forth every week over the Turnpike, and twenty-three miles after I leave the Turnpike into the city of Pittsburgh where I live. Any man who drives an automobile or has ridden in an automobile and has traveled over the Turnpike and can stand up and say that the big trucks have not ruined the right hand side of the turnpike ought to have himself examined; he is not honest with himself. I have been driving over it ever since the Turnpike was opened in 1940. All you have to do is come up in back of a big truck and go around and over on the left side and you are riding just as smooth as that.

Of course the law requires you to stay on the right hand side of the road, because the left side of the road is for passing only. A lot of the boys on the big trucks like to ride smoothly too, so they get over there sometimes.

In my experience one truck is going about ten miles an hour up a little grade; another truck comes along and he is making about ten and a half miles,—I am talking about the super highway—and what happens? Look into your glass and you see twenty-five cars in back of him. They are going this way (indicating), that is the way they go. Take the six and a half mile mountain that you climb after you come out of Laurel Hill. Go up that mountain and pay attention and you can see what happens there. There is a two lane road there. The trucks have the right hand side and there is no reason why he should interfere with the pleasure car.

I took a ride over to Cleveland not so long ago and another ride over Route 30, two weeks ago. A lot of big trucks travel between Pittsburgh and Cleveland. They are quite an asset between those two big industrial cities,—and I am for them again. But brother, you had better keep your eye on that road when you are driving along Route 30 going west or you will land over in the gutter some place. That is how quick something moves on it.

I came back on Route 22 coming east. As we were leaving Steubenville the same condition will be found on that road.

But why get all excited about their breaking up the roads? I am not excited about their breaking up the roads because all you do there is fix them. That only costs us money! And they are doing that at fifteen to twenty different spots on the super highway right this minute, where they have dug up whole sections,—but that only costs us money, we should not be too disgruntled about that.

I am interested, my friends, and I hope you will look at it from the standpoint of the danger of the big truck. I think I am going to be able to show you what I mean by the danger of the big truck, the truck that runs out of control, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred the newspaper reports the brakes failed.

Here is an item from the Bulletin staff correspondents on August 2nd. It says "Ray Smock, Highway Secretary Opposes Truck Bill."

Here is one of Pennsylvania's outstanding newspapers, the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, editorials explaining to the people why we should not enact the big truck bill from the standpoint of breaking up the roads and from the standpoint of the danger of holding it in control.

Here is quite an article from Frank M. Matthews of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette. He has made a check on these things and he seems to know what he is talking about. I am not going to read them. I will give all the thanks to my gentleman friend from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, who has done a fine job.

Here is an item "Trucks and Safety"; that is what I am interested in, the trucks and the safety of them.

Here is "More Truck Opposition," by the Civic Club of Allegheny County.

Another one, "State Engineers Oppose Truck Bill. Service Offered in Drafting New Law."

But that does not make any difference to the authors of these bills or the people who are here rushing this bill—they want the bill.

Just like two years ago, I tried to amend the bill and it was O. K. with the sponsor of the bill to amend the bill. But later on, after I prepared the amendments I was told, "Oh that cannot go; they have to pass them today."

I said, "Who said that?"

He said "Those fellows back there."

They are ruining this General Assembly, while the people who elected us, thought we are running it. I do not know about that, what do you think?

Here is another, "Truck Overloading Called On Increase. Official of State Grange Makes Charge."

Young GOP—here is a good one.

After hearing the arguments for and against raising legal truck weights, the Young Republicans of Allegheny County last night allied themselves firmly against the proposed law.

The organization, at a meeting in Dutch Henry's, passed a resolution opposing Senate Bill 615 (the Big Truck Law). Copies of the resolution will go to Governor Fine and the legislators of Allegheny County, according to an announcement by James E. Gleason, county chairman of the Junior GOP."

The whole article gives here what the proposition is. The joker is revealed in the new truck bill. I think the gentleman from Crawford brought out pretty plainly.

Here is a guy that would not go on the scales because he was afraid they would hurt his tires. But they finally get him on the scale. They fined him for overweight; they fined him for resisting an officer, and he went away almost broke.

"Runaway Truck Hurdles into Steps."

Another:

In fact this in my neighborhood.

"A truck driver chose a flight of concrete city steps today to halt his vehicle's runaway flight down Steuben Street."

His brakes had gone out on him. You know, we have a lot of hills in Allegheny County and in the city of Pittsburgh.

Here is "Path Cleared For Runway Truck by Cop." Here is a policeman who is entitled to commendation.

"Clearing six autos, a trolley and a number of pedestrians from East Pittsburgh's Linden Avenue, a quick thinking policeman prevented injuries when a trailer carrying twelve and a half tons of steel got out of control last night."

No, they are not dangerous; they are just play things.

Crash Kills Pittsburgher. Two men died today from injuries suffered when a tractor-trailer plunged down a 100-foot embankment four miles west of Fulton County community."

"Three Driving From Here to Wedding Killed in Crash.

A Pittsburgh family of seven Detroit-bound to attend a wedding of relatives met a nightmare of death instead.

Three were killed near Akron and four others injured when a trailer truck crushed their two cars. All three occupants of one car were killed."

And it goes on to name them.

Here is another nice one. You can all look at this one. This is a dandy.

"16-Vehicle Pile-up Kills Four, Injures 20." "Four killed, 20 hospitalized is the total of this sixteen-vehicle smash up on crowded Highway 17, near Huntsboro. N. Y. Here is what happened. Big trailer truck (rear) crashed out of control into rear of New York-bound taxi while going down a four-mile grade. The truck's gasoline tank exploded. The taxi, with seven occupants, three of them were killed, plowed into car ahead and resulting 'chain reaction' piled up 15 autos, resulting in a fourth death. The truck carried propane gas, which did not explode. Driver Marsdon Reese, Jr., Bayonne, N. J., said truck's air brakes suddenly gave out.

Here is a friend of mine who is in the florist business. A big truck went right down through his display window. Those trucks are safe boys! They are safe babies, but keep away from them.

Here are a lot of postcards which I received from individual people begging me to be opposed to this bill.

Here are a lot of personal letters or I mean individual letters all opposing the bill.

Here is one, one paragraph I would like to read to you.

You can well imagine my deep shock, then, to read of the most complete and absolute sell-out of the people of this state on Wednesday, July 11, 1951.

The front page was headed "Big Truck Bill Rolls through Senate." In the story following I read:

Sen. G. Robert Watkins, R., Delaware, predicted defeat of the bill might destroy the trucking industry.

Now is not that something! Do you know, I do not know of a truck firm going broke; I never heard of a truck firm going broke yet. They seem to be making a lot of dough. I am perfectly satisfied that they are.

Here is another long letter the Big Truck Bill signed by Geo. R. Allen.

Here is a telegram from the steel workers of Aliquippa who are opposed to the big truck bill.

Here is one from the Wilkesburg Auto Club signed by George Miller—a telegram opposed to the bill.

Here is an individual letter against the bill.

Here is another one.

Yesterday morning the trucking industry carried this line in the Pittsburgh papers. They said:

Vote for Senate Bill 615, a safe truck bill for Pennsylvania. Calls for extra safety measures. Present law does not control brake sizes. New bill requires at least one square inch of brake surface for every fifty-five pounds of gross load. Most trucks have better brakes than this—but new law forces all trucks to come up to standard."

Mr. Kent on the other side of the House referred to the bill and how we took care of the law. I do not know whether I am making a mistake or what is wrong here but I thought he said 1953.

Here is how section 811 reads:

"Every commercial motor vehicle and every combination of a commercial motor vehicle and trailer or of a truck tractor and semi-trailer when used on a highway shall be equipped with brakes having an aggregate braking surface of not less than one (1) square inch for each fifty-five (55) pounds of maximum gross weight allowed by section 903 of this act but this requirement shall not apply until the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and fifty-six.

I think Mr. Kent said 1953. Unless it has been amended that is what the pink bill says.

I guess I bored you about long enough with the exception of outlining my experience at home, telephone calls and meeting people personally. My great surprise was that I ran into a local truck owner and he asked me point blank in very definite language, "How do you stand on the truck bill?" And before he could say anything further I said, "I am against the bill."

"It is a good thing you are," he said, "I am absolutely against it, and if this truck bill passes"—and this man is in the trucking business—"us little fellows will be out of business in six months."

On my way back and forth between here and Pittsburgh over the Turnpike at every opportunity I interviewed truck drivers who were stopping for service. I asked them if they were interested in this bill; that I was a Member of the Legislature and was going to be called upon to vote one way or the other.

They said, "What do we want with a heavier truck bill? Absolutely no, we are against this heavy truck bill."

Then I learned along the highway that at home and over the telephone it was unanimous against the truck bill.

I am thanking the Members of the House for allowing me to carry on the way have for the last few minutes. I want to commend the previous speakers who spoke, even the Minority Leader, and especially Mr. Kent who I think outlined the reasons why we should be against this bill about as good as it possibly could be done.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker, if I may take a few minutes to bring out what has not been brought out on the trucking bill. They have brought out the point, Mr. Moran and some of the other speakers, that the trucks are doing all the damage to the highways and they have not mentioned anything about the weather condition in this state.

I talked to one of the Commissioners of the Turnpike here a few—well it was a month or so ago when the bill first came up, because I do not have any more interest in the trucks than I do the railroads, I depend on both. I happen to have a brother-in-law who is superintendent of a railroad, but I asked the Turnpike Commissioner what was breaking up the road and, of course, he said to me it was the condition in our drainage and that they had learned a lot in the last ten years in building roads.

There does not seem to be much hullabaloo over the railroads on the weather condition because they just killed twelve down in Louisiana the other day. There was a washout down there on the railroad. That was a weather condition.

You are talking brakes, mechanical failure—how many people were killed on the Long Island Railroad by mechanical failure or some other reason?

Another thing I would like to bring out is that the State Grange has been flooding us with mail and mail, and I cannot understand the members of the State Grange standing back and having all this money spent when it is not too much of their business, because a farmer depends on the trucks just as much as they do the railroad but I understand that the State Grange and the railroad are in the same office and I was always told that politics makes strange bedfellows.

In answer to Bob Kent, the way I took it, Bob said he cannot understand where the weight goes when they put that extra axle on. Take a tractor with a wheel on it, it will pack the ground solid; put tracks on that same tractor and you are not going to pack the ground. You distribute the weight on the highway by extra tires or putting more pressure per square inch on another part of the road than they are by only having a single axle. I do not know whether that was Bob's idea or not. That is all I have to say.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to answer a statement made by the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Jones, in regard to the notification of the various unions affiliated with the AFL.

They were all notified in regard to legislation in which they might be interested and when the convention was called these various unions did not appear. I just want to rectify the impression that might have been created that a steamroller was created by the AFL.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I had not originally intended to enter this debate but the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent, in his very able remarks made a statement which has astounded me, and I would like to comment briefly upon it.

I am here now during my eighth term and I cannot recall when this battle between the trucking industry and the railroads and the other interested groups began, but I can remember voting on this particular matter for a good many years. If you will examine the record you will find that up until 1949 I voted against increasing the truck weights. In 1949 I voted to increase them, and I am going to do so again today.

One of the main reasons why I was opposed to this increase in weights for at least four or six years was because I was not convinced that our highways could stand these weights without undue damage. I have been waiting and trying for several years to gather sufficient scientific data upon which I can bring myself to the conclusion that this weight, this new proposed weight is going to wreck our highways. I have not found it to date.

The statement made by Mr. Kent awhile ago was that he came from the same county as the Secretary of Highways, that the honorable Secretary of Highways is his County Chairman, and that he is of the same political faith. Some of that information I had known, and you have known that the two gentlemen are both Republicans, but when Mr. Kent said that Mr. Smock had not contacted him, nor had anybody from the Highway Department contacted him about this bill to give him any information concerning the effect of the new weights, then I say I was astounded.

I was astounded for this reason: if the Secretary of Highways of this Commonwealth with all the millions of dollars which are channeled through him for building highways and maintaining highways does not even contact his own representative and tell him that this bill is going to have a detrimental effect on our highways; if the Secretary of Highways cannot do that much with all of the information at his command, with all of the facilities for research on highway experience, with the great trust imposed upon him to take care of our highways and to see that the people of Pennsylvania get what they are paying for and that it is not taken away from them by any group, if that Secretary of Highways does not come to Mr. Kent and ask him to oppose this bill, then I say to you why are we going to vote against it when our own Secretary of Highways will not come and ask his own representative to advocate the defeat of this measure?

Does that not convince you of somethings? Does that not convince you that the Secretary of Highways either is not interested enough to find out what these weights will do to our highways or that he himself is convinced that these weights will not place an undue burden on our roads?

A great deal has been said both by Mr. Kent and many of the other speakers about the economic angles of this legislation. I do not think, and I am sure you will not agree to take the part of the railroads or to take the part of the truckers or to take the part of any other group for their own economic betterment. We are here, and we should be here to represent the people of this state. We are here to represent the vast numbers of taxpayers who are paying the taxes for these roads, and that is what we want to do.

I believe Mr. Kent said in his remarks a minute ago, or a couple of hours ago now, that we should move slowly on this type of legislation. He says what is the hurry? Why not wait and see what the Maryland road tests show. But I say I have been waiting here for eight or ten years for the information which should have been available, or could have been made available to our own Department of Highways. I have been waiting a long time today to hear anybody specifically state that the Secretary of Highways is opposed to this measure, and I have not heard it yet, and I do not expect I will before the day is out.

I say when it boils down to a question of whether we are going to try to impede progress or whether we are going to stand aside and let progress roll on, we should have enough facts today in which to make this decision.

How long are we going to delay? Suppose two years from now we have the result of the Maryland road tests! How conclusive are they going to be? Are we going to argue for another two or four or six years as to whether or not it was the weather conditions which caused the damage to the Maryland road tests or whether it was the weight of the trucks.

I would like to see this measure pass today so that this question may be decided now and we may be on our way. If at the next regular session in 1953 our Pennsylvania experience has indicated that our highways cannot take these weights without undue damage we can certainly repeal this measure and bring our weights down to where they should be and from then on we will not be spending a lot of our time and our constituents' time debating this measure. But to go on waiting and waiting under these circumstances to me is intolerable.

I have no interest whatsoever in the trucking industry any where than an ordinary citizen of this state, has and I have the same amount of interest in the railroads. I do not want the railroads to go under. I think we will always have them, and I hope we do have them, but if the type of transportation which is going to move ahead in the competitive field is truck transportation, then I am not going to stand in its way.

I think everybody here realize that it is not only the money we pay for our highways that is involved, but it is how much money do we save on every item we buy because of cheaper transportation to us from other point. We forget the millions and milions of dollars involved in that.

I think it is important that our Pennsylvania industries are put in a competitive position so they can meet competition from other parts of the United States. That is important to us; otherwise they might move out and we might lose a lot of jobs.

But, it is mighty important to you and to me as a consumer that we do not pay any more for a product than we must pay. We are certainly paying a great deal more now than we like to; but if we are going to freeze progress, if it be progress to allow prices to be reduced by cheaper transportation then we should know what we are doing.

One more word and I am going to conclude. I received hundreds of cars, letters and communications of one kind or another from people in Berks County and the city of Reading. As you know, Reading is an important railroad center as well as it has an important trucking industry, and I must say that most of the communications I have received dealt mainly with truck and transportation safety.

The people spoke about the increase in the size of the trucks. They spoke about the slowness with which trucks go up the hills. They spoke about the speed with which they go on the level and they spoke about many, many things which I do not think are of any pertinence to this issue today.

It has already been pointed out that we are not changing the size of trucks or whether or not the brakes of some particular trucks are good or bad or whether they fail. To my mind, is not important.

Of course, we want trucks with good brakes. Everybody does. But I would like to remind you that if you will read the history of the development of railroads in Pennsylvania, as well as any other part of the country, you will find a pretty said accident record. One of the reasons you will remember is because when the railroads were constructed there were many, many level grade crossings. It was the cheapest way to get across the highways.

It cost a lot of money to build railroad bridges as you know and it is a lot cheaper for the railroads, which are being built or were then, to just simply run them across the highways and put up a sign. I know you are as familiar as I am with the "Stop, Look and Listen" signs.

Why do you think you do not see those signs today? Because in the development of the industry the people who were in authority in those days, the courts and other people involved, evolved a rule of law that unless a person crossing a railroad right of way stopped, looked and listened before he crossed, it was too bad if he got hit. That rule has been modified to some extent in the last 15 or 20 years and it should have been.

I need not remind you more than once that there have been many, many accidents at railroad crossings as well as on the railroads themselves. You simply cannot have any industry as large as the trucking industry or the railroad industry without having some accidents. It is unfortunate but it is true and you are going to have them whether you cut the weight of these trucks down to 20,000 pounds or whether you raise them to 60,000 pounds.

The only way to get highway safety is to have adequate equipment, to have adequate enforcement of safety laws and I think we are approaching that more and more all the time.

It has already been pointed out today that this bill puts more teeth into the enforcement laws. It puts a greater penalty on the owner of the equipment if he sends out bad equipment or if he deliberately overloads. That is the answer to the problem of safety and not the matter of weight.

I would like to see this bill pass today, and if two years from now we have found that our experience is not good and that the road damages are too great to warrant the amount of weight we are allowing, I will be one of the first ones to get up here and vote to repeal this law.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I doubt if there is anything that I can add to what has already been said. However, I would like to make my position perfectly clear on this matter.

I own no trucks. I operate no trucks. I am not now, never have been, nor do I expect to be on the payroll of any trucking interest. My interest in this is the same as that of my colleague from Crawford County, purely in the interest of the best interests of all of the people of Pennsylvania.

I realize that this is sort of a David and Goliath act. I realize now how David must have felt when he went out to meet Goliath. For many, many years I have had the highest respect for the gentleman from Crawford county. I realize his ability. I recognize his fine qualities and I realize how foolish I may be in opposing anything that he may say. However, I could not in justice to my position in this matter leave his remarks go unchallenged.

As I stated previously, I own no trucks, I operate no trucks, I sell no trucks that would be affected but very slightly by this bill. But I do have the interest of the industry, of farmers and the 425 million—I think that was the figure he quoted, owners of automobiles and motor vehicles—425,000, I got my digits a little off, owners of vehicles in Pennsylvania. This bill in its every provision is designed to protect those people and the investment which they have in their highways.

Now I would not as many of the others have, point out the error in the way of those who oppose this bill. Many of them are in opposition to this bill for very obvious reasons. Nor would I point out the hundreds killed by railroads in railroad accidents; I would not stoop to those practices.

However, I must say to you that this bill is designed, and has as its major purpose, the preservation of our highways and the preservation of human life in Pennsylvania.

The argument has been raised by the eminent gentleman from Crawford county that there are not adequate braking provisions in this bill, and if those provisions are adequate they are not effective until 1953.

It is rather presumptuous on the part of a layman to differ on a point of law with one learned in the law. I realize the jeopardy in which I am placing myself, but I would like to have the gentleman, if he will, refer to section 811 of the vehicle code, section (d) in which it describes not the braking area, not the number of inches of brake lining or any of the mechanical or engineering features of a motor vehicle, it only sets up a performance standard to which every vehicle in Pennsylvania must conform.

I have no intention of going into a long reading discourse but I would like to read this section of the motor vehicle code.

Every motor vehicle, trailer or semi-trailer sold in this Commonwealth and on or after January 1, 1936, and operated upon the highways, shall be equipped with service brakes upon all wheels of every such vehicle, except any motorcycle, and except that any semi-trailer having a chassis and body weight of less than one thousand pounds need not be equipped with brakes.

Here are the performance standards as they have been in the Code since 1943.

On a dry, hard, approximately level stretch of highway, free from loose material, where the grade does not exceed one per centum, the service brakes upon any motor vehicle or combination of vehicles, except as herein provided, shall be adequate to stop such vehicle or vehicles, when traveling at a speed of twenty miles per hour, within a distance of thirty feet or at a rate corresponding to such performance."

I am reliably informed by those well versed in highway safety that this provision is an adequate stopping provision for the code. There has been no request that we change that particular provision. Therefore, I say to you that these vehicles, regardless of the weight, must come within the provisions of the Code and must stop within that required distance.

The question has been raised, and I say I do not want to take too much time on this particular matter concerning a study to be made, a study of the provisions of this bill.

Now man and boy I have been in this House since 1941 studying this bill. I served as Chairman of the Committee between the 1947 and 1949 sessions to do just that very thing. We made that study, made our report and subsequently I sponsored the truck bill in the 1949 session.

At the close, if you will refer to your history, of the 1949 session, a resolution was introduced asking that a study of highway transportation be made, that a committee be appointed rather, and a study of highway transportation be made and that a report be rendered to the 1951 session. However, that was never acted upon.

In October of 1950 I wrote to the Joint State Government Commission asking that a study be made of motor transportation and its effect upon highways and a report be rendered to the 1951 session.

I ask you how long must a study be made in order to determine the results. If we have been studying this problem since 1941 and still are as vague as the gentleman from Crawford would lead you to believe, are still so lacking in information, when, I ask you, will we ever resolve this question?

The gentleman raised another question about maximum gross weights. He said it is not clear in the Code what the maximum gross weights are, or axle weights rather. I would refer him again to section 903 of the vehicle Code where it says, the weight of no tractor or trailer, semi-trailer combined except fire equipment shall be operated upon any highway with a gross weight in excess of 45,000 pounds or in excess of 20,000 pounds on an axle.

It is very clearly stated here. There is however, an 18,000 pound load on a single truck but it is very clear and it is not confusing, and I know of no case where there has been any contest as to what the axle weights in Pennsylvania are.

All of these things lend themselves to discussion. There is little perhaps that I could add to what has already been said. I do not believe that anything that I could say or anything that anybody else has said here this afternoon has changed a single vote in this House. I will, therefore, ask that the debate be now terminated and a vote be taken.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to take any more of the time of the House. There is one thing I had thought that I made clear, and I cannot let it stand on the record as it is now.

My only purpose in even referring to the Highway Department of Pennsylvania was to be fair with the Members of this House so that they might know exactly my stand.

Why the Secretary of Highways did not consult me about this bill I do not know. I can only suggest, and I do not do this egotistically, the only reason that I would know of is that I think the gentleman knows me well enough to know that I will represent the people of Crawford county, and I will not represent him in any special way.

I think his stand, or his ideas of truck weights on the highways of Pennsylvania is a matter of record and has been published in the newspapers of this state.

Knowing him as I do, I know that his office is open to any Member of this legislative body who wants to go there and get the information that they have, and I believe he has said in the Press that he is in favor of the standards which have been adopted or approved by the American Association of Highway Officials. I do not know what they are in detail. They are not the same as the ones contained in this bill but it is with a great deal of satisfaction and a great deal of comfort, and probably a great deal of pride, that I am able to stand here—I wanted to make that impression—that I have been able to stand here today and make my observations on this bill and on this subject, by any interest, any special interests except those of the people whom represent.

I think many in the House are not able to share that comfort, at least, that I have had.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I think the Members of this House will recognize the fact that I do not take much of their valuable time. However, there is one observation I think the Members' attention should be called to.

During the 1947 hearing before the Motor eVehicle Committee, of which was a member, the question was asked when we were speaking of these states around us having heavier loads, whether the engineers of various states approved the plans? We were informed, without any contradiction, that all the engineers of all the surrounding states, have fought these heavier loads although Legislatures went ahead and adopted them.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Moran, Louis Leonard and Rigby.

BILLS ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. BLAIR.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 732, as follows:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 535) entitled "An act providing for the redemption of real property purchased by political subdivisions at tax sales upon the payment of the amount charged against the same and costs by installment payments and prescribing the procedure therefor" in so far as it relates to counties of the fourth class and cities boroughs townships and school districts situate in such counties

Section 1 The act approved the twenty-eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 535) entitled "An act providing for the redemption of real property purchased by political subdivisions at tax sales upon the payment of the amount charged against the same and costs by installment payments and prescribing the procedure therefor" is hereby repealed in so far as it relates to all counties of the fourth class and all cities boroughs townships and school districts situate in such counties

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members of the House we are now voting on House Bill 732 which if passed would repeal the Act of 1941.

The Act sought to be repealed by the present bill is the Act which permits redemption by a former owner of property which he has lost to the county, on a payment plan.

Under the Act of 1935 if an individual has lost his property at a tax sale any time before the county has delivered a deed for that property to a third person, the former owner may come into the county and thereupon enter into an agreement with the County Commissioners which agreement provides that the person pays one-fifth or twenty percent of the delinquent taxes plus the current year's taxes. Then each year thereafter he pays 20 percent of the delinquent taxes plus the current year's taxes before the same become delinquent.

The individual who is redeeming under this agreement pays all the taxes on his property plus the penalties and the interest. This bill, in 1941, I believe this Legislature found was a necessity. Many persons had lost their properties and were not in a position to redeem them by paying all of the taxes at one time, and in order to permit an unfortunate owner to redeem his property, a percentage plan was brought about under the Act of 1941.

As it stands today, we passed an Act here just last week—passed the bill through this House—which amended the Act of 1941 providing that a former owner would only enter into these agreements one time; that if he entered into an agreement and defaulted he thereafter lost his right to redeem that particular property. This bill which we passed placed an amendment in the book which provided that a man in redeeming his property had to act in good faith. If he was only pretending to redeem and then allowed it to relapse he no longer had the right, if the bill we passed here last week were to become law.

I do not know the special reason for wanting to repeal the Act of 1941. In our county the Act of 1941 has worked a hardship on no one, but it has been beneficial to several property owners who have wanted to redeem their property but were not in the position to bring forth all the money required at one time. As I say, I know of no one who has been injured by the law as it exists today.

A rather particular situation existed in your county which was called to my attention, where individuals went in to redeem, when the County had found another buyer and then afterward failed to follow through on the agreements.

As I have previously mentioned we have taken care of that situation by another bill passed last week. Therefore, I can see no reason for repealing what in 1941 was good law, and I submit even today is good law, because it allows a former owner to do nothing more than come in and pay all of his taxes and redeem his property. I think every property owner should be allowed to do that at any time.

With that thought in mind I believe this bill should be voted down.

MR. WOOD IN THE CHAIR

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I just want to make one question clear. In Cambria County are you free from debt at the present time?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, we are not.

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, in Erie County, our county officials are faced with a burden on this county owned property. Also I wish to state to the Members of the House that our county at the present time is perfectly debt free with over a half million dollars in a retirement fund which we can attribute to their efficient and well-managed work that they have performed for the county.

They have repeatedly told me that this bill is working a hardship on us up there and for that reason I ask the Members to support me and my county officials in the carrying out of their duties which will allow them to carry on and do the things that are required, for the good of the county of Erie.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blair.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blair, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLAIR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know how a law which permits a former owner to redeem by paying all the taxes, interest and penalties can possibly harm the county of Erie.

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, that could happen in several different ways. I suppose chiefly because we have, unfortunately, people in Erie County who take advantage of the loopholes in the law.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that the bill which passed this House last week closes that loophole which you spoke of?

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, perhaps in your mind it does, but in the mind of our county officials it did not seem to take care of the situation that they felt was very vital to the interests of the people of Erie County.

THE SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) IN THE CHAIR

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, in what respect do the County Commissioners of Erie County contend now that there is a loophole in the act of 1941?

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that, the gentleman from Cambria is engaged in that type and kind of work and is far better able to analyze it than I am of work and is far better able to analyze it than I am, because I am doing this merely as a request from my county officials, which I have every faith and confidence in their ability to handle this situation. There are a great many things that I am not familiar with or too well acquainted with to answer all the questions he might ask because after all he is engaged in that type and line of work.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I might say at this point that I am engaged in this particular type of work; that I happen to be at the present moment the manager of the property owned by the County of Cambria, and as such, properties that are sold by the County of Cambria are passed through my office.

I have had ample opportunity to study the Act. I have seen it in effect ever since it was passed and have had intimate dealings with the Act. As I say, I know of no instance where Cambria County has suffered any loss by reason of adopting a 20 percent payment plan. In every instance that we have entered into such an agreement the County has either received all of its money and the current taxes before they became delinquent, or the property was returned and we were later in a position to resell it.

So I say the county cannot possibly suffer any harm under the Act of 1941, but by repealing the Act of 1941 a former owner who is not in a position to lay down on the line the entire amount of the taxes due at that time will suffer the loss of his property. I also say that the Act of '41 does good to someone and harm to no one and should be retained.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this bill seems to me to be a bill that would enable the fellow with the cash to gobble up the property which has been foreclosed in the case of the fellow who did not have any cash. It would, therefore, seem to be a bad bill.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. HAROLD G. MILLER.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of Senate Bill No. 496, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways to erect and construct a bridge on Race Street between Sixth and Broad Avenues over certain railroad tracks in the City of Altoona empowering the Public Utility Commission to fix and determine the proportionate shares of the cost and maintenance thereof including compensation for damages to adjacent land owners and making an appropriation

Section 1 The Department of Highways is hereby authorized to erect and construct a bridge on Race Street between Sixth and Broad Avenues over the railroad tracks of the Hollidaysburg and Petersburg Branch of The Pennsylvania Railroad in the City of Altoona as part of State Highway Route 55 Spur C as established by law

Section 2 In the construction of said bridge and the approaches thereto the Department of Highways shall have all of the powers and authority conferred with respect to the relocation widening or construction of State highways and any damages sustained by reason of the taking of property in the construction of said bridge and approaches thereto shall be ascertained as provided in the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1242) known as the "State Highway Law" and its amendments

Section 3 The compensation for damages which may be sustained by the owners of property adjacent to the bridge and approaches thereto as well as the expense of construction and maintenance of said bridge and approaches thereto shall be borne and paid in such proportions as the Pennsylvania Utility Commission after due notice and hearing shall determine unless such proportions are mutually agreed upon and paid by the interested parties

Section 4 So much money as may be necessary is hereby appropriated from the Motor License Fund for the construction of such bridge and the approaches thereto and for the payment of damages for property taken injured or destroyed in connection therewith

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE (HOUSE BILL 464)

Mr. GUARNIERI offered a resolution which was read and considered as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 14, 1951.

Resolved, that the Committee on Workmen's Compensation be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 464, Title: "An act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 566), entitled 'The Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act,' including all occupational diseases within its provisions; changing the maximum and minimum rates, total amounts and aggregate of compensation, increasing the period in which claims may be made, eliminating the medical board and placing its powers and duties upon the Workmen's Compensation Board, and changing certain practices and procedure in compensation claims.

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation, on February 27, 1951.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. GUARNIERI. Mr. Speaker, I am asking at this time in the resolution submitted to the House that the Committee on Workmen's Compensation be discharged from further consideration of House Bill 464.

House Bill 464 was introduced in this House by Mr. Mazza and Mr. Mikula on February 26th of this year. It was referred to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation on February 27th of this year.

Well night six months have passed since the time this bill was referred to the Workmen's Compensation Committee. Here we are in August, and as yet the bill has not been referred out of the Committee or reported out on the floor.

I believe the Committee has had more, very much more than ample time to study and consider the provisions of House Bill 464, which proposes to amend the occupational disease act in various respects.

Of course I shall not speak upon the merits of the bill, but I believe that a cardinal principle of constitutional procedure and democratic procedure is that this House and every Member of this House should have the right and the benefit of considering every piece of legislation that is referred to a Committee.

I think since the Committee has not acted, and having had more than ample time, the membership of this House should be given the opportunity and its due opportunity, its just right to have this bill presented to the floor of the House, so that we may consider its provisions and act upon it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, we will have a number of discharge resolutions before us, and I just want to say to the membership of the House that I would not want any body to be recorded one way or the other against their wishes, so I will call the attention of the House to the fact that we now have discharge resolutions before us.

These bills have been in the committees for many, many months. I have stood here and told you on different occasions that we did not need to waste our time that there were many bills in the Committees that should be brought to the floor of the House for consideration.

I now call the attention of the House to the fact that we are going to introduce discharge resolutions.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. At the risk of repeating myself, I will again remind all of the Members of the House that a vote on a resolution to discharge a Committee is not voting for or against the bill.

The gentleman from Philadelphia has said that the democratic process would be to bring out the bills and allow everyone to vote on them.

I must disagree with the gentleman in that respect. I think that our committee set-up is the most feasible and the most workable that could be possibly had under any democratic process.

I am sure that the gentleman must agree that we could not bring out every individual bill that is referred to these committees. We have over 1500 bills. We are not able to bring all these bills out.

While the gentleman may be very enthusiastic about the bill he mentioned, some of the Members of the committee may not be, and that works both ways, he may not be for some bills that are in Committee, while some other member might be.

I might just inject here that there are going to be probably fifteen or twenty discharge resolutions at this time and I do not intend to take up the time of the House to speak on every resolution. I would ask the Members of the House to vote down all of these resolutions to discharge Committees.

Our committee set-up has worked. It is working now, it has worked in the past and it will work in the future.

If the members of the House will consider what we have done, I do not think they need be ashamed to vote against resolution on to discharge any committee.

We have given the people of our Commonwealth through our committee system good bills, putting them out on the floor and giving the members the opportunity of voting on them.

We have passed this year—and let me put this on the record, a good Civil Defense program; we have passed through our committee system the Philadelphia Port Authority which we have been trying to get in Philadelphia for years; we have passed a package of public health bills that everyone here can be proud of, and that we are proud of; we have passed a package of welfare bills among which was one to license the homes for the aged and the foster homes for children. Everyone here can be proud of them.

We have passed a labor program, second to none in workmen's compensation, occupational disease and unemployment compensation. We have passed an FEPC bill; we have given the farmers the gas tax refund mill; we have strengthened our public assistance law; we have passed the oleo bill which we have been trying to pass for years. We have passed a school teacher program that is second to none. The members who sits in this House need not be ashamed of that record.

Our committee system is working. It is working for the people of this Commonwealth, and the record proves that it is working. I would ask that the Members of this House vote down all of these resolutions.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith. I want to remind the gentleman that he can praise the actions of his Committees, but I say honestly to him, and I say to the Members of this House that discharge resolutions are proper and in order; that the membership of the House should be given the opportunity to vote on all legislation. The Sponsors of that type of legislation are interested to the extent that they want the legislation reported to the floor of this House so that there may be a record vote on that particular piece of legislation. If we do not do that, we do not have any record, under your present committee system, and I say again to the membership of this House that discharge resolutions are proper and in order. They should receive the support of the men who are sponsors of legislation that is stifled in Committee and that the Committee will not report to the floor of this House for a vote.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would say that the gentleman has a right to an honest opinion. But we also feel, and I have so stated, that the committee system is the democratic system, and that we cannot and should not bring forth every bill for a vote.

I ask the Member of this House to vote down these resolutions.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Guarnieri and Mr. Lovett and were as follows:

RESOLUTION CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. HELM offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 14, 1951.

On a similar hot August 14th in the first year of this century, a child was born in Apollo. This child remained there and grew up to be its leading citizen, until he became involved in the present "Long Assembly," and spent more time in Harrisburg than in Apollo; therefore be it

Resolved, That because Apollo cannot reach him to wish him a happy birthday and speed him on to further years of service to his community and State, the House of Representatives hereby extends to Honorable W. Mack Guthrie its warmest congratulations and best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life, filled with opportunities to serve in public and private life, with the unflinching ability and zeal that has always marked his efforts; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to Mr. Guthrie.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Guthrie.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank my colleague from Armstrong county for offering the kind resolution. I want to say that I feel like the fellow who says he is 39 years old. However, I am just a few years older.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, August 15, 1951

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m. Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ALFRED L. TAXIS, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Port Carbon, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

O God, forgive us for doing the things that make us uncomfortable when we pray. We say we believe in Thee, yet we doubt Thy power and goodness. We say we trust in Thee, yet we manage things to suit ourselves. We say we believe Thou art the answer to our problems, yet we never consult Thee.

Reach down, O God, and change the gears within us that we may go forward with Thee. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT, A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. CROWE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Mr. PEELOR read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 828, entitled

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act, approved the eighteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 136), entitled "An act authorizing certain officers on active duty with the armed forces of the United States to act as notaries public, and requiring certification of their authority," changing the provisions of said act in order to make it conform in certain respects to certain Acts of Congress.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

COMMENDING THE PENNSYLVANIA HISTORICAL AND MUSEUM COMMISSION

Messrs. STIEFEL, CHAPMAN, BARR, WALKER and HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, August 15, 1951.

Historical research in the graduate schools of our Universities is one of the best ways of bringing to light and developing the varied important aspects of the history of our great Commonwealth. Anything which will encourage graduate students to undertake such research work in Pennsylvania history is beneficial, for it will help to extend the bounds of knowledge of our historic past. Professional research in the history of the Keystone State at the top of the ladder of the educational system cannot fail to enhance the values of the teaching of Pennsylvania and local history in the elementary and secondary schools.

To encourage graduate research by opening up the possibility of publication, the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission has developed a policy of publishing worthy dissertations and theses, whenever they seemed to be meritorious and significant contributions to historical literature on Pennsylvania. In this way it has sought to make available to teachers and students at moderate cost important works on various aspects of Pennsylvania history.

The latest publication of this nature is Pittsburgh's Commercial Development, 1800-1850, by Catherine E. Reiser, who wrote it as her doctoral dissertation at the University of Pittsburgh. This book is a fascinating study of "Pittsburgh, Gateway to the West," which shows how natural and man-made avenues of trade contributed to the building of a great commercial center. It details the way in which Pittsburghers built up manufactures as commerce developed, and made use of the great natural resources of that region. Nothing could be more significant of the history of this great city than its business history during the first half of the nineteenth century. Dr. Reiser has written, and the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission has published, a major contribution to Pennsylvania history. Now therefore be it Resolved that the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby commends the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission for its policy of publishing outstanding works on Pennsylvania history which are the product of historical research in our graduate schools, thus encouraging graduate students to undertake such studies; and that it particularly commends the publication of Pittsburgh's Commercial Development, 1800-1850, by Catherine E. Reiser, as a major contribution to Pennsylvania's business history.

COMMENDING THE OGONTZ CENTER OF THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

Mr. PROPERT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, August 15, 1951.

Whereas, The Ogontz School was for almost a century one of the most widely known and best beloved American private schools for young women; and

Whereas, In 1950 the Board of Trustees of the Ogontz School, at the suggestion of its headmistress, Dr. Abby A. Sutherland, and Mr. Wayne Herkness, President of the Board, most generously gave the buildings and grounds of the School as an outright gift to the Pennsylvania State College; and

Whereas, In September 1950, the Pennsylvania State College opened a Center at Ogontz as an integral unit of its State-wide program of educational service to the people of this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The size and composition of the groups enrolling for instruction at the Ogontz Center during its first year of operation testify to the regional need for the educational facilities involved; and

Whereas, Instruction at the Ogontz Center has been in keeping with the high academic standards characteristic of the Pennsylvania State College; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate does hereby recognize with appreciation the public-spirited generosity of Dr. Sutherland, Mr. Herkness, and the Trustees of the Ogontz School in making it possible for the Land-Grant College of this Commonwealth to be more conveniently helpful to more people; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate recognizes with approval the Ogontz Center of the Pennsylvania State College as a worthy addition to the educational resources of southeastern Pennsylvania and commends the Trustees, President Eisenhower, and the staff of the Pennsylvania State College for their initiative in making the facilities of The Ogontz Center available for the instruction of both the youth and the adults of Montgomery County and its environs; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Dr. Abby A. Sutherland, Mr. Wayne Herkness and President Milton Eisenhower.

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO ERECT AN OVERPASS OVER ROUTE 30 IN WESTMORELAND COUNTY

Mr. BARR on behalf of Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, August 15, 1951.

Whereas, The crossing of Route 30, better known as the Lincoln Highway, between Circleville and Jacktown, in Westmoreland County, is hazardous to children and adults who must cross the said highway in passenger cars and school buses; and

Whereas, The promotion of highway safety has long been an established policy in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Department of Highways to construct an overpass over Route 30, known as the Lincoln Highway, at a point between Circleville and Jacktown, in Westmoreland County, for the purpose of avoiding danger to highway users crossing the Lincoln Highway between the aforementioned municipalities.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Highways.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KESSLER, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as amended, House Bill No. 1205, entitled:

An Act defining analytical-biochemical-biological laboratory regulating the operation of the same requiring such laboratories to obtain permits and to be operated under the direct supervision of qualified persons imposing certain duties upon the Department of Health and providing penalties.

aminers to define the powers and duties of said Board of Osteopathic Examiner to provide for the examining and licensing of osteopaths in this State and to provide penalties for the violation of this act" by providing for the licensing without examination of persons licensed by the provinces of the Dominion of Canada in certain cases.

He also, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1356, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and thirteen of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 940) entitled "An act relating to boarding houses for children providing for the licensing and inspection thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare defining offenses and prescribing penalties" by redefining "boarding houses for children" and increasing penalties

He also, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1357, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 234) entitled "An act relating to Boarding Houses for Infants providing for the licensing thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare and fixing penalties by redefining "boarding houses for infants" eliminating license fees and increasing penalties

He also, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1505, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 510) entitled "An act providing for the licensure and regulation of certain private nursing homes and private hospitals conferring certain powers and duties upon the Department of Welfare and providing penalties" by further providing for the licensure and regulation of such nursing homes and hospitals.

He also, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1562, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 926) entitled "An act for the protection of the public health by regulating the conduct and operation of public eating and drinking places within this Commonwealth requiring their licensing imposing certain duties on the Department of Health of this Commonwealth and on the local health authorities and providing penalties" by providing for the licensing of public eating or drinking places by county departments of health or joint-county departments of health in certain political subdivisions.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 11, as follows:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" by authorizing investments in common stocks meeting certain qualifications and eliminating the requirement that stock must be listed on an exchange as to the stock of banks and insurance companies

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 9 Stocks

(a) Preferred and Common Stock Preferred and common stock of any corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any commonwealth or state thereof or of the District of Columbia shall be an authorized investment if

(1) purchased in the exercise of that degree of judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds considering the probable income to be derived therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital

(2) in the case of preferred stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in eight of the preceding ten fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding ten fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during such year [and]

(3) in the case of common stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during said year and in each of at least twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in some amount upon all its common stock if any outstanding during such year

(4) in the case of any stock other than stock of a bank or insurance company the stock is listed or traded (or if unlisted or not entitled to trading privileges shall be eligible for listing and application for such listing shall have been made) on the New York Stock Exchange or any other exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking

No investment in common stock shall be made which at that time would cause the market value of the investments in common stocks to exceed one third of the market value of the estate not including in such market value the value of any participation in a common trust fund No sale or other liquidation of any investment shall be required solely because of any change in market values whereby the percentages of stocks hereinabove set forth are exceeded In determining the market value of an estate a fiduciary may rely upon published market quotations as to those investments for which such quotations are available and upon such valuations of other property as in his best judgment seem fair and reasonable according to available information

When a corporation has acquired a substantial part of its property within sixteen years immediately preceding the investment by consolidation or merger or by the purchase of a substantial part of the property of any other corporation or corporations the earnings of the predecessor or constituent corporations shall be consolidated so as to ascertain whether the requirements of this section have been satisfied

"Corporation" as used in this section shall include a voluntary association a joint-stock association or company a business trust a Massachusetts trust a common-law trust and any other organization organized and existing for any lawful purpose and which like a corporation continues to exist notwithstanding changes in the personnel of its members or participants and conducts its affairs through a committee a board or some other group acting in a representative capacity

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 228, as follows:

An Act to amend section 733 of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" by providing for an alternate procedure in desertion and nonsupport cases

Section 1 Section 733 of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 733 Desertion and Nonsupport If any husband or father being within the limits of this Commonwealth separates himself from his wife or from his children or from wife and children without reasonable cause or neglects to maintain his wife or children (1) his wife or children may file a petition prepared by the district attorney and joined in and consented to by the husband or father in the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the wife or children reside or in the county wherein the desertion or failure to maintain took place setting forth the facts relating to the separation from or neglect to maintain his wife or children or both whereupon the court or any judge thereof in chambers shall enter an order fixing a time and place for hearing or (2) any magistrate upon information made before him under oath or affirmation by his wife or children or either of them or by any person may issue his warrant for the arrest of the person against whom the information shall have been made and bind him over with one sufficient surety to appear at the court of quarter sessions or other court having jurisdiction there to answer the said charge of desertion

The said court after hearing in a summary proceeding may order the person against whom complaint has been made or petition filed being of sufficient ability to pay such sum as said court shall think reasonable and proper for the comfortable support and maintenance of the said wife or children or both and to commit such person to prison there to remain until he shall comply with such order or give security by one or more sureties to the Commonwealth and in such sum as the court shall direct for the compliance therewith The court may also issue the appropriate writ of execution against any property real or personal belonging to the defendant and its writ of attachment execution against any money or property to which he may be in any way entitled whether under what is known as a spendthrift trust or otherwise which shall not exceed fifty per centum thereof and shall remain a continuing levy until the order has been paid in full with costs The person against whom an order is made shall not be entitled to the benefits of any exemption law now in force or hereafter passed

The provisions of this section shall apply to any trust whether it is known as a spendthrift trust or otherwise whether such trust was created or came into existence before or after the passage of this act When an attachment execution is issued the further proceedings thereon shall be in the manner provided in the case of foreign attachments

Any wife so deserted shall be a competent witness on the part of the Commonwealth and the husband shall also be a competent witness

Should any such person abscond remove or be found in any other county of the Commonwealth than the one in which said warrant issued he may be arrested by the said warrant being backed by any magistrate of the county in which such person may be found

Whenever the court of quarter sessions of any county in the Commonwealth commits the person complained of to the county prison there to remain until he complies with their order or give security etc the court may at any time after three (3) months if it shall be satisfied of the inability of such person to comply with the said order and give such security to discharge him from imprisonment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 718, as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to aid certain school districts

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($750,000) is hereby appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for the payment of the deficiency in the appropriation for the purpose of aiding financially handicapped and distressed school districts in such sums and in such manner as the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall determine and for defraying the necessary cost for the administration thereof for the balance of the two fiscal years ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and fifty-one and for the succeeding fiscal biennium until the thirtieth day of September one thousand nine hundred and fifty-one

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not rise to oppose this bill at this time, but I want to rise in place to renew my suggestion that before we pass upon the deficiency appropriations for the next biennium or the present biennium for distressed school districts, that we call in before a committee of this Senate, or the Appropriations Committee, officials from Schuylkill County or any other county that presents the same type of a claim. I have no desire to open up the record, but if we must, I am prepared to show that things are not right in Schuylkill County. I am prepared to show that the public officials in Schuylkill County have not done their job according to the oath of office they have taken. When any district is distressed, we must come to their rescue, but when they are distressed, they must prove to us that they have used all the resources possible within their means to collect taxes, and if they have failed and we find that they are distressed, it is up to us to do something about the matter, but Schuylkill County is a county by itself and just going back to the statement made by Senator Duff when he was Governor, of the remarks he made about a certain individual in Schuylkill County, and then Governor Duff said, "I shall conduct an investigation and certain people shall go to jail." Well, Duff has been elected and no one has gone to jail, but now we are called upon to fill in the gap of that promise.

This condition will reoccur, Mr. President, during the present biennium, and once again we will be called upon to fill in the gap that public officials fail to take care of, and I am asking my colleagues on the other side of the House to join with me to have these men come in during next week and show cause for the deplorable condition they find themselves in. It is not the fault of the school teachers. They must be paid, they must eat, but I have received a number of telegrams this morning from Schuylkill County from people that are interested, who wish to come in here and testify and show their side of the story and agree with my statements of this week that Schuylkill County is not on the up and up. Those are unpleasant words, but there is something wrong, Mr. President, and I do believe sincerely that we should find out and go down to the bottom of this affair and see what is wrong.

Mr. President, I could make many statements; they may be wrong, but if we had the opportunity to discuss this matter with men who are judges, county commissioners, who are responsible, I believe we can arrive at a better conclusion. It may be helpful to that county. So, I am going to vote for this measure now, but I will oppose any further deficiency appropriations in that county, especially until they show cause for their condition.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I just want to make two comments to the gentleman from Cambria. I note that the distinguished gentleman from Schuylkill is about to put on his shield in order to defend the fair name of Schuylkill County. He said things in Schuylkill County were not right, but the last time I saw a report from Schuylkill County they looked all right to me.

Mr. President, he quoted the former Governor of the Commonwealth, our present Junior Senator, Senator Duff, as making certain statements and the implication, I gathered, Mr. President, was that the distinguished gentleman from Carnegie had made a commitment that had not been kept. I would appreciate it very much, Mr. President, if the gentleman from Cambria would furnish me with that quotation so that it can be checked, because the distinguished citizen from Allegheny County, Senator Duff, has an amazing record for keeping commitments that he has made. If he said he would make an investigation in Schuylkill County, I would like to get the background on that commitment so that we can see that it is kept.

May I also say to the gentleman from Cambria that there is at the present time a resolution requesting the Joint State Government Commission to make a certain study of various school costs, including the problem that is presented by House Bill No. 718, and when that study is made I am certain that we would appreciate it very much if the gentleman from Cambria would come before the Joint State Government Commission and give us the benefit of the information that he has so studiously obtained.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it is not my desire to hold up this Session today, and I certainly will comply with the request made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Monday. I shall make it public information or private information. I shall show him definitely in black and white of the promises and charges made by Senator Duff in regard to the Schuylkill situation and Northumberland County, and at Monday's Session I can have the information for you, I say, privately or publicly.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the statement made by Senator Haluska—I do not want to be captious or technical—was charges in Schuylkill County.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I may amend my charges and say, Schuylkill and Northumberland Counties. That is the adjacent county.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, it seems to me that on one subject of the many that we discussed here, certainly schools ought to be the thing that is above partisan politics. I think the gentleman deliberately dragged in politics this morning and on Monday afternoon, when he spoke, and I think he deliberately or otherwise put Schuylkill County in a light in this school situation which is completely unfair and entirely unfounded by the record or the facts.

Mr. President, he said this morning that "I could make many statements here if I cared to take the time, some of which might be wrong," and I submit to the Senate that he has already made many statements that are entirely wrong, entirely unfair, without basis in fact or even in theory or suspicion. Now, his original statement was that the former Governor of Pennsylvania made public statements that he would investigate Schuylkill County and put somebody in Schuylkill County in jail. I challenge the Senator to submit the name of anybody in Schuylkill County who was threatened with jail, or the name of anybody in Schuylkill County who ought to go to jail. I do not believe that Schuylkill County was the place mentioned, and I challenge him, in view of what he has already said, to give to the Senate and to the newspapers the name of the person involved.

Now, Mr. President, he made the statement the other day that people coming in here for emergency aid from distressed school districts did not pay their taxes, they take a free ride, they steal, he said or implied, from the Commonwealth to carry on the expenses of the local school districts. Now, that just is not so. It is not so in Schuylkill County, it is not so in Cambria County from where they come to get aid for distressed school districts. According to the record, if any Senator has gone over to the Department of Public Instruction in the help of any school district and tried to get emergency aid, he knows what a task it is. He knows that the books are looked into, the budget is studied, the tax rate is looked over and where there is any deficiency in the way of local failure to make an honest assessment, where there is any disproportion of the number of teachers to the number of units of pupils for whom reimbursement is made by the State, you cannot get a grant until you go back home and pass a resolution in the school board agreeing to lay off your surplus teacher or teachers, or agreeing to increase your personal property tax, or agreeing to make a determined effort to raise the assessments on the local properties. Now, that is the basis on which emergency aid is given. The State of Pennsylvania has determined that a certain portion of the expense of running a school district shall be paid by local taxpayers, and the balance, according to capacity to pay, shall be provided through subsidies from the State.

Mr. President, I think he said on Monday afternoon, "Why doesn't the State take this money and divide it among all of us instead of some getting a free ride?" You cannot make equalization of educational opportunity that way. You cannot give the per capita share of the money among the people of a district that has a steel mill or some great industrial resource, and then go out into the rural area where they have nothing but cows and children and chickens and expect those people to pay for education in that district, and that is a fact that has been accepted by this Commonwealth for a long, long time. Then there was a rather smearing, nasty implication made about how the people in Schuylkill County vote. They come in here and get all this money to pay their school teachers, money that ought to be paid locally. He says, "No wonder they vote Republican."

Now, Mr. President, that is a reflection on the integrity of the Republican Party in Schuylkill County, the residents of Schuylkill County, and the integrity of the Department of Public Instruction in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I have never made the distinction between Republicans and Democrats in trying to help teachers who were not paid. I have never told the Department of Public Instruction that the school districts in Schuylkill County, the three that get most of the emergency aid, who are most cryingly in distress, who are always in need of help, have voted overwhelmingly Democratic for years. I have not told them that the district that is in for the biggest amount of money gave four votes to Paul Wagner when he ran for Senator last time, and fifteen hundred votes to his Democratic opponent. There was nothing personal in that. I have a lot of people who like me in that township, four of them. What will happen next time, we just have no way of telling, but there are three districts, and I would not embarrass them by naming them here, historically Democratic in spite of all the administering we do to them, in spite of our sincere efforts to be helpful to them with their children and with their local situation, three of them as overwhelmingly Democratic as the one whose figures I just mentioned, who are on the distressed list repeatedly.

Now, Mr. President, when thirteen districts come here and apply for relief from Schuylkill County, they are burglars. Well, what about the five districts from Cambria County that came down here for relief? Are they burglars and do you shoot a man for being thirteen-thirteenth dishonest or being five-thirteenth dishonest? Do you know the five districts in Cambria County vote Democratic? If so, is there any relationship to that and his Senator and the influence he might have to get them help in Harrisburg? Not for the record if we can avoid it, but for the satisfaction of the Appropriations Committee, or the Education Committee or any group of Senators who might be expressly interested, I would be very happy to sit down with the gentleman and list school by school those in Schuylkill County and what the comparative political registrations are in those districts that get aid, and I invite him to submit the same thing for the County of Cambria.

In 1949-1950, the number of districts that received special aid were not just Schuylkill County. As I say, thirteen were from Schuylkill, distressed coal areas, five of them from Cambria County, for what reason I don't know, and almost a hundred of them from the State generally. The number of districts that got special aid in 1950-51, plus the number of districts that applied for special aid and who have not yet been cleared, was ninety-two districts.

This fund is not established for the convenience of Schuylkill County. It is established for the convenience of emergency situations throughout the State. The County of Fayette was not mentioned. Historically, I believe Fayette is a Democratic County. Whether it is because of the splendid Senator they send down here or not, I do not know. He is a fine member of the Education Committee. He never talks politics, not because it would not be smart under the circumstances, but because he does not speak of schools in that kind of situation. Now, that Senator's county received aid for ten districts in the Democratic County of Fayette. Is that so much finer a record than Schuylkill's thirteen? Is that because of an honest need on the part of almost as many districts as Senator Haluska says are out with shotguns, holding up the State treasury? Luzerne had ten; Fayette had ten; Clearfield County had ten; all adding up to about 100 districts.

Now, Mr. President, there is a situation there and I will agree with the Senator on that. I do not have any objection, and when Dr. Chapman finally invited me to come in as a guest of the Appropriations Committee on Monday and tell them the story about my area and Northumberland County, I said in there, "Certainly it is all right to bring County Commissioners down here and explore the assessing situation." The Schuylkill County Commissioners know what they are doing, they are businesslike men, they are dealing with trying situations, they are dealing honestly and to impugn their integrity because this situation exists is not only unfair, but it is outright prejudice.

Mr. President, I think the gentleman implied, at least, that not only should the Commissioners be put in jail, but he said something about the Judges and the improper actions that they take in regard to some of these coal situations. If the gentleman wants to say that the Judges of Schuylkill County should be put in jail, that is his responsibility. If he wants to say the Commissioners should be dismissed, that is his responsibility, but I think, probably in good faith and fairness to the people of Pennsylvania, he ought to prove it, and then when he is through proving the fact that that punishment should be meted out to Schuylkill County officials, because they came down here and got emergency aid for distressed school districts, then he better be ready to make provisions to accommodate in adjacent cells the Judges and Commissioners from Cambria County which he represents.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, there is an old saying, "If you cannot convince, try to confuse," and the gentleman from Schuylkill County is certainly trying to do a good job of confusing and not convincing whatsoever. He made a remark that I stated that Judges and County Commissioners would go to jail. You show me where I made that remark, Mr. President. He is talking very, very loosely. He is trying to confuse the issue. He also stated that I had made a remark on this floor Monday or Tuesday that this money should be divided equally throughout the Commonwealth. Show me, Mr. President, where I made that remark. I will fight my battles but I hate to have men try to twist words around. I cannot be fooled so easily, not by Senator Wagner or by anybody else. It is my prerogative to speak my mind as I see it, and I stated on a number of occasions that I find no fault, and it is our duty to assist distressed school districts.

I have voted for these measures, I will vote for them in the future, Mr. President, whether it be in Schuylkill, Cambria, Fayette or elsewhere where those conditions will exist, and that is what we are here for, but I also stated that all of those districts, whether they be in my county or his county, should show cause for that condition, and I state now again that Schuylkill County has gone down lower in administration than any county of the Commonwealth, that the officials that are responsible for the assessment of raising taxation have not used up all their resources, and if officials in my county do likewise, I will stand pat and accuse them in the same manner. I have no such knowledge, but it is a known fact that something is wrong in Schuylkill County and, Mr. President, the gentleman said that I have made many wrong statements. I said what I might say today might be wrong before first obtaining the facts. So, I am saving that until Monday, but I want him to point out to me what I said on this floor thus far that is wrong, that I cannot back up. I said the Governor of the Commonwealth, at that time Duff, made certain charges about officials in Schuylkill County and Northumberland County, and on Monday I shall prove that statement. Am I wrong in saying that if I prove it, and I am going to prove it. So, it is an easy matter to get up on the floor and defend his cause by making loose statements. I do not make loose statements. When I make them, they will be facts. What I said up until now are bonafide facts. The officials have not exercised their prerogatives. They have not been on the job, they have not used up all their resources to collect the money due the county, and that is why they find themselves in this condition, and I say in answer to Senator Walker, I shall be happy, if given the opportunity, to meet with the Joint State Government Commission to show my cause and if I am wrong, then I am wrong, I made a mistake, but up until now my position is that I am right until I am proven wrong. I hold steadfast to my point. There is something wrong in Schuylkill County, Mr. President.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I will be very brief. The gentleman who made the accusations spread them out very loosely. He listened to the defense and then he sat in judgment and decided he was right.

Now, Mr. President, he says he does not make loose statements, but he has just amended his original statement to suit his convenience and get him out of the corner. There is not a man on the floor who did not hear him say Governor Duff promised to go in Schuylkill County and put somebody in jail. I will leave it to members of either party. I am going to review the transcript from the other day. I said this morning that he either said or implied that the Commissioners and Judges ought to be put in jail. I must be right on one story or the other, because countless people came to me after the Session and said, "Senator

Haluska wants your Commissioners and Judges locked up."

Mr. President, I invite him to do as I hope to do—get a transcript of the record of his speech the other day and let us see whether or not he did not say what I stated this morning.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, figures do not lie. The record is straight. I say again that I have not at any time on this floor in my seventeen years of service made a remark for the record that any man should go to jail, and that holds for the remarks I made this week. However, I do say, Mr. President, it is my thought that if the facts that I have are correct, the Judges and County Commissioners of Schuylkill County should be surcharged. Now there must be some difference in the word "surcharge" and the words "go to jail." At least there is in my dictionary, and I want the gentleman to show me, Mr. President. Three or four times he made that remark. Open up the record and read it. I will not stand back idly and have him make those loose remarks that I made the remark that somebody should go to jail.

I want to clarify the situation, Mr. President, and let him prove today by the record where I made that remark. If I did not make it, I ask an apology. If I made it, I will give one.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am not going to make any charges on this floor. However, I am going to ask Senator Wagner to join with me Monday in a resolution in which I am going to request that the Commissioners of Schuylkill County and the Commissioners of Northumberland County be brought before this Senate in an open hearing to answer the charges that I have here which are taken from the records of these counties. I hope that it will clarify this matter to see who is lying and who is not lying. That is the only way out of it.

Mr. President, I do not believe we should make false charges against men unless we can prove them, and here are charges that have been given to me just ten minutes ago by a special messenger from Northumberland County. It gives me figures, names and everything else who offer to come down here and confront these Commissioners, and I think that is a proper way in doing it. I am going to prepare a resolution and ask Senator Wagner to join with me Monday in having it passed through, and bring these Commissioners to the bar of justice.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I am only up again because I want to save the gentleman the trouble of writing more than one resolution. I do not know why I should join him in a resolution summoning the Commissioners of Schuylkill County, implying a lack of confidence in them. I think a proper committee, in Appropriations or Education, ought to invite Commissioners from any county they want figures on to come down and explore the situation with them. Not Schuylkill or Northumberland, but all of the counties in which school districts have received this emergency aid. Let us find out whether the reason that five districts in Cambria County got emergency aid is due to the same conditions that exist in Schuylkill and Northumberland. Let us not assume that, and let the papers come out and say, "Pennsylvania Senate summons Schuylkill County officials to a public hearing to face charges." I think that is ridiculous. You might just as well ask a guy if he is still beating his wife. Let us do this in an orderly fashion. If it is going to be done at all, let us make it comprehensive and all inclusive and settle the problem.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I will go along with the Senator on that type of resolution, but I do insist that the press be at this hearing. I do not want anything smothered about beating your wife, because from the story I have they have been beating their wives a long time in these counties and also beating the taxpayers in these counties.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am always very reluctant to enforce the rules of the Senate. We have a very fraternalistic attitude in the Senate in dealing with parliamentary matters. I must caution the gentlemen of the Senate in considering the bill that is before us, let us please refrain from debating the resolution which will be presented Monday, perhaps. I would suggest to the gentlemen of the Senate that the matter under consideration at this moment is a bill which is on our Calendar. I appreciate all of the discussion that has taken place, and I would appreciate it very much if from here on in the discussion would be limited to the matters in the bill, and all of this collateral matter about who goes to jail which can be discussed when the printed record has been perused by the offending and the offended parties.

Now, Mr. President, the last time the wheel went around we were about to have a roll call on House Bill No. 718. Unless there are some gems of wisdom and some pearls of thought to be dropped upon that specific bill, I would like to suggest the roll call.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I am not going to make any accusations either, aside from the fact that I did say that from my study of allocations made to so-called distressed school districts, I have come to the conclusion that there is something wrong some place, loose administration over in the Department of Public Instruction or there is collusion and conspiracy between somebody, and in that connection I called the Department of Public Instruction this morning and I asked them to give me a list of all the school districts that would receive funds under this bill that is now before us. I asked them to tell me what investigations if any were made to determine whether or not the school districts involved were actually in distress. I asked them to give me the amount of the tax duplicate of each of the school districts, the amount of that tax duplicate collected to determine just what the financial situation is in those school districts relative to the collection of the taxes assessed, and they told me they would have that report over here for me by ten-thirty. At least, I requested it by ten-thirty or eleven o'clock, and I searched my desk here and I do not see it, and I do not see anybody in the room here with that report.

Mr. President, I think it is a mistake for us to pass a bill here this morning appropriating $750,000 without some evidence of the need for that money. I am not opposed to helping school districts that are in distress, but I have a statement here beginning with 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949, listing all of the counties and all of the school districts in those counties that were given assistance as distressed school districts, and I think it is wrong for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to year after year give handouts to the same school districts over and over again. That is what you will find in these reports if you take a look at them, and that is particularly true, and I do not want Senator Wagner or anybody else from Schuylkill Counuty to think I am picking on him because I am not, but there are some school districts in Schuylkill County that come in every year for assistance. Now, there is something wrong with those school districts, and somebody ought to go into those school districts and find out what is wrong, and it is about time that it is done.

Mr. President, I am not going to take up too much time of this Senate, but I am going to ask that this bill go over until Monday to give us a chance to get these reports from the Department of Public Instruction so that we know what we are voting for so that we can intelligently vote on this bill. We just do not have the information before us that we ought to have, and I think it is a mistake for us to vote on the bill until we do get that information. I am going to ask, Mr. President, that this bill go over until Monday to give the Department of Public Instruction a chance to compile this data so that we can study it and so that we will know exactly what we are voting for and voting on.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am objecting to the the bill going over in order at this time.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, in the absence of that, I ask unanimous consent at this time to present a resolution.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object to the resolution being presented at this time. There is nothing before the Senate at this point but the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 718. As soon as this bill has been acted on one way or the other, I will have no objection to the gentleman presenting his resolution, but I must insist that some slight semblance of parliamentary procedure be maintained in the dying weeks of this Session.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I absolutely agree with the gentleman from Allegheny County that there is nothing before us but the passage of this bill, but if I may digress for a moment, and if I am out of order I will rise later on to clarify the record, the vanity of the Senator from Schuylkill County has been somewhat scratched and probably mine has been scratched. He said I made some untrue statements and I say he has made some untrue statements, and I would like to ask, Mr. President, if I am in order, that a transcript of the speech that I made Monday be prepared for each Senator by next week to prove definitely as to whether or not I made the remark that Judges and the County Commissioners of Schuylkill County should go to jail. I have my honor at stake as well as he has his, and I think, in all fairness, before we adjourn this Senate should know whether or not I made such a loose remark. I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny County whether he would agree to have a transcript of my remarks made that we can pick up where we left off today and pick up on Monday.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am assuming the gentleman is interrogating me.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I say for the information of the gentleman from Cambria that just as soon as our very efficient stenographic force can present him with a copy of the transcript, they will do so. I certainly would object to having a transcript run off for every Member of the Senate between now and Monday. That would tax the force tremendously. I am sure that if Senator Haluska and Senator Wagner are presented with copies of who said what when, that they will advise the Senate Monday as to the authenticity of the statements that have been made.

Before asking for a roll call on this bill, if such is desired at this moment, may I suggest that due to the fact that we are in the eighth month of the Session, that the gentlemen of the Senate remember that at no time does any Member of the Senate suggest the veracity of any statements made on this floor. The suggestion just made by the gentleman from Cambria that he and Senator Wagner are questioning each other's veracity, I think, goes directly to the remarks made and not to the integrity of the individuals making them, and we want to continue to preserve the fraternalistic spirit that has made this legislative body the outstanding Senate Chamber in the forty-eight States of the Republic.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

REQUESTING THE INVESTIGATION OF THE DISTRIBUTION DISTRESSED SCHOOL DISTRICT FUND

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO, offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, August 15, 1951.

Whereas, The General Assembly, each session, appropriates large sums of money to the Department of Public Instruction for assistance to distressed school districts, and

Whereas, The Superintendent of Public Instruction is given complete discretion in the dissipation of these funds, and the General Assembly not only neglects to impose reasonable controls and safeguards for the protection of these public funds, but even fails to provide standards and minimum requirements which might guide the Superintendent of Public Instruction in the exercise of his discretion, and

Whereas, This condition allows for inequitable distribution of the funds with undeserving school districts receiving unneeded funds, and deserving districts receiving inadequate or no assistance, and opens the door to deliberate favoritism and coercion; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Attorney General to investigate the distribution of these funds, and determine whether or not the Department of Public Instruction employs a set of minimum requirements and standards in determining the fact of distress in any school district, whether or not the department makes any effort to discover and correct the cause of such distress, and whether or not the department reaches its final decision on assistance, impartially, and on the basis of genuine need, occasioned with an absence of fault on the part of the school district; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate direct the Attorney General to prosecute the guilty parties, should the investigation develop any evidence of fraud, favoritism, coercion or collusion, among school districts, or with the Department of Public Instruction; and be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General be requested to make a complete report of his investigation to the Senate Committee on Appropriations, together with his recommendations for remedial legislation.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rules 39, which requires resolution be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object, to immediate consideration of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1286, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray current and other expenses of the State government during any fiscal biennium evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues of any current biennium levied assessed collectible and accruing during such fiscal biennium defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation.

He also from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1645, entitled:

An Act transferring money from the World War II Veterans' Compensation Fund to the World War II Veterans' Compensation Sinking Fund for the purpose of meeting interest and sinking fund requirements on World War II Veterans' Compensation Bonds.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CALLING FOR THE RESTORATION AND REPAIR OF THE WILLIAM PARSON HOUSE OR THE GEORGE TAYLOR HOUSE IN EASTON

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO, offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, August 15, 1951.

The historic building known as the William Parsons House or the George Taylor House, at the northeast corner of South Fourth and Ferry Streets in the City of Easton, is one of the most significant sites in that area.

This Georgian Colonial structure was erected in 1757 by William Parsons, the founder of Easton, and later occupied by George Taylor, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, who was also an early Pennsylvania ironmaster and a member of the General Assembly.

The George Taylor Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has been keeping up this building as an historic shrine, but major repairs and restoration work are necessary if this home is to be preserved to posterity. Now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby calls upon the City of Easton, in conjunction with the George Taylor Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Northampton County Historical Society, to evolve plans for the proper restoration and repair of this home of the founder of Easton and of a Signer of the Declaration of Independence, a two-fold historic shrine which is significant to the City, the Commonwealth, and the Nation, and

Be It Further Resolved a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the City of Easton, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Northampton County Historical Society.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING A SUB-COMMITTEE ON HIGHWAYS OF THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF CERTAIN HIGHWAY NEEDS IN BEAVER COUNTY

Mr. NEFF. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. NEFF, offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, August 15, 1951.

Whereas, Beaver County is truly the "Gateway to the West," and

Whereas, Beaver County, with its manifold industries and industrial potential, ranks seventh in the Counties of the United States in industrial output, and

Whereas, The concentration of population and the County's strategic situation as an artery of commerce require the greatest facility in the flow of such commerce, And be it Resolved,

That the Sub-Committee of Highways of the Joint State Government Commission be instructed to make a study of:

1. A need for additional bridges crossing the Ohio River within the territorial limits of Beaver County.

2. That the Sub-Committee request the Department of Highways to make detailed traffic-flow studies with the end in view of making necessary improvements on the Fair Oaks—Warrendale Highway, which is the route leading from Beaver County to the Warrendale interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, on the Ohio River Boulevard from Hays to Pittsburgh, and that the said Sub-Committee further request the Department of Highways to make traffic studies of the area of Conway Corners and Rochester in said County, and that the said Sub-Committee further request the study by the Department of Highways of widening that segment of highway from Ellwood City to Koppel, a main-route South to the Turnpike Interchange at Homewood, and that the Highway Department give the results of such study to the said Sub-Committee, and Be It Further Resolved,

That said Sub-Committee report its study and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 11, entitled:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828), entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians, committees, trustees, and other fiduciaries, except personal representatives, and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries," authorizing investments in common stocks meeting certain qualifications and eliminating the requirement that stock must be listed on an exchange as to the stock of banks and insurance companies.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 753, as follows:

An Act providing for an enumeration of persons subject to per capita and occupation taxes in counties wherein are situated school districts of the second third and fourth class placing the expense thereof on taxing districts authorized by law to levy such taxes conferring powers and imposing duties on boards of school directors of such school districts county commissioners and chief county assessors in such counties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The board of school directors in every school district of the second third and fourth class shall between March first and September first of each two year period cause to be made by the same persons employed by the board for the enumeration of children between the ages of six and eighteen years a careful correct and accurate enumeration on census cards provided by the county at the expense of the county of all persons twenty-one years of age or over who reside in the district A separate census card shall be used for each person and shall show his name address in the district occupation and place of employment and the name of the school district municipality or township and county Such enumeration shall include every person twenty-one years of age or over within the district and shall be made by careful inquiry at the residence of every person in the district

Section 2 On or before the tenth day of September of each two year period in all school districts which have a per capita tax the census cards shall be assembled and returned by the board of school directors in each school district to the chief county assessor of the county indicated on the census card together with the certificate of the board of school directors that the enumeration has been completed. The chief county assessor shall cause to be prepared therefrom a complete list of all persons within the county for per capita or occupation tax purposes and shall provide copies of so much of the list as shall be applicable to each of the taxing districts within the county.

Section 3 The census takers shall be paid by the county eight ($.08) cents per mile for the use of their automobiles in conducting the enumeration and an amount to be fixed by the salary board for each census card completed. The salary board shall fix such compensation not later than February first of each two year period and give notice of the amount fixed to each taxing district within the county. If any taxing district shall be dissatisfied with the compensation so fixed the governing body thereof may present its petition to the court of quarter sessions of the county setting forth its reasons for complaint. The court after hearing shall approve or modify the action of the salary board and enter an order establishing the compensation per census card to be paid to the census takers.

Section 4 The county shall pay the costs incurred in conducting the census but shall be reimbursed by the taxing districts in the county which are authorized by law to levy a per capita or occupation tax. Each such taxing district whether or not it levies and collects a per capita or occupation tax shall pay to the county an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying the total cost of the enumeration by a fraction the numerator of which is equal to the number of names on the list furnished the particular taxing district and the denominator of which is equal to the total number of names on all of the lists prepared by the chief county assessor.

3 The date when the trade-mark was first used anywhere and the date when it was first used in this State by the applicant or his predecessor in title

4 A statement that the applicant is the owner of the trademark and that no other person has the right to use such trade-mark in this State either in the identical form thereof or in any such near resemblance thereto as might be calculated to deceive or to be mistaken therefore The application shall be signed and sworn to by any officer of the corporation or association or by a member of the copartnership applying The application shall be accompanied with two specimens or facsimiles of such trade-mark and check or money order for the filing fee of $15.00 payable to the Secretary of the Commonwealth

Section 5 Certificate of Registration

Upon compliance by the applicant with the requirements of this act the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall cause a certificate of registration to be issued and delivered to him The certificate of registration shall be issued under the signature of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the seal of the State and shall set forth the name and address of the applicant the name or description of the trade-mark and the general class of goods to which appropriated and the date on which the application was filed

Any certificate of registration issued by the Secretary of the Commonwealth under the provisions hereof or a copy thereof duly certified by him shall be admissible in evidence as competent and sufficient proof of the registration of such trade-mark in any action or judicial proceedings in any court of this Commonwealth

Section 6 Duration and Renewal

Registration of a trade-mark hereunder shall be effective for a term of ten years from the date of registration and upon application filed within six months prior to the expiration of such term on a form to be furnished by the Secretary of the Commonwealth the registration may be renewed for a like term A renewal fee of $15.00 payable to the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall accompany the application for renewal of the registration

A trade-mark registration may be renewed for successive periods of ten years in like manner

Any registration in force on the date on which this act shall become effective shall expire ten years from the date of the registration or of the last renewal thereof or one year after the effective date of this act whichever is later and may be renewed by filing an application with the Secretary of the Commonwealth on a form furnished by him and paying the aforementioned renewal fee thereof within six months prior to the expiration of the registration

Section 7 Assignment

Any trade-mark and its registration hereunder shall be assignable with the good will of the business in which the trade-mark is used or with that part of the good will of the business connected with the use of and symbolized by the trade-mark Assignment shall be by instrument in writing duly executed and may be recorded with the Secretary of the Commonwealth upon the payment of a fee of $10.00 payable to the Secretary of the Commonwealth who upon recording of the assignment shall issue in the name of the assignee a new certificate for the remainder of the term of the registration or of the last renewal thereof An assignment of any registration under this act shall be void as against any subsequent purchaser for valuable consideration and without notice unless it is recorded with the Secretary of the Commonwealth within three months after the date or prior to such subsequent purchase

Section 8 Records

The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall keep for public examination a record of all trade-marks registered or renewed under this act

Section 9 Cancellation

The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall cancel from the register

(1) after five years from the effective date of this Act all registrations under prior acts which are more than ten years old and not renewed in accordance with this act

(2) any registration concerning which the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall receive a voluntary request for cancellation thereof from the registrant or the assignee of record

(3) all registrations granted under this act and not renewed in accordance with the provisions hereof

(4) any registration concerning which a court of competent jurisdiction shall find

(a) that the registered trade-mark has been abandoned

(b) that the registrant is not the owner of the trade-mark

(c) that the registration was granted improperly

(d) that the registration was obtained fraudulently

(e) that the registered trade-mark is so similar as to be likely to cause confusion or mistake or to deceive or that it is similar to a trade-mark registered by another person in the United States Patent Office prior to the date of the filing of the application for registration by the registrant hereunder and not abandoned provided however that should the registrant prove that he is the owner of a concurrent registration of his trade-mark in the United States Patent Office covering an area including this State the registration hereunder shall not be canceled

(5) when a court of competent jurisdiction shall order cancellation of a registration on any ground

(6) Any registration in the following circumstances

(a) Where an applicant by affidavits and other good and sufficient evidence shall prove to the satisfaction of the secretary that he is entitled to any trade-mark heretofore registered in this office by virtue of prior adoption and use

(b) In the case of a corporation having filed articles of dissolution or a decree of dissolution any person may at any time at least three years thereafter present a petition under proper affidavit to the Secretary of the Commonwealth setting forth such fact

(c) In the case of a person co-partnership or corporation not having filed articles of dissolution or a decree of dissolution but having discontinued or gone out of the business to which such registration is pertinent

(d) When a registered trade-mark has been abandoned or discontinued for a period of at least five years subsequent to registration and such abandonment and non-user still persists

In all circumstances enumerated in section (6) subsections (a) to (d) inclusive any person may present his petition for cancellation in writing and supported by proper affidavit to the Secretary of the Commonwealth accompanied with a fee of $25.00

The petition shall set forth the pertinent facts relative thereto and shall contain proof of service of notice of such petition on the person co-partnership or corporation in whose name the said registration is recorded and asking that such registration be cancelled The secretary shall fix a time to hear the parties concerned in the matter and shall send by registered mail a notice thereof to the person copartnership or corporation in whose name such registration is recorded If after hearing the secretary is satisfied of the truth of the facts alleged in the petition in accordance with the provisions of this section he shall cancel the said registration

Section 10 Classification

The following general classes of goods are established for the purpose of administering this act The Secretary of the Commonwealth is authorized in his discretion to amend by rule or regulation the classification hereinafter established but not in any way to limit or extend the applicants or registrants rights An application for registration of a trade-mark shall be limited to a single general class of merchandise Provided however That nothing in this act shall be construed as limiting the registration of a trade-mark to one general class

An Act to further amend sections five seven eleven and twenty-one and to add section twenty-one point one to the act approved the sixth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 861) entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole' conferring and defining its jurisdiction duties powers and functions including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases providing for the method of appointment of its members regulating the appointment removal and discharge of its officers clerks and employees dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employees thereof making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors providing penalties therefor and for other cognate purposes and making an appropriation" by increasing the salaries of the chairman and the other members of the board increasing the ceiling on salaries of the secretary of the board and of district supervisors making the amount of such salaries subject to the determination of the board in conformity with the rules of the Executive Board and by further defining the jurisdiction duties powers and functions of the Pennsylvania Board of Parole

Section 1 Section five of the act approved the sixth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 861) entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole' conferring and defining its jurisdiction duties powers and functions including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases providing for the method of appointment of its members regulating the appointment removal and discharge of its officers clerks and employees dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employees thereof making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors providing penalties therefor and for other cognate purposes and making an appropriation" as last amended by the act approved the third day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1248) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 The chairman of the board shall receive a salary of [eleven] twelve thousand five hundred dollars [($11,000)] ($12,500) per annum and each of the other members of the board shall receive a salary of [ten] eleven thousand five hundred dollars [($10,000)] ($11,500) per annum

Section 2 Section seven of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 767) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 7 As soon as may be convenient after their appointment the members of the Board of Parole shall meet and organize They shall appoint a secretary who shall not be a member of the board who shall hold office at their pleasure who shall have such powers and perform such duties not inconsistent with any law of this Commonwealth as the board shall prescribe and who shall receive such compensation as the board shall determine in conformity with the rules of the executive board not exceeding [five] six thousand dollars [$5000] ($6000) per annum In the absence or incapacity of the secretary to act the [board] Board of Parole may designate such other person as it may choose to perform temporarily the duties of secretary

Section 3 Section eleven of the said act as last amended by the act approved the third day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1248) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 11 Each district parole office shall be in charge of a district supervisor who shall be appointed by the board with the approval of the Governor and who shall receive such annual salary [for those where the district includes either a county of the first class or a county of the second class not exceeding [six] seven thousand dollars [($6000)] ($7000) and for those in other districts not exceeding [four] five thousand five hundred dollars [($4500)] ($5500) as the board shall determine in conformity with the rules of the executive board Said district supervisor shall be the executive head of the district office to which he shall be appointed and shall have the control management and direction of all employees of the [board] Board of Parole assigned to said district subject to the supervision of the board

Section 4 Section twenty-one of the said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 767) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 21 The board is hereby authorized to release on parole any convict confined in any penal institution of this Commonwealth as to whom power to parole is herein granted to said board except convicts condemned to death or serving life imprisonment whenever in its opinion the best interests of the convict justify or require his being paroled and it does not appear that the interests of the Commonwealth will be injured thereby [If at the time a person is paroled he has been imprisoned for a period in excess of the minimum term of imprisonment to which he shall have been sentenced the period of parole may be extended by the board up to but not beyond the maximum term imposed] The power to parole herein granted to the Board of Parole may not be exercised in the board's discretion at any time before but only after the expiration of the minimum term of imprisonment fixed by the court in its sentence or by the Pardon Board in a sentence which has been reduced by commutation Provided however That if the Board of Parole refuse to parole the prisoner at the expiration of any minimum term fixed by the Pardon Board it shall within ten days after the date when the minimum term expired transmit to the Pardon Board a written statement of the reasons for refusal to parole the prisoner at the expiration of the minimum term fixed by the Pardon Board Thereafter the Pardon Board may either accept the action of the Board of Parole or order the immediate release of the prisoner on parole under the supervision of the Board of Parole Said board shall have the power during the period for which a person shall have been sentenced to recommit one paroled for violation of the terms and conditions of his parole and from time to time to reparole and recommit in the same manner and with the same procedure as in the case of an original parole or recommitment if in the judgment of the said board there is a reasonable probability that the convict will be benefited by again according him liberty and it does not appear that the interests of the Commonwealth will be injured thereby

Section 5 The said act is hereby amended by adding thereto after section twenty-one a new section to read as follows

Section 21.1 (a) Convicted Violators Any parolee under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Board of Parole released from any penal institution of the Commonwealth who during the period of parole or while delinquent on parole commits any crime punishable by imprisonment for which he is convicted or found guilty by a judge or jury or to which he pleads guilty or nolle contendere at anytime thereafter in a court of record may at the discretion of the board be recommitted as a parole violator to the penal institution from which he was paroled or to any other institution to which legally transferred If his recommitment is so ordered he shall be reentered to serve the remainder of the term whih said parolee would have been compelled to serve had he not been paroled and he shall be given no credit for the time at librtly on parol The board may in its discretion reparole whenever in its opinion the best interests of the prisoner justify or require his release on parole and it does not appear that the interests of the Commonwealth will be injured thereby If a new sentence is imposed upon him to be served in the same institution from which paroled then the service of the balance of said term originally imposed shall precede the commencement of the new term imposed for the latter crime If a new sentence is imposed upon him to be served in any institution other than the one from which paroled then the service of the new term for the latter crime shall precede the commencement of the balance of the term originally imposed The period of time for which the parole violator is required to serve shall be computed from and begin on the date that he is taken into custody to be returned to the institution as a parole violator

(b) Technical Violaors Any parolee under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Board of Parole released from any penal institution in the Commonwealth who during the period of parole violates the terms and conditions of his parole other than by the commission of a new crime of which he is convicted or found guilty by a judge or jury or to which he pleads guilty or nolle contendere in a court of record may be recommitted after hearing before the board to the institution from which he was paroled or to any other institution to which legally transferred as a parole violator If he is so recommitted he shall be given credit for the time served on parole in good standing but with no credit for delinquent time and may be reentered to serve the remainder of his original sentence or sentences Said remainder shall be computed by the board from the time his delinquent conduct occurred for the unexpired period of the maximum sentence imposed by the court without credit for the period the parolee was delinquent on parole and he shall be required to serve such remainder so computed from the date he is taken into custody on the warrant of the board Such prisoner shall be subject to reparole by the board whenever in its opinion the best interests of the prisoner justify or require his being reparable and it does not appear that the interests of the Commonwealth will be injured thereby

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 7 This act shall to the extent permitted by the Constitution become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

A majority of all Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

[Ordered, That the clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1309, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one and two as amended sections four five six seven and eight and sections nine and ten as amended of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 888) entitled "An act to safeguard human life and health throughout the Commonwealth by providing for the reporting quarantining and control of diseases declared communicable by this act or by regulation of the Department of Health providing for the prevention of infection therefrom and prescribing penalties" by changing the method of approval of communicable disease regulations by the advisory health board and by adding counties which have established a county department of health or joint-county department of health to the political subdivisions required or empowered to perform certain duties relating to the reporting quarantining and control of diseases declared communicable by law or regulation

Section 1 Sections one and two of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 888) entitled "An act to safeguard human life and health throughout the Commonwealth by providing for the reporting quarantining and control of diseases declared communicable by this act or by regulation of the Department of Health providing for the prevention of infection therefrom and prescribing penalties" as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 751) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the Department of Health may when it deems it necessary to safeguard human life and health declare certain diseases to be communicable or to be communicable and quarantinable but only in the following manner that is to say

The Secretary of Health shall call a meeting of the advisory health board five days' written notice of which shall be sent to each member of the board The notice shall state the time and place of meeting and the fact that a proposed regulation will be presented declaring a certain disease or diseases setting it or them forth by name to be communicable The notice shall also state such of the diseases as should in the opinion of the Secretary of Health be quarantinable or reportable or both and the quarantine period therefor

Upon the [affirmative vote of four members] approval of the advisory health board [personally present] any disease or diseases set forth in the proposed regulation is or are hereby declared communicable with the same force and effect as if expressly enumerated in this act Any such disease is hereby further declared quarantinable or reportable or both as may be provided in the regulation with the force and effect hereinbefore referred to

The regulation may be amended at such meeting so as to eliminate some or any of the diseases set forth in the notice but no disease shall be declared communicable which is not contained in the notice

Every physician practicing in any portion of this Commonwealth who shall treat or examine any person suffering from or affected with any disease declared by regulation to be communicable and reportable shall if said case shall be located in a political subdivision under the jurisdiction of a county department of health or joint-county department of health or in a township of the first class a borough or a city not under the jurisdiction of a county department of health or joint-county department of health forthwith make a report in writing to said county department of health or joint-county department of health or to the health authorities of said township city or borough and if said case shall be located in a [township of the second class or a] city borough or township [of the first class] not having a board of health or body acting as such and not under the jurisdiction of a county department of health or joint-county department of health to the health officer appointed by the Department of Health for such district upon blanks for that purpose in which report he shall over his or her own signature state the name of the disease and the name of the person suffering therefrom together with the street and house number of the premises in which said person may be located or otherwise sufficiently designate the same the date of the onset of the disease the name of the householder in whose family the disease may have occurred together with such information relating to said case as may be required by said health authorities and the Department of Health

Section 2 Upon receipt by the health authorities of any township of the first class borough [or] city or county which has established a county department of health or which is within the jurisdiction of a joint-county department of health or by the health officer of the Department of Health of a report of the existence of a case of any disease declared communicable and quarantinable by regulation as hereinbefore provided the said health authorities or health officer or medical representative of the Department of Health as the case may be shall quarantine or cause to be quarantined in the manner prescribed by the rules or regulations of the Department of Health or of the local health authorities the premises in which such disease exists and any person or persons who has or have been exposed thereto or any person or persons who in the opinion of the attending physician health authorities or a medical representative of the Department of Health is or are reasonably suspected of having such disease by quarantining such person or persons either upon the premises in which the disease exists or in a place designated in this State for the isolation control and treatment of communicable disease in the manner prescribed by the rules and regulations both of the said health authorities and the Department of Health and shall post or cause to be posted in a conspicuous place or places upon the premises in which the said disease may be located a placard or placards upon which shall be printed in conspicuous letters the name of the disease from which the person or persons in said house or premises is or are suffering with the warning that said premises are under quarantine that no person or persons other than the attending physician and trained nurse shall enter or leave the said premises except by permission of the health authorities and setting forth the penalties prescribed by this act for violations of quarantine Provided That in the case of a person or persons suspected of suffering from disease or diseases of the generative organs no quarantine shall be established or caused to be established by health officers or representatives of the Department of Health until it is reasonably certain from personal examination or laboratory tests or from evidence which has been furnished to the Department of Health or to any board bureau or department of health that the person or persons is or are suffering from diseases of the generative organs but this proviso shall not prevent the quarantine of persons known to be prostitutes and reasonably suspected of suffering from diseases of the generative organs and of being a menace to the health of the community Provided further That variola or varioloid shall be placarded as "smallpox" and that diphtheritic croup membranous croup and putrid sore throat shall be placarded as "diphtheria" that scarlatina and scarlet rash shall be placarded as "scarlet fever" and that paratyphoid fever shall be placarded as "typhoid fever" Provided further That in addition to the placarding and health authorities may for the purpose of enforcing quarantine regulations place a guard or guards over the said house or houses or premises

Section 2 Sections four five six seven and eight of the said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 The Department of Health with the consent and approval of the advisory health board shall determine the duration of the quarantine to be imposed for each of the diseases mentioned in section two of this act and for such other as may at any time be declared reportable and quarantinable in accordance with its provisions the period of isolation of those suffering from the communicable diseases and the duration of the quarantine or degree of restraint to be placed upon those who have been exposed to a communicable disease and shall make such further regulations looking to the prevention and the spread of the communicable diseases as may be deemed necessary for the protection of the public health

The call for a meeting of the advisory board to formulate quarantine regulations shall be in writing to each member of the said board The notice shall antedate the meeting by at least five days and it shall contain a copy of the proposed regulations Upon the [affirmative vote of four members] approval of the advisory health board [personally present] the proposed regulations when properly promulgated as now or hereafter provided by law shall become effective with the same force as if expressly set forth in this act

Section 5 The registry of all public private parochial Sunday and other schools shall exhibit the names and residences of all children and persons excluded therefrom or readmitted thereto agreeably to the provisions of the regulations of the Department of Health and local health authorities or any act of Assembly and said register shall be open at all times to the inspection of the city borough [or] township authorities or to the authorities of counties which have established a county department of health or joint-county department of health and the Department of Health and their respective officers and agents

Section 6 Blanks whereon to make the reports and certificates required by this act or the regulations of the Department of Health shall be supplied in cities boroughs [and] townships of the first class and counties which have established a county department of health or joint-county department of health by the health authorities thereof respectively [and in townships of the second class] and in cities boroughs and townships [of the first class] not having boards of health or bodies acting as such and not under the jurisdiction of a county department of health or joint-county department of health by the Department of Health

Section 1 Short Title of Act The short title of this act is the "Local Health Administration Law"

Section 2 Legislative Findings and Purposes The General Assembly of this Commonwealth has determined and hereby declares as a matter of legislative finding that

(a) The protection and promotion of the health of the people in the furtherance of human well-being industrial and agricultural productivity and the national security is one of the highest duties of the Commonwealth

(b) This cardinal duty can be performed only when adequate local public health services are available to all the people of the Commonwealth when these services are maintained at a high level of professional and technical performance and when they are administered according to units of population sufficiently large to enable full time modern health services to be provided on the most economical basis by local communities working in partnership with the Commonwealth

(c) These aims can best be achieved by empowering counties to establish county departments of health and by authorizing state grants to county departments of health and to certain municipalities to enable them to reach or maintain a high level of performance of health services

Section 3 Definitions The following terms whenever used in this act have the meanings indicated in this section except where the context indicates a clearly different meaning

(a) "County" Any county of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class

(b) "County board of health" or "board of health" The board of any single-county department of health or the board of any joint-county department of health created under this act

(c) "County department of health" Any single-county department of health or any joint-county department of health created under this act A county department of health shall consist of a board of health a health director and a staff of employees

(d) "County health director" or "health director" The health director of any single-county department of health or joint-county department of health created under this act

(e) "Created" A single-county department of health shall be considered to be created upon the enactment of a resolution by the county commissioners of the county or upon the certification of a favorable vote on the question of creation at a referendum conducted in the county in accordance with section 5 of this act

A joint-county department of health shall be considered to be created upon the enactment of a resolution by the county commissioners of each participating county or upon the certification of a favorable vote on the question of creation at a referendum conducted in each participating county or upon the enactment of a resolution by the county commissioners of one or more of the participating counties and the certification of a favorable vote on the question of creation at a referendum conducted in the other participating counties in accordance with section 5 of this act

(f) "Established" A county department of health shall be considered to be established thirty (30) days after the county commissioners or in the case of a joint-county department of health the joint-county health commission have given written notice to all the cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships within the territorial limits of the county or counties which have created the county department of health that the State Secretary of Health has found in accordance with section 9 of this act that the county department of health is ready to exercise its powers and duties

(g) "Joint-county health commission" The combined boards of county commissioners of the several counties participating in a joint-county department of health

(h) "Municipality" Any city borough incorporated town and township of the first class

(i) "Population" This term means the number of residents according to the most recent decennial census figures certified by the United States Department of Commerce that are available on the first of December of the year preceding the calendar year in which such figures are applied in accordance with sections 4 20 and 25 of this act except that when the State Secretary of Health finds that such figures do not accurately represent true population because of migration or changes in birth and death rates he shall designate which estimates of population available from an agency of the Commonwealth or Federal Government are more accurate and in such case the term "population" means the number of residents according to the most recent of the designated estimates available on the first of December of the year preceding the calendar year in which such figures are applied in accordance with sections 4 20 and 25 of this act No finding and designation of estimates made by the State Secretary of Health under this subsection shall be effective unless he gives notice of such finding and designation to all county departments of health and to municipalities eligible for State grants under section 15 of this act before the first of January of the year in which the estimates are to be applied during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and fifty-one the most recent decennial census figures certified by the United States Department of Commerce shall be used

Section 4 County Health Administration Plan Within ninety (90) days after the effective date of this act the State Secretary of Health with the advice of the Advisory Health Board shall draw up a county health administration plan setting forth which counties may create single-county departments of health and which combinations of counties may join in the creation of joint-county departments of health under this act The plan may be revised at any time

Before drawing up the plan the State Secretary of Health shall make an investigation to determine which counties and which combinations of counties will be able to effect the purposes described in section 2 of this act by the creation of county departments of health He shall consider location area population the incidence of communicable or other diseases transportation and communication facilities the financial ability of each county to support or to contribute to the support of a full time county department of health and all other factors relevant to the adaptability of each county or combination of counties to an efficient and economical unit of administration The county health administration plan shall not provide for any combination of counties which may join in the creation of a joint-county department of health unless each of the counties is adjacent to at least one of the other counties The State Secretary of Health shall send copies of the county health administration plan and of any revisions of the plan to the county commissioners of every county

Section 5 Creation of County Departments of Health

After the beginning of each calendar year the county commissioners or in the case of a joint-county department of health the joint-county health commission or the executive or executive body of any municipality eligible for State grants under section 15 of this act shall submit to the State Secretary of Health at such time as he shall require and on forms prescribed by him an annual estimate of expenditures of the county department of health or the department or Board of health of the municipality in the case of a county department of health the annual estimate of expenditures shall state the names of the exempt municipalities which have not decided to become subject to its jurisdiction in accordance with section 15 of this act

The State Secretary of Health shall examine each annual estimate of expenditures and shall deduct therefrom all items which do not represent expenditures within the lawful scope of the powers of the particular county department of health or the department or board of health of the municipality Upon the total amount of the remaining expenditures the State Secretary of Health shall compute the annual grant The annual grant shall equal fifty per cent (50%) of the total of the remaining expenditures but no annual grant shall exceed the product obtained by multiplying the population of the area within the jurisdiction of the county department of health or within the jurisdiction of the department or board of health of the municipality times seventy-fives (75c)

The annual grant shall be paid in four quarterly installments but the moneys received in any quarter may be used any time during the year The first installment shall be for the quarter beginning January first and ending March thirty-first the second installment shall be for the quarter beginning April first and ending June thirtieth the third installment shall be for the quarter beginning July first and ending September thirtieth and the fourth installment shall be for the quarter beginning October first and ending December thirty-first Each installment shall be paid only if it is approved by the State Secretary of Health shall approve the payment of any quarterly installment of an annual grant to a county department of health or to a municipality eligible under section 15 of this act only if he finds

(1) that such county department of health or municipality is complying with any and all regulations of the State Department of Health prescribing minimum public health activities minimum standards of performance of health services and standards of personnel administration on a merit basis and

(2) that such county department of health or municipality is accomplishing the purposes described in section 2 of this act

If the State Secretary of Health approves the payment of the first quarterly installment of an annual grant to a county department of health or to a municipality eligible under section 15 of this act he shall draw a requisition for such installment upon the State Auditor General in favor of the county department of health or municipality within fifteen (15) days after he has received the annual estimate of expenditures If the State Secretary of Health approves the payment of any subsequent quarterly installment of an annual grant to a county department of health or to a municipality eligible under section 15 of this act he shall draw a requisition for such installment upon the State Auditor General in favor of the county department of health or municipality at least fifteen (15) days before the first day of the quarter for which the payment is to be made

In the event that a municipality or part of a municipality becomes subject to the jurisdiction of a county department of health in accordance with section 15 of this act prior to the first day of September the county commissioners or in the case of a joint-county department of Health the joint-county health commission may submit to the State Secretary of Health on forms prescribed by him an estimate of additional expenditures to cover the operation of the county department of health for the balance of the calendar year the estimate shall state the name of the municipality and the date on which it became subject to the jurisdiction of the county department of health the estimate shall be submitted at least thirty (30) days before the first day of any quarter following the one in which the municipality or the part of a municipality became subject to the jurisdiction of the county department of health the State Secretary of Health shall examine the estimate of additional expenditures and shall deduct therefrom all items which do not represent expenditures within the lawful scope of the powers of the particular county department of health upon the total amount of the remaining expenditures the State Secretary of Health shall compute the additional grant the additional grant shall equal fifty percent (50%) of the remaining expenditures but no additional grant shall exceed the product obtained by multiplying the population of the municipality or the part of a municipality times the number of months remaining in the calendar year from the date the municipality or the part of a municipality became subject to the jurisdiction of the county department of health times six and one-quarter cents ( $6\frac{1}{4}\text{c}$ ) for the purpose of computation any fraction of a month shall be counted as one month the additional grant shall be added to and become part of the balance of the annual grant remaining to be paid

(c) Adjustment of Initial and Annual Grants After the end of every calendar year in which a county department of health or a municipality received an initial grant or all or part of an annual grant there shall be an adjustment of such initial or annual grant on the basis of the actual expenditures of the county department of health or the department or board of health of the municipality during the year Any additional grants to which a county department of health or a municipality may be entitled under the provisions of this subsection shall be paid if sufficient funds have been appropriated to pay the full amount of such grants Within fifteen (15) days after the end of the calendar year the county commissioners or in the case of a joint-county department of health the joint-county health commission or the executive or executive body of the municipality shall submit to the State Secretary of Health on forms prescribed by him a sworn itemized statement of all the expenditures made by the county department of health or the department or board of health of the municipality during the previous year The statement shall show the dates on which the expenditures were made and shall indicate which of the expenditures were made out of any special grants received from the State or out of any grants received directly from the Federal Government In the case of a county department of health the statement shall indicate the name of any municipality which became subject to its jurisdiction in accordance with section 15 of this act and the date on which the municipality became subject to its jurisdiction

The State Secretary of Health shall examine each statement and shall deduct therefrom all the expenditures made during any quarter or quarters of the calendar year for which no installments of an annual grant were paid to the county department of health or municipality because of its failure to comply with the requirements of subsection (b) of this section He shall then deduct from the remaining expenditures (1) those items paid for out of any special grants received from the State (2) those items paid for out of any grants received directly from the Federal Government and (3) those items which do not represent expenditures made within the lawful scope of the powers of the county department of health or the department or board of health of the municipality Upon the total amount of the remaining expenditures the State Secretary of Health shall compute the adjusted initial or annual grant

The adjusted initial grant shall equal either (1) fifty per cent (50%) of the total of the remaining expenditures or (2) the product obtained by multiplying the population of the area within the jurisdiction of the county department of health at the time of its establishment times the number of months for which the initial grant was paid as determined in subsection (a) of this section times six and one-quarter cents ( $6\frac{1}{4}\text{c}$ ) whichever figure is the lower in the event that a municipality or part of a municipality became subject to the jurisdiction of the county department of health during the year in accordance with section 15 of this act there shall be added to the amount arrived at by applying the formula set out in clause (2) of this paragraph the product obtained by multiplying the population of the municipality or the part of a municipality times the number of months it was subject to the jurisdiction of the county department of health times six and one-quarter cents ( $6\frac{1}{4}\text{c}$ ) For the purpose of computation any fraction of a month shall be counted as one month

In the case of a county department of health the adjusted annual grant shall equal either (1) fifty per cent (50%) of the total of the remaining expenditures or (2) the product obtained by multiplying the population of the area within the jurisdiction of the county department of health at the beginning of the calendar year times the number of quarters from which installments of the annual grant were paid times eighteen and three-quarters cents ( $18\frac{3}{4}\text{c}$ ) whichever figure is the lower in the event that a municipality or part of a municipality became subject to the jurisdiction of the county department of health during the year in accordance with section 15 of this act there shall be added to the amount arrived at by applying the formula set out in clause (2) of this paragraph the product obtained by multiplying the population of the municipality or the part of a municipality times the number of months during which it was subject to the jurisdiction of the county department of health times six and one-quarter cents ( $6\frac{1}{4}\text{c}$ ) except that any month which fell in a quarter for which no installment of the annual grant was paid to the county department of health shall not be counted for the purpose of computation any fraction of a month shall be counted as one month

In the case of a municipality the adjusted annual grant shall equal either (1) fifty percent (50%) of the total of the remaining expenditures or (2) the product obtained by multiplying the population of the area within the jurisdiction of the department or board of health of the municipality times the number of months during which it was not subject to the jurisdiction of a county department of health times six and one-quarter cents ( $6\frac{1}{4}\text{c}$ ) whichever figure is the lower in applying the formula set out in clause (2) of this paragraph any month which fell in a quarter for which no installment of the annual grant was paid to the municipality shall not be counted for the purpose of computation any fraction of a month shall be counted as one month

If the adjusted initial or annual grant exceeds the initial or annual grant actually received by a county department of health or a municipality the State Secretary of Health shall within fifteen (15) days after receipt of the statement of expenditures draw a requisition upon the State Auditor General in favor of such county department of health or municipality for the amount by which the adjusted initial or annual grant exceeds the initial or annual grant actually received

If the adjusted initial or annual grant is less than the initial or annual grant actually received by a county department of health or a municipality the State Secretary of Health shall charge the amount by which the initial or annual grant actually received exceeds the adjusted initial or annual grant against one or more installments of the next annual grant If any subsequent installment of the annual grant is not paid to the particular county department of health or municipality because of the failure of the county department of health or municipality to comply with the requirements of subsection (b) of this section or because the municipality has decided to become subject to the jurisdiction of a county department of health in accordance with section 15 of this act the State Secretary of Health may require a refund of such amount to the State

Section 26 Administration of County Departments of Health by State Secretary of Health The State Secretary of Health shall take charge of and direct the operation of a county department of health if he finds

(1) that the county department of health is failing to comply with any regulations of the State Department of Health prescribing minimum public health activities minimum standards of performance of health services or standards of personnel administration and

(2) that as a result such county department of health is failing to accomplish the purposes described in section 2 of this act and furthermore

(3) that conditions exist which constitute a menace to the health of the people

The State Secretary of Health shall not take charge of a county department of health under this section until he has given reasonable notice to the county commissioners of the county or in the case of a joint-county department of health to the joint-county health commission

Any reasonable expenses incident to the administration of a county department of health under this section which are not borne directly by the county or counties which the county department of health serves and which expenses are therefore incurred by the State Secretary of Health shall be paid to the State by such county or counties If the county department of health serves more than one county each participating county shall contribute to the payment of the expenses incurred by the State Secretary of Health in the same proportion as it is required to contribute to the operation of the county department of health by subdivision (2) of subsection (b) of section 20 of this act If the expenses incurred by the State Secretary of Health remain unpaid three (3) months after he has rendered to the county or counties affected an itemized statement of his expenses and has demanded payment he may with the approval of the Governor institute a proper action of assumpsit in the name of the Commonwealth and on its behalf for the recovery from such county or counties of such of his expenses as a jury finds reasonable

The State Secretary of Health shall relinquish the administration of the county department of health only when he is satisfied that it will in the future be administered in compliance with the regulations of the State Department of Health and in a manner which will effect the purposes of county departments of health as described in section 2 of this act

Section 27 Penalties Any person who violates any of the provisions of this act or any rule or regulation of the county department of health or who interferes with a health director or any other agent of a county department of health in the discharge of his official duties shall for every such offense upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any alderman or justice of the peace of the county wherein said offense was committed be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) to be paid to the use of said county together with costs or to be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not more than thirty (30) days or both at the discretion of the court All prosecutions shall be brought in the name of the county wherein the alleged offense is committed

Fines and penalties recovered under this section shall be in addition to any costs recovered for the abatement of nuisances under section 12 (d) of this act

Section 28 Severability If any provision of this act or the application of any provision to particular circumstances is held invalid the remainder of the act or the application of such provision to other circumstances shall not be affected

Section 29 Repeals The following act is hereby expressly repealed as indicated

The act approved the seventeenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 34) entitled "An act authorizing counties to engage in health work and to appropriate moneys for such purposes" which was formerly repealed except as it related to counties of the first class absolutely

All other acts and parts of acts are repealed insofar as they are inconsistent with this act But this act does not repeal any acts which confer health powers or duties upon counties generally or upon any class of counties or upon the health authorities of such counties except as such acts are expressly and specifically repealed by this act nor does this act repeal any act which confers health powers or duties upon school districts nor any act relating to the public health the enforcement of which is vested in the State Department of Health or other departments boards or commissions of the State government

Section 30 Effective Date of Act The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

Wagner,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1346, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employees exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" by clarifying certain provisions thereof and correcting grammatical and typographical errors therein. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Subsection 7 of section 4 of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employees exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" as amended by the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1738) is hereby further amended to read as follows

* * * * *

7 In the years nineteen hundred twenty-one and nineteen hundred twenty-four and in every fifth year thereafter that actuary of the retirement board shall make an actuarial investigation into the mortality and service experience of the contributors and beneficiaries as defined in this act and shall make a valuation of the various accounts created by this act and on the basis of such investigation and valuation the retirement board shall

(a) Adopt for the retirement system one or more mortality tables and such other tables as shall be deemed necessary

(b) Certify the rates of deduction from salary necessary to pay the annuities authorized under the provisions of this act and

(c) Certify the rates of contribution expressed as a percentage of salary of new entrants at various ages which shall be made by the Commonwealth to the Public School Employees' Retirement Fund and credited to the contingent reserve account

Section 2 Subsection 5 of Section 7 of said act as last amended by the act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 698) is hereby further amended to read as follows

[Five] 5 Each employer shall cause to be deducted on each [and every] payroll of a contributor for each [and every] payroll period subsequent to June thirtieth nineteen hundred thirty-five such per centum as shall be certified to said employer by the retirement board as proper in accordance with the provisions of this act. The percentage so deducted shall be computed either (1) on the total amount of salary earnable by the contributor in the payroll period for which the deductions are made or (2) in the case of contributors who were employed during the year which began July first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two and ended June thirtieth one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three if such contributors so elect on the total amount of salary which was earnable by such contributor during such year. Each such contributor shall notify in writing his employer on or before September first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five upon which salary he or she elects to contribute

In determining the amount earnable by a contributor in a payroll period the retirement board may consider the rate of salary payable to such contributor on the first day of each regular payroll period as continuing throughout such payroll period and it may omit salary deductions for any period less than a full payroll period in cases where the employee was not a contributor on the first day of the regular payroll period and to facilitate the making of the deductions it may modify the deduction required of any contributor by such amount as shall not exceed one-tenth of one per centum of the salary upon the basis of which the deduction is to be made. The deductions provided herein shall be made notwithstanding that minimum salaries provided for by the laws ordinances resolutions or other acts of the Commonwealth or of any other employer shall be reduced thereby. Each employer shall certify to the treasurer of said employer on each [and every] payroll a statement as voucher for the amount so deducted and shall send a duplicate of such statement to the secretary of the retirement board

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 488, Printer's No. 476

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 640, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the sixth day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 326) entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act in relation to the imprisonment government and release of convicts in the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory at Huntingdon' approved the twenty-eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven" by correcting the name of said institution and of the governing board thereof.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Sections 1 2 3 and 4 of the act approved the sixth day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 326) entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act in relation to the imprisonment government and release of convicts in the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory at Huntingdon' approved the twenty-eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That whenever an inmate of the Pennsylvania Industrial [Reformatory at Huntingdon] School at Camp Hill Cumberland County Pennsylvania shall be paroled and thereafter when on his parole shall in any manner violate the same and be declared a delinquent by the Board of [Managers of said reformatory] Trustees thereof he shall be liable to arrest and return at any time and upon his return be required to serve the unexpired term of his possible maximum sentence at the discretion of the Board of [Managers] Trustees and the time from the date of his declared delinquency to the date of his return to the said [Reformatory] Industrial School shall not be counted as any part or portion of such sentence

Section 2 Whenever any such paroled inmate shall [as aforesaid] so violate his said parole and be declared a delinquent by the said Board of [Managers] Trustees it shall be lawful for the president of the Board of [Managers] Trustees of the said [Reformatory] Industrial School to issue his warrant to detective or person authorized by law to execute criminal process whose duty it shall be to arrest and deliver such paroled prisoner to the [Reformatory at Huntingdon] Industrial School the cost of executing such warrant and delivering the prisoner to the said [Reformatory] School to be paid by the Board of [Managers] Trustees

Section 3 Whenever any inmate of the said Industrial [Reformatory] School shall violate his parole and go into any other State it shall be the duty of the Governor of the Commonwealth to issue his requisition for the return of such paroled inmate as being a fugitive from justice

Section 4 Whenever any paroled inmate of the said Industrial [Reformatory] School shall violate his parole and be returned to the institution the time when he was on parole may in the discretion of the Board of [Managers] Trustees be added to the maximum sentence which he could be required to serve and in their discretion the said paroled inmate may be compelled to serve in addition to the maximum sentence a period of time equal to the time that he was on parole

Section 2 Section 5 of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred ninety-nine (P. L. 73) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 If any inmate should escape from the said Industrial [Reformatory] School or from a keeper or any officer having him in charge or from his place of work while engaged in working outside of the walls the inmate so escaping shall be deemed and taken to have committed an escape or breach of prison and shall be subject to like penalties as are now provided by law for an escape or breach of prison and may be punished accordingly or the board of [Managers] Trustees may in their discretion add to his maximum sentence upon his return to the [Reformatory] School the time which said escaped inmate may be at large and in their discretion such escaped inmates may be required to serve in addition to his maximum sentence a further period of time equal to the time that he was at large

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of June one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—2

Jump, Whalley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 646, as follows:

An Act to amend Section 13 of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 389) entitled "An act to regulate and control the manufacture sale offering for sale giving away and use of weights and measures and of weighing and measuring devices in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for the approval and disapproval of such weights measures and devices by the Bureau of Standards and prescribing penalties" by providing for the inspection of new second-hand or repaired weighing or measuring devices

Section 1 Section 13 of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 389) entitled "An act to regulate and control the manufacture sale offering for sale giving away and use of weights and measures and of weighing and measuring devices in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for the approval and disapproval of such weights measures and devices by the Bureau of Standards and prescribing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 13 Inspectors of weights and measures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and of the several counties and cities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may seal for use in trade or commerce all weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices the type of which has been approved as required by the provisions of this act or specifically exempted from the necessity of approval by the provisions of this act when they find that the same are within the tolerances prescribed under the rules and regulations Provided however That this shall not be construed as meaning that the approval of a type shall be taken as evidence of the correctness of any individual weight or measure or weighing or measuring device of that type or prevent any such inspector of weights and measures from prohibiting the use of or confiscating any individual weight or measure or weighing or measuring device which is found to be inaccurate or otherwise defective or unlawfully used

Within twenty-four hours after the sale and completion of installation of any new or second-hand weighing or measuring device the seller of the device shall notify the inspector of weights and measures of the jurisdiction where the installation is made Upon notification it shall be the duty of the inspector of weights and measures to inspect within a reasonable time the weighing or measuring device for accuracy and compliance with the provisions of this act If the weighing or measuring device meets the requirements of the law he shall place his seal of approval upon same Upon completion of installation of any new or second-hand weighing or measuring device no person except as hereinafter otherwise provided shall operate or use said device unless the seal of approval is affixed to the authorized weights and measures inspector

After repairs have been made to any weighing or measuring device the person or persons completing such repairs shall within forty-eight hours notify the inspector of weights and measures of the jurisdiction that repairs have been completed Upon notification it shall be the duty of the inspector of weights and measures to inspect within a reasonable time the weighing or measuring device for accuracy and compliance with the provision of this act If the weighing or measuring device meet the requirements of the law he shall place his seal of approval upon same Upon completion of any repairs to any weighing or measuring device no person except as hereinafter otherwise provided shall operate or use said device unless a new seal of approval is affixed by the authorized weights and measures inspector If after notification as above provided the inspector of weights and measures is unable to make an immediate inspection the new second-hand or repaired weighing or measuring device may be used until inspected but not for a period exceeding five days in the case of a new second-hand weighing or measuring device or ten days in the case of a repaired weighing or measuring device

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.
